Ethno-Playography Anne Hart, 2007-07-27 Here's how to write salable plays skits monologues or docu dramas from life experiences social issues or current events Write plays skits using the technique of ethno playography which incorporates traditions folklore and ethnography into dramatizing real events. The sample play and monologues portray events as social issues One true life example for a skit is the scene in the sample play written from first person point of view about a 1964 five minute train interlude when a male passenger commands the protagonist not to cross between cars while the train is in motion The passenger stands between the cars next to his wife who says timorously Let her go dear after the wife notices the young protagonist wears a wedding ring The protagonist tells him she's pregnant returning from the john and needs to get back to her family Instead he squeezes her head in a vise like grip crushing her between his knee and the wall of the train He kicks at the base of her spine yelling stereotypical ethnic epithets while passengers ignore events After the sample play and three monologues for performance you will have learned how to write ethnographic dialogue and select appropriate scene settings Also included are e interviews with popular fiction writers Making Stars Nora Nachumi, Kristina Straub, 2022-07-15 Making Stars provides multiple perspectives on the simultaneous emergence of modern forms of life writing and celebrity culture in eighteenth century Britain Crossing multiple genres and media contributors reveal the complex and varied ways in which these modern ways of thinking about individual identity mutually conditioned their emergence during this formative period Creating Identity in the Victorian Fictional Autobiography Heidi L. Pennington, 2018-04-30 This is the first book length study of the fictional autobiography a subgenre that is at once widely recognizable and rarely examined as a literary form with its own history and dynamics of interpretation Heidi L Pennington shows that the narrative form and genre expectations associated with the fictional autobiography in the Victorian period engages readers in a sustained meditation on the fictional processes that construct selfhood both in and beyond the text Through close readings of Jane Eyre David Copperfield and other well known examples of the subgenre Pennington shows how the Victorian fictional autobiography subtly but persistently illustrates that all identities are fictions Despite the subgenre s radical implications regarding the nature of personal identity fictional autobiographies were popular in their own time and continue to inspire devotion in readers This study sheds new light on what makes this subgenre so compelling up to and including in the present historical moment of precipitous social and technological change As we continue to grapple with the existential question of what determines who we really are this book explores the risks and rewards of embracing conscious acts of fictional self production in an unstable world Writing Life Stories Bill Roorbach,1998-07-15 A guide to writing stories memoirs and personal essays that includes information on remembering distant memories making real people into characters using public records interviews and diaries to create a believable story and other related topics
