Selected Essays of Hugh MacDiarmid ; Edited by an Introduction by Duncan Glen Hugh MacDiarmid, 1969 Hugh MacDiarmid's Poetry and Politics of Place Scott Lyall, 2006-08-28 By examining at length for the first time those places in Scotland that inspired MacDiarmid to produce his best poetry Scott Lyall shows how the poet's politics evolved from his interaction with the nation exploring how MacDiarmid discovered a hidden tradition of radical Scottish Republicanism through which he sought to imagine a new Scottish future Adapting postcolonial theory this book allows readers a fuller understanding not only of MacDiarmid's poetry and politics but also of international modernism and the social history of Scottish modernism Hugh MacDiarmid's Epic Poetry Alan Riach, 2019-08-07 A collection of Hugh MacDiarmid's poetry

Nations of Nothing But Poetry Matthew Hart, 2010-04-22 Modernism is typically associated with novelty and urbanity So what happens when poets identify small communities and local languages with the spirit of transnational modernity Are vernacular poetries inherently provincial or implicitly xenophobic How did modernist poets use vernacular language to re imagine the relations between people their languages and the communities in which they live Nations of Nothing But Poetry answers these questions through case studies of British Caribbean and American poetries from the 1920s through the 1990s With a combination of fresh insights and attentive close readings Matthew Hart presents a new theory of a synthetic vernacular writing that explores the aesthetic and ideological tensions within modernism's dual commitments to the local and the global The result is an invigorating contribution to the field of transnational modernist studies Chapters focus on a mixture of canonical and non canonical writers combining new literary histories such as the story of how Melvin B Tolson while a resident of Oklahoma was appointed Poet Laureate of Liberia with analyses of poems by Gertrude Stein W H Auden Ezra Pound and T S Eliot More broadly the book reveals how the language of modernist poetry was shaped by the incompletely globalized nature of a world in which the nation state continued to be a primary mediator of cultural and political identity even as its authority was challenged as never before Through deft juxtaposition Hart develops a new interpretation of modernist poetry in English one that disrupts the critical opposition between nationalism and the transnational paving the way for a political history of modernist cosmopolitanism

Minority Language Writers in the Wake of World War One Jelle Krol, 2020-08-20 This book presents a comparative literary study of the works of four writers working in European minority languages Frisian Welsh Scots and Breton The author examines the different strategies employed by the four writers to create distinctive literary fields for their languages in the interwar era when self-determination had been promised to national minorities finding that each had to make some degree of a step backwards into the past to enable them to make a leap forward The book also discusses the problems resulting from this oscillation between traditionalism and modernism drawing on concepts such as Pascale Casanova's litt ratures combatives to make sense of these minority languages and communities within the wider European context This study will be of interest to students and scholars of minority languages particularly the four explored here as well as twentieth century and comparative literature multilingualism and language policy

The Invention of Scotland (Routledge Revivals) Murray G. H. Pittock, 2014-07-17 A dynasty of high ability and great charm the Stuarts exerted a compelling fascination over their supporters and enemies alike First published in 1991 this title assesses the influence of the Stuart mystique on the modern political and cultural identity of Scotland Murray Pittock traces the Stuart myth from the days of Charles I to the modern Scottish National Party and discusses both pro and anti Union propaganda. He provides a unique insight into the radicalism of Scottish Jacobitism, contrasting this Jacobitism of the Left with the sentimental image constructed by the Victorians. Dealing with a subject of great relevance to modern British society, this reissue provides an extensive analysis of Scottish nationhood, the Stuart cult, and Jacobite ideology. It will be of great interest to students of literature, history, and Scottish culture and politics.

Fin-de-Siecle Scottish Revival Michael Shaw, 2019-09-27 This volume reveals a distinct but comparable concern with cultural defence and revivalism in fin de siècle Scotland, evident in the work of a number of writers and artists including Robert Louis Stevenson, Patrick Geddes, Charles Rennie Mackintosh, Mona Caird, John Duncan, and various contributors to The Evergreen.

Irish Periodical Culture, 1937-1972 M. Ballin, 2016-04-30 This book examines periodical production in the context of post-revolutionary Ireland, employing the unique lens of genre theory in detailed comparisons between Irish, English, Welsh, and Scottish magazines.

Gin Before Breakfast W. Dale Nelson, 2007-06-18 This edifying volume presents mini biographies of key British and American poets who at one time or another worked as journalists. Poets covered range from the famous to the obscure: Whittier to Whitman, Kipling to Bryant, Coleridge to Crane. Writing in a direct, straightforward style, W. Dale Nelson tells each writer's story, often relating how the poet in question felt about the journalistic experience and its impact upon creative work. Archibald MacLeish wrote young poets are advised by their elders to avoid the practice of journalism as they would set socks and gin before breakfast. On the other hand, Leonard Woolf suggests that Hemingway's strong, spare prose often bears the mark of good journalism. The author raises provocative issues about developments in poetic form, effects of printing and communication on poetry, and the relationship of poetry and cities. He also looks at how poetic diction has been influenced by the language of reportage and the basic difference in the purport of journalism versus that of poetry.

The Measured Word Kurt Brown, 2001 Though the interests of science and art frequently seem to inhabit opposite poles, The Measured Word assembles a brilliant anthology of twelve essays that illumine the historic and newly emerging relationships between the poetic and scientific imaginations. Assembling the writings of leading contemporary poets, essayists, and thinkers, Kurt Brown highlights ways in which poets use scientific discoveries and mathematical ideas to their artistic advantage and offers insight on the recently apparent integration of technology and other discoveries into the postmodernist poetry. Here are meditations on the similarities and differences between the poetic and scientific imagination, on the poetic use of fractals, on hypertext, on the changing shape of poetry in the scientific age. Commentary by Czech poet and immunologist Miroslav Holub, Paul Lake, Alison Hawthorne Deming, Alice Fulton, Forrest Gander, and Stephanie Strickland, among others, presents a diverse selection of opinions. These viewpoints are complemented by many careful, innovative readings of individual poems informed by the sciences. The writings in this collection not only celebrate the advent of a new age of discovery but also identify the need for a revision of the western thinking that separates the mind and the heart, replacing division with the reciprocity of mutual communication.

Walpert,2011-09-26 This book examines types of resistance in contemporary poetry to the authority of scientific knowledge tracing the source of these resistances to both their literary precedents and the scientific zeitgeists that helped to produce them Walpert argues that contemporary poetry offers a palimpsest of resistance using as case studies the poets Alison Hawthorne Deming Pattiann Rogers Albert Goldbarth and Joan Retallack to trace the recapitulation of romantic arguments inherited from Keats Shelly and Coleridge which in turn were produced in part in response to Newtonian physics modernist arguments inherited from Eliot and Pound arguments influenced in part by relativity and quantum theory and postmodernist arguments arguments informed by post structuralist theory e g Barthes Derrida Foucault with affinities to arguments for the limitations of science in the philosophy sociology and rhetoric of science Some of these poems reveal the discursive ideologies of scientific language reveal in other words the performativity of scientific language In doing so these poems themselves can also be read as performative acts and therefore as forms of intervention rather than representation Reading Retallack alongside science studies scholar Karen Barad the book concludes by proposing that viewing knowledge as a form of intervention rather than representation offers a bridge between contemporary poetry and science Writing the 1926
