Seeing Curriculum In A New Light Essays From Science Education:

Seeing Curriculum In A New Light Hugh Munby, Graham Orpwood, Thomas L. Russell, 1984-08-14 This book originally published by OISE Press in 1980 is designed for all those concerned with curricular issues particularly through graduate study or research And because the essays reflect in a disciplined and systematic manner on aspects of educational experience the book will have a wide appeal to those interested in qualitative research methodologies

Doing Science (RLE Edu O) Robin Millar, 2012-05-31 Doing Science is unique in seeking to make explicit the links between science education and science studies These fields of study and their respective academic communities whilst appearing to have many potential points of contact remain surprisingly separate with little apparent recognition of the relevance to the interests of each of the work done within the other tradition Presenting detailed accounts of current research the book highlights the significance of modern science studies for classroom practice and conversely the importance of the classroom and teaching laboratory as a context for science studies The thread which runs through the collection as a whole is children s experience of doing science and the image of science which learners pick up along with the science knowledge understanding and skills they require

New Directions in African Education S. Nombuso Dlamini, 2008 A collection of essays which critically examines education in the African context and presents possible courses of action to reinvent its future

EBOOK: TEACHING AND LEARNING SCIENCE Derek Hodson, 1998-12-16 This book extends and unifies recent debate and research about science education in several disparate fields including philosophy of science cognitive psychology and motivation theory Through an approach based on the personalization of learning and the politicization of the curriculum and classroom it shows how the complex goal of critical scientific literacy can be achieved by all students including those who traditionally underachieve in science or opt out of science education at the earliest opportunity Current thinking in situated cognition and learning through apprenticeship are employed to build a sociocultural learning model based on a vigorous learning community in which the teacher acts as facilitator co learner and anthropologist Later chapters describe how these theoretical arguments can be translated into effective classroom practice through a coherent inquiry oriented pedagogy involving a much more critical and wide ranging use of hands on and language based learning than is usual in science education

Routledge Library Editions: Education Mini-Set O Teaching and Learning 14 vols Various, 2021-12-02 Originally published between 1973 and 1993 the 14 books in this set discuss a number of themes such as policy practice and evaluation in schools dealing with disruptive behaviour issues regarding the teaching of arts and sciences ethnographic studies of life in primary and secondary schools and critical events in teaching and learning

History, Philosophy and Science Teaching Michael R. Matthews, 2017-08-30 This anthology opens new perspectives in the domain of history philosophy and science teaching research Its four sections are first science culture and education second the teaching and learning of science third curriculum development and justification and fourth indoctrination The first group of essays deal with the neglected topic of science education and the Enlightenment tradition These essays show that many core commitments of modern science education have their roots in this tradition and consequently all can benefit from a more informed awareness of its strengths and weaknesses Other essays address research on learning and teaching from the perspectives of social epistemology and educational psychology Included here is the first ever English translation of Ernst Mach's most influential 1890 paper on The Psychological and Logical Moment in Natural Science Teaching This paper launched the influential Machian tradition in education Other essays address concrete cases of the utilisation of history and philosophy in the development and justification of school science curricula These are instances of the supportive relation of HPS a subject long discussed in philosophy of education but inadequately in science education This book is a timely reminder of why history and philosophy of science are urgently needed to support understanding of science From major traditions such as the Enlightenment to the tensions around cultural studies of science the book provides a comprehensive context for the scientific endeavour drawing on curriculum and instructional examples Sibel Erduran University of Oxford UK The scholarship that each of the authors in this volume offers deepens our understanding of what we teach in science and why that understanding matters This is an important book exploring a wide set of issues and should be read by anyone with an interest in science or science education Jonathan Osborne Stanford University USA This volume presents new and updated perspectives in the field such as the Enlightenment Tradition Cultural Studies Indoctrination in Science Education and Nature of Science Highly recommended Mansoor Niaz Universidad de Oriente Venezuela This volume provides an extremely valuable set of insights into educational issues related to the history and philosophy of science Michael J Reiss University College London UK

Science Communication in Theory and Practice S.M. Stocklmayer, M.M. Gore, C.R.

Bryant, 2012-12-06 Hereafter you will find a first a comprehensive textbook on the communication of science in theory and practice Is there a need for such a textbook Obviously yes Whether you are a scientist a science journalist a science teacher a science museum specialist a scientific website designer a science historian a science entertainer a member of a scientific society or club a science tinkerer there is always a chance that you will be enthusiastic about the job of communicating science but uncertain about whether you do it well This book exposes you to the practices of others by reviewing science communication case studies or by inviting you to plunge into the underlying rationale of theoretical approaches to science communication These are different opportunities for comparing your experience with the practices or reflections of others The conversation can even be established and furthered with the authors of some of these case studies or of the theories presented in this book by using their website and possibly their email addresses This book like a composite gathers contributions from experts from most of the above mentioned fields A lot of practices are discussed and they are among the very best practices according to common professional wisdom in the field Those practices are also reflected upon in an attempt to be somewhat theoretical

Research in Science Education in Europe Geoff Welford, Jonathan Osborne, Phil

Scott,2005-08-02 A range of topical issues and concerns at the forefront of research in science education in Europe are examined in this text The contributors are science educators and researchers from throughout Europe The RoutledgeFalmer Reader in Science Education John Gilbert,2004 This Reader brings together a wide range of material to present an international perspective on topical issues in science education today In order to identify what themes should be addressed in the book thirty eight science educators from around the world responded to the question What issues are currently important in science education in your country The outcome is this lively and authoritative Reader which features topics as varied as globalisation assessment pupil s views on science education environmental education teaching approaches teacher development multimedia and ICT constructivism With a specially written introduction from the editor providing a much needed context to the current education climate students of science education will find this Reader an important route map to further reading and understanding Constructivist Teacher Education Virginia Richardson,2005-08-15 bringing together issues of theory research and practice in constructivist teacher education this book raises the questions and offers answers as to how does one persuade students and teachers to change their fundamental beliefs and practices about teaching and learning Young People's Images of Science Rosalind Driver,John Leach,Robin Millar,Phil Scott,1996-01-16 What ideas about science do school students form as a result of their experiences in and out of school How might science teaching in schools develop a more scientifically literate society How do school students understand disputes about scientific issues including those which have social significance such as the irradiation of food There have been calls in the UK and elsewhere for a greater public understanding of science underpinned by amongst other things school science education However the relationship between school science scientific literacy and the public understanding of science remains controversial In this book the authors argue that an understanding of science goes beyond learning the facts laws and theories of science and that it involves understanding the nature of scientific knowledge itself and the relationships between science and society Results of a major study into the understanding of these issues by school students aged 9 to 16 are described These results suggest that the success of the school science curriculum in promoting this kind of understanding is at best limited The book concludes by discussing ways in which the school science curriculum could be adapted to better equip students as future citizens in our modern scientific and technological society It will be particularly relevant to science teachers advisers and inspectors teacher educators and curriculum planners Schooling as a Ritual Performance Peter McLaren,1999 One of the most compelling ethnographies of school ever written Schooling as a Ritual Performance has for over a decade made its mark among educators sociologists and those seeking to understand the cultural meaning of classroom practices Written by one of the major world figures on the educational left Schooling as a Ritual Performance is a pioneering study of the partnership between capitalism and religion and the educational offspring it produces Not since Paul Willis Learning to Labor has an educational ethnography about schooling so pushed the limits of current social theory Now in a new edition to this classic text McLaren engages with some of the latest anthropological thinking and presents readers with a powerful manifesto for critical ethnography in the coming millennium Activist Science and Technology Education Larry Bencze, Steve Alsop, 2014-06-05 This collection examines issues of agency power politics and identity as they relate to science and technology and education within contemporary settings Social economic and ecological critique and reform are examined by numerous contributing authors from a range of international contexts These chapters examine pressing pedagogical questions within socio scientific contexts including petroleum economies food justice health environmentalism climate change social media and biotechnologies Readers will discover far reaching inquiries into activism as an open question for science and technology education citizenship and democracy The authors call on the work of prominent scholars throughout the ages including Bourdieu Foucault Giroux Jasanoff Kierkegaard Marx Nietzsche Rancière and Iek The application of critical theoretical scholarship to mainstream practices in science and technology education distinguishes this book and this deep theoretical treatment is complemented by many grounded more pragmatic exemplars of activist pedagogies Practical examples are set within the public sphere within selected new social movements and also within more formal institutional settings including elementary and secondary schools and higher education These assembled discussions provide a basis for a more radically reflexive reworking of science and technology education Educational policy makers science education scholars and science and technology educators amongst others will find this work thought provoking instructive and informative Your Science Classroom: Becoming an Elementary / Middle School Science Teacher M. Jenice Goldston, Laura Downey, 2012-01-18 Designed around a practical practice what you teach approach to methods instruction Your Science Classroom Becoming an Elementary Middle School Science Teacher is based on current constructivist philosophy organized around 5E inquiry and guided by the National Science Education Teaching Standards Written in a reader friendly style the book prepares instructors to teach science in ways that foster positive attitudes engagement and meaningful science learning for themselves and their students Philosophy of Science, Cognitive Psychology, and Educational Theory and Practice Richard Alan Duschl, Richard J. Hamilton, 1992-01-01 This edited volume extends existing discussions among philosophers of science cognitive psychologists and educational researchers on the restructuring of scientific knowledge and the domain of science education This exchange of ideas across disciplinary fields raises fundamental issues and provides frameworks that help to focus educational research programs curriculum development efforts and teacher training programs The Management of Educational Institutions H. L. Gray, 2018-05-11 Originally published in 1982 This book is a collection of specially commissioned papers by writers who are closely involved in education management as practitioners researchers and trainers It provides readers with an insight to some of the major theoretical considerations in managing educational institutions It offers some guidelines for rethinking the nature of education management and the development of an appropriate rationale and philosophy Readers will obtain a knowledge of humanistic approaches to education management and gain an understanding of how the complex organizations called schools and colleges etc can be sensitively managed Industrial perspectives are more sensitive to the needs of education than is often thought frequently more insightful and concerned than those of theorists who have only educational experience

Rethinking Schooling Ian Westbury, Geoff Milburn, 2006-11-22 Taking a collection of seminal articles from the Journal of Curriculum Studies this book offers readers a vantage point for thinking about the worlds of schools and curricula focusing in particular on the concept of seeing schools curricula and teaching in new ways Each of the chapters sheds fresh light on the ways of thinking the aforementioned Themes include classrooms and teaching pedagogy science and history education school and curriculum development students lives in schools Written by an international group of distinguished scholars from Britain North America Sweden and Germany the chapters draw on the perspectives offered by curriculum and pedagogical theory history ethnography sociology psychology and organisational studies and experiences in curriculum making Together they invite many questions about why teaching and curricula must be as they are Rethinking Schooling provides new futures for education and alternative ways of seeing them

Science Education Towards Social and Ecological Justice

Matthew Weinstein, Chantal Pouliot, Isabel Martins, Ralph Levinson, Lyn Carter, Larry Bencze, Ajay Sharma, 2023-08-25 This book consists of stories of struggles in science education presented by a network of science educators working in Australia Brazil Canada Britain and the United States The common goal of these educators is to produce more socially ecologically just models and practices of science education The book considers and reworks the key terms of current social justice agency realism justice and power Its first section explores re inhabiting science in the quest for more just worlds including reterritorializing science within emergent theories of critical realism engaging citizens activists with corporate science and challenging neoliberalism and the forces that organize structure knowledge The second section redefines praxis of science education itself through nuanced explorations of agency decolonialism and justice in ways that emphasize complexity hybridity ambivalence and contradiction The stories of this international group capture individual and collective efforts motivated by a persistent sense that science and science education matter for questions of justice
