Making Of Mission Community:

The Making of Mission Communities in East Africa Robert W. Strayer, 1978-01-01 The Making of Mission Communities in East Africa calls into question a number of common assumptions about the encounter between European missionaries and African societies in colonial Kenya The book explores the origins of those communities associated with the Anglican Church Missionary Society from 1875 to 1935 examines the development within them of a mission culture probes their internal conflicts and tensions and details their relationship to the larger colonial society Professor Strayer argues that genuinely religious issues were important in the formation of these communities that missionaries were ambivalent in their attitudes toward modernizing change and the colonial state alike and that mission communities possessed substantial attractions even in the face of competition with independent churches Dr John Lonsdale of Trinity College Cambridge has said that It is a sensitive piece of revisionist history which breaks down the simple dichotomy of missions and Africans commonly found in earlier historiographies and even in the period of profound crisis over female circumcision in Kikuyuland In this Professor Strayer shows convincingly how mission communities could be preserved from destruction by principled divisions between Africans as much as between their white missionaries He has pursued themes rather than events and has therefore been able to make remarkably intimate observations of mission communities which were following their own internal patterns of growth yet within the context of a deepening situation of colonial dependence Church for Every Context Michael Moynagh, 2014-04-15 The first comprehensive textbook on the theology and methodology of Fresh Expressions one of the most important developments within the contemporary church Making Disciples in the Congregation Paul Versluis, 2018-09-07 Building Community Capacity Robert J. Chaskin, This book focuses on a gap in current social work practice theory community change Much work in this area of macro practice particularly around grassroots community organizing has a somewhat dated feel to it is highly ideological in orientation or suffers from superficiality particularly in the area of theory and practical application Set against the context of an often narrowly constructed clinical emphasis on practice education coupled with social work's own current rendering of scientific management community practice often takes second or third billing in many professional curricula despite its deep roots in the overall field of social welfare Drawing on extensive case study data from three significant community building initiatives program data from numerous other community capacity building efforts key informant interviews and an excellent literature review Chaskin and his colleagues draw implications for crafting community change strategies as well as for creating and sustaining the organizational infrastructure necessary to support them The authors bring to bear the perspectives of a variety of professional disciplines including sociology urban planning psychology and social work Building Community Capacity takes a collaborative interdisciplinary approach to a subject of wide and current concern the role of neighborhood and community structures in the delivery of human services or as the authors put it a place where programs and problems can be fitted together Social work scholars and students of community practice seeking new conceptual frameworks and insights from research to inform novel community interventions will find much of value in Building Community Capacity The Making of Manhood Among Swedish Missionaries in China and Mongolia, C. 1890-c. 1914 Erik Sidenvall, 2009 Over the last thirty years issues of gender have been creatively explored within the field of mission studies Whereas the life and work of female missionaries have been fruitfully reflected upon male gender identity has often been understood as an unchanging category This book offers a pioneering account of the relationship between missionary work and masculinity By examining four individual men this study explores how self making occurred within foreign missions but also how conceptions of male gender informed missionary work Changes that occurred in the lives of these men are placed within the broader context of how issues of gender were renegotiated within the contemporary missionary movement Missionary Encounters Robert A. Bickers, Rosemary Seton, 2013-11-05 Describes the exceptional wealth of missionary archives and the major contributions they can make not only to the study of the processes of Christian evangelism and Western imperialism but also their value in documenting and analysing the nature of Western encounters with indigenous societies Handbook of American Indians North of Mexico: N-Z Frederick Webb Hodge, 1910 Building Community Capacity Avis Vidal, 2017-09-29 This book focuses on a gap in current social work practice theory community change Much work in this area of macro practice particularly around grassroots community organizing has a somewhat dated feel to it is highly ideological in orientation or suffers from superficiality particularly in the area of theory and practical application Set against the context of an often narrowly constructed clinical emphasis on practice education coupled with social work's own current rendering of scientific management community practice often takes second or third billing in many professional curricula despite its deep roots in the overall field of social welfare Drawing on extensive case study data from three significant community building initiatives program data from numerous other community capacity building efforts key informant interviews and an excellent literature review Chaskin and his colleagues draw implications for crafting community change strategies as well as for creating and sustaining the organizational infrastructure necessary to support them The authors bring to bear the perspectives of a variety of professional disciplines including sociology urban planning psychology and social work Building Community Capacity takes a collaborative interdisciplinary approach to a subject of wide and current concern the role of neighborhood and community structures in the delivery of human services or as the authors put it a place where programs and problems can be fitted together Social work scholars and students of community practice seeking new conceptual frameworks and insights from research to inform novel community interventions will find much of value in Building Community Capacity Juvenile Justice John T. Franciscan Missions and the Chumash Uprising Robert H. Jackson, 2025-02-23 Between 1769 and 1834 Franciscan missionaries from the Apostolic College of San Fernando in Mexico City administered missions in what today is California The Franciscans attempted to convert the indigenous peoples to Catholicism and reshape their society and culture along with European norms In 1824 three years after Mexico gained its independence from Spain Chumash neophytes rebelled following the flogging by a Mexican soldier of a neophyte at Mission Santa In s The rebellion quickly spread to two other missions and lasted a month until soldiers defeated the rebels This book analyzes the long and short term causes of the uprising and the larger historical context It focuses on the development of Mission La Pur sima Concepci n where the rebellion lasted the longest A root cause of the uprising was deteriorating conditions of life on the missions resulting from the outbreak of the independence war in Mexico in 1810 New Century in Waterbury, Vermont, A: Stories of Resilience, Growth & Community The Waterbury Historical Society, 2022 Waterbury is known as both a beautiful vacation spot and a great place to live Since 2000 this historic town has experienced unique challenges all of which have been met by a sense of resiliency and determination Devastated from Tropical Storm Irene in 2011 Waterbury residents rallied together to rebuild their town and the local economy Part of this revitalization included Waterbury emerging as a leader in the farm to table and craft beer movements as well as becoming a top tourist destination Told by members of the community in their own words this collection of stories gathered by the Waterbury Historical Society captures the essence of Waterbury s community and illustrates its ability to persist and celebrate in the face of adversity Resources in Education ,1993-10 California History Nugget ,1924
