Making Difficulties Research And The Construction Of Sen:

Understanding Special Educational Needs Ruth Kershner, Roland Chaplain, 2014-06-03 New and experienced teachers working with children with special needs in mainstream or special school settings are increasingly discovering the value of research to inform and improve their teaching This highly accessible text features identification of the key research issues which relate to different aspects of SEN and inclusion guidance on how to carry out research in order to enhance teaching and learning for children whose progress is causing concern explanations of a range of approaches to research including empirical studies of individuals groups and institutions with children parents teachers and other professionals advice on how to use and disseminate research findings The authors support their basic guidance with a variety of examples of published research and they offer a framework and practical suggestions for planning and carrying out school based investigations with different purposes in mind This text will be relevant to teachers and SENCOs and to mentors and tutors in their supporting role

Additional Educational Needs Sue Soan, 2013-05-24 Teaching a class of learners with many different additional educational needs can be challenging to the extreme Based on the latest national legislation and the importance of achieving inclusive communities within schools this book provides succinct and practical information on working with children with a full range of additional educational needs This book covers unfamiliar areas beyond the typical SEN spectrum such as gifted and talented bilingual learners and supporting children in care appropriate for every key stage and educational setting includes case studies discussion questions and key issues to help develop reflective practice Makes close links with the Higher Level Teaching Assistant HLTA standards Accessible and user friendly this book will be essential reading for all students of education including teaching assistants trainee teachers and newly qualified teachers on a range of learning support courses Foundation Degree BA QTS and PGCE

Transforming the Role of the SENCO: Achieving the National Award for SEN Coordination Graham Hallett, Fiona Hallett, 2017-08-16 This book offers valuable insights into the role of the Special Educational Needs Coordinator SENCo and aims to illustrate evaluate and analyze the characteristics and practice of the SENCo role This new edition has been updated to reflect changes in legislation and the framework for the National Award for SEN Coordination NASC Transforming the Role of the SENCO reflects the three areas of development of the NASC learning outcomes Professional Knowledge and Understanding Leading and Coordinating Provision and Personal and Professional Qualities The book links directly to the NASC learning outcomes whilst remaining both cutting edge and relevant to real world practice Key features of this second edition include Updated content in light of the SEND Code of Practice 0 25 2015 Contributions from thought leaders in the field of SEN and Inclusion Vignettes offering clear practical and well theorized examples of the work of SENCOs based on conversations with stakeholders currently involved in the field This is a key text for SENCOs particularly those undertaking the National Award for SEN Coordination as well as for students studying SEN and Inclusion on other courses and modules who may aspire to the role of the SENCo

Inclusion and Behaviour Management in Schools Janice Wearmouth, Ted Glynn, Robin C. Richmond, Mere Berryman, 2013-04-03 Providing an overview of the issues crucial to understanding inclusion and behavior management in schools this book discusses Policy at national local authority and school level Inclusive practices in mainstream settings and Issues such as race ethnicity school disciplines and exclusion

Understanding the Development of Inclusive Schools Mel Ainscow, 2002-01-04 The current emphasis on individualised intervention programmes for students with special needs may not only be impractical but also undesirable This book compares and contrasts special needs approaches with school effectiveness strategies The author sets out theories about inclusive schooling that arise out of a detailed scrutiny of practice The link between theory and practice will be welcomed by many practitioners With extensive examples from the field to illustrate Ainscow's ideas this is an eminently accessible text

Managing Special Needs in Mainstream Schools John Dwyfor Davies, Philip Garner, John Lee, 2018-09-03 First published in 1998 The wide ranging perspectives in this book will help key personnel in primary schools to manage the implantation of the 1993 Education Act and the Code of Practice on the Identification and Assessment of Special Educational Needs more effectively Governors and headteachers comment on the management of resources and on interaction with parents and others outside the school Researchers and academics provide an analysis of the impact and legal implications of the Code of Practice on primary schools SENCOs offer insights into the development of whole school and classroom practice commenting on the practicalities of implementing the philosophy behind the Code of Practice

Language Disabilities in Cultural and Linguistic Diversity Deirdre Martin, 2009 Language Disabilities in Cultural and Linguistic Diversity offers a new approach to understanding the familiar dilemma of disentangling difficulties in communication for learners developing the language of schooling The author takes a socio cultural Vygotskian approach to reinterpret international research in language disabilities namely specific language impairment communication difficulties dyslexia and deafness

Deconstructing Special Education Thomas, Gary, Loxley, Andrew, 2007-08-01 In the second edition of this text the authors critically examine the intellectual foundations of special education and consider the consequences on their influence for professional and popular thinking about learning difficulties

Enabling Access Barry Carpenter, Chris Stevens, Keith Bovair, Rob Ashdown, 2014-04-08 First Published in 1997 In special education we are at last in a good position to offer pupils a broad and balanced curriculum which is relevant to their needs and which is based on the same range of provision enjoyed by all pupils Such a curriculum can only be planned as a cohesive whole compartmentalizing aspects of the whole curriculum risks seeing one part as having more merit or worth than another The whole curriculum in all schools will vary depending on local needs and opportunities In special education it is important that we embrace that whole curriculum using its diversity and opportunity to plan for breadth balance and relevance This book makes a significant contribution to the developments in planning for access to the whole curriculum

Doing Inclusive Education Research Julie Allan, Roger Slee, 2008-01-01 Those attempting to research inclusive education face an enormous challenge Not only is it a highly complex field but it is also fraught with tensions sometimes spilling into over into disputes between researchers over ideology Research textbooks present research decision making as relatively straightforward and offer little help to students and novice researchers on how to navigate complex fields such as inclusive education or understand ideology Doing Inclusive Education Research is an attempt to lift the lid on the processes of doing research and uncovers the experiences of key researchers in the field Len Barton Mike Oliver David Gillbourn Deborah Youdell Stephen Ball Ellen Brantlinger Sally Tomlinson Mel Ainscow Lani Florian Alan Dyson Suzanne Carrington Ken Kavale Karen Harris and Kim Cornish have all opened themselves up to scrutiny and reveal the decisions and choices they made at different points of the research process as well as some of their concerns as they undertook the work They also respond to the invitation to discuss the positioning of their work and offer their take on the ideological battles Students and all involved in researching inclusive education will find Doing inclusive education research an indispensable as well as fascinating insight into the research process and will gain useful advice on how to engage with this complex field

The SAGE Handbook of Special Education Lani Florian, 2006-11-16 This book provides an excellent overview of special education which will be a valuable resource for teachers school managers and administrators parents and indeed anyone with an interest in the development of provision for pupils with special educational needs It is also likely to be an invaluable source book for researchers and postgraduate students alike REACH The Handbook offers a range of views on how to empower all learners to transcend their current performance and go beyond the limits Journal of Cognitive Education and Psychology This text makes an important contribution to special education Perhaps more significantly it makes an important contribution to inclusive education and possibly even more widely to education in general it is a book that has significance for all of us who wish to move education towards a more equitable democratic humane and dignified system for our young people Education in the North In recent years there has been increasingly vigorous debate about the nature and purpose of special education and what might be considered the appropriate responses to pupils who experience difficulties in learning This Handbook brings together the most up to date knowledge of this area and will serve as the major source book of authoritative information and ideas about current and future directions for special education It examines the intricate relation between theory research and practice and places a particular emphasis on what has been learned about providing for students who experience difficulties in learning how these understandings can contribute to new conceptualisations of special education and the development of more inclusive schools This comprehensive research based work brings together scholarship on an international level and covers topics that transcend national boundaries It will become essential reading for all professionals and academics with any interest in this important and dynamic field

From Them to Us Mel Ainscow, Tony Booth, 2005-06-23 Inclusive education has become a phrase with international currency shaping the content of conferences and national educational policies around the world But what does it mean Is it about including a special group of disabled learners or students seen to have special needs them or is it concerned with making educational institutions inclusive responsive to the diversity of all their students us In this unique comparative study the editors have brought together an international team of researchers from eight countries to develop case studies which explore the processes of inclusion and exclusion within a school or group of schools set in its local and national context The study includes classroom observation the experiences of the school day of students and interviews with staff students parents and school governors Through an innovative juxtaposition of the case studies and commentaries on them differences of perspective within and between countries are revealed and analysed The study arose from a dissatisfaction with previous research which presents national perspectives or seeks findings that have global significance This book avoids such simplification and draws attention to the problems of translation of practice across cultures The editors start from an assumption of diversity of perspective which like the diversity of students within schools can be viewed as problematic or as a resource to be recognized and celebrated Inclusive Education Keith Ballard,1999 The aim of this text is to convey the experiences of excluded children their parents teachers and remaining classmates It offers reflections on inclusion and exclusion and the issues raised are international Educating Special Children Michael Farrell,2012 Based on many years of experience and drawing on expertise from all corners of the globe Educating Special Children is a companion for anyone requiring an overview of provision that has proved effective for children with learning disorders and disabilities Theorising Special Education Catherine Clark,Alan Dyson,Alan Millward,2005-06-23 This field of special education has been through marked changes in recent years with the emergence of notions such as inclusive schooling and entitlement curricula This book brings together contributions from the UK and beyond Purpose, Process and Future Direction of Disability Research Simoni Symeonidou,Karen Beauchamp-Pryor,2013-11-19 Purpose Process and Future Direction of Disability Research brings together the collective experience of an international network of early career researchers who set out to discuss the complexity of researching disability As newcomers to the research process the researchers detail their apprehensions about embarking on doctoral research together with the struggles they experienced along the way and importantly the motivation that drove them to complete their projects Contributors present an open and honest reflection on their research experience Interests motives and values which underpinned the direction of their research projects are explored questioning whether their beliefs were subsequently challenged changed or validated Research decisions were driven by a range and combination of personal experience of disability and professional experience of working with disabled people The influence of personal and professional approaches within research is addressed along with subsequent dilemmas Ideological battles are detailed which include the place of the social model of disability in research and the oppressive nature of doing disability research The researchers identify and examine their experience throughout the process of analysis writing up and presenting data and question how far their data resulted in confusions or conclusions Contributors explore their moral and political position as researchers and the potential influence on the validity of their findings Issues about dissemination and the impact of their findings are also considered Future research aims and challenges are identified with each contributor critically questioning the unfinished business that their research has involved Essential reading recommended for students and supervisors engaged in disability studies and inclusive education

Researching Disability Issues Moore, Michelle, Beazley, Sarah, Maelzer, June, 1998-03-01 This book is designed to meet a growing need for clear illustrations of how to carry out research which seeks to explore disability issues It aims to demonstrate the value of a critical attention to social rather than medical starting points for researching disability through reviewing a variety of studies which look at different aspects of disabled people's lives

Ideology and the Politics of (in)exclusion Linda P. Ware, 2005 Ideology and the Politics of In Exclusion provides an international analysis of the politics of research and practice in special education The contributors to this volume establish purposeful connections to the micropolitics of disability identification and the macropolitics of social structure and describe various geographic locales recount multiple historical contexts rely upon differing sources of evidence and as a consequence relate a more complex and richly layered analysis of educational inclusion Ideology and the Politics of In Exclusion breaks away from the prevailing discourse on educational inclusion as that which occurs in a vacuum separate from social inclusion by providing a close analysis of the narrow frameworks historic influence and research tensions that underwrite current special education practice

Researching Learning Difficulties Jill Porter, Penny Lacey, 2005 The authors provide a guide which points the reader to sources that can engage more deeply with the issues raised and as such is a useful resource for anyone wanting to know more about researching learning difficulties British Journal of Special Education This book is highly recommended and endorsed It celebrates the diversity of work that is currently undertaken in the field of learning difficulties with a concern to enable people working within different spheres of activity to share something of their work to contribute to the bigger picture As part of an academic school or staff development resource library this book will aid stimulate and focus researchers at all levels to hone their selected methods evaluate results and critically judge qualitative and quantitative data Special Children This timely book written in a highly accessible way provides a coherent basis for users as well as practitioners of research involving children and young people with learning difficulties Ann Lewis Professor of Special Education and Educational Psychology University of Birmingham This book is for researchers teachers and other professionals working with children and people with learning difficulties It will enable them to access research in learning difficulties drawing on other disciplines understand different types of research methodology and their strengths and limitations examine how researchers must consider the constraints on methodology because of the characteristics of the field and understand the particular issues of small scale research and participatory research explore new methodologies that are developing in the field The authors recognize that there are tensions especially the difficulty of validating research on small varied populations in a wide range of schools community and other settings The book will help readers to critically evaluate the implications of research reports for their own practice This book is for researchers teachers and professionals in specialist and inclusive community and educational settings following courses of continuing professional development doing research Masters and Doctorate Education Social Sciences Psychology Public Policy It is relevant to practitioners working with people with learning difficulties across a range of settings EBOOK: Researching Disability Issues Michelle Moore, Sarah Beazley, June Maelzer, 1998-03-16 This book is designed to meet a growing need for clear illustrations of how to carry out research which seeks to explore disability issues It aims to demonstrate the value of a critical attention to social rather than medical starting points for researching disability through reviewing a variety of studies which look at different aspects of disabled people's lives Different methodological approaches and research techniques are considered ranging from analysis of observation data concerning disabled children in schools to rich conversation based data which focuses on family life A central theme concerns the pivotal role of disabled people in research The book provides substantive examples of the dilemmas which face researchers and connects these to ideas for individual personal action Disabled and non disabled researchers professionals and students from a wide range of disciplines will find the presentation of both research findings and debates informative and of interest
