Craftsman of the Cumberlands Michael Owen Jones,2021-10-21 Why do people consider aesthetic qualities as well as utilitarian ones in the making of everyday objects Why do they maintain traditions What is the nature of their creative process These are some of the larger questions addressed by Michael Owen Jones in his book on craftsmen in the

Cumberland Mountains of eastern Kentucky Concentrating on the work of one man woodworker and chairmaker Chester Cornett Jones not only describes the tools and techniques employed by Cornett but also his aspirations and values Cornett possessed a deep knowledge of his materials and a mastery of construction methods Some of his chairs represent not objects of utility but aesthetic developments of the chair form Cornett sought to cope with the problems of his life Jones maintains their massiveness provided a sense of security the virtuosity of their design and construction a feeling of self esteem Jones also compares other area craftsmen and their views about their work Global Objects Edward S. Cooke, Jr.,2022-10-04 A bold reorientation of art history that bridges the divide between fine art and material culture through an examination of objects and their uses Art history is often viewed through cultural or national lenses that define some works as fine art while relegating others to the category of craft Global Objects points the way to an interconnected history of art examining a broad array of functional aesthetic objects that transcend geographic and temporal boundaries and challenging preconceived ideas about what is and is not art Avoiding traditional binaries such as East versus West and fine art versus decorative art Edward Cooke looks at the production consumption and circulation of objects made from clay fiber wood and nonferrous base metals Carefully considering the materials and process of making and connecting process to product and people he demonstrates how objects act on those who look at use and acquire them He reveals how objects retain aspects of their local fabrication while absorbing additional meanings in subtle and unexpected ways as they move through space and time In emphasizing multiple centers of art production amid constantly changing contexts Cooke moves beyond regional histories driven by geography nation state time period or medium Beautifully illustrated Global Objects traces the social lives of objects from creation to purchase and from use to experienced meaning charting exciting new directions in art history Agriculture Handbook ,1949 Set includes revised editions of some issues Windsor-chair Making in America Nancy Goyne Evans,2006 The definitive work on the production of Windsor furniture from one of America s premier authorities

Conservation of Furniture Shayne Rivers,Nick Umney,2007-06-07 This book is a comprehensive resource covering the principles and practice of the conservation and restoration of furniture and other decorative art objects made wholly or partly of wood It integrates theory with practice to show the principles which govern interaction between wooden objects the environmental and conservation treatments and the factors which need to be taken into account to arrive at acceptable solutions to conservation problems The practical knowledge and experience of a team of conservators active in the field are brought together with theoretical and reference material from diverse sources and unified within a systematic framework Specialist conservators from related disciplines cover diverse materials often incorporated into furniture Utilization of Hardwoods Growing on Southern Pine Sites Peter Koch,1985 Appalachian White Oak Basketmaking Rachel Nash Law,Cynthia Wieboldt Taylor,1991 In an era when baskets served as basic containers for gathering transporting and storing goods many settlers in the Central and Southern Appalachian mountain region found white oak the best material for basketmaking This book surveys the varied forms and techniques that evolved as basketmakers selected prepared and wove this wood The authors display special appreciation of white oak basketry as an important dimension of regional material culture Drawing on extensive fieldwork including interviews with traditional basketmakers in the Central Appalachian region Rachel Law and Cynthia Taylor establish a framework for classifying comparing and identifying Appalachian basketry forms In demonstrating how details of basket construction technique and style can be linked to specific makers regions and ethnic traditions the authors have created a resource essential for cultural historians collectors and craftspeople The three major types of white oak baskets rib rod and split are carefully delineated in this study Oak rodwork which previously has received little attention is extensively treated here as a specifically American adaptation of European willow basketmaking For all three major types this volume details construction techniques for numerous variants using copious illustrations and clear explanatory text
