Midnight At The Camposanto:

Midnight at the Camposanto Mari Privette Ulmer, 2001 As the spring sky darkens into night groups of men mostly Spanish begin to gather It is Holy Thursday when members of the ancient lay society known as the Penitentes will march in ragged processions to their moradas There in those prayer halls they will hold vigil As they walk they will sing to mourn the crucifixion and to grieve for Mary's pain and man's sins One among them will go further he will die struck down by an assassin's hand Jacket

Buried Treasures Richard Melzer, 2007 Melzer offers an impressive new book about famous New Mexico gravesites usually the only monuments left to honor the human treasures who helped shape state national and often international history

Crime Fiction and Film in the Southwest Steve Glassman, Maurice J. O'Sullivan, 2001 When Joe Leaphorn and Jim Chee Tony Hillerman's oddly matched tribal police officers patrol the mesas and canyons of their Navajo reservation they join a rich tradition of Southwestern detectives In Crime Fiction and Film in the Southwest a group of literary critics tracks the mystery and crime novel from the Painted Desert to Death Valley and Salt Lake City In addition the book includes the first comprehensive bibliography of mysteries set in the Southwest and a chapter on Southwest film noir from Humphrey Bogart's tough hood in The Petrified Forest to Russell Crowe's hard-nosed cop in L.A. Confidential

Campo Santo W.G. Sebald, 2011-10-19 W.G. Sebald exemplified the best kind of cosmopolitan literary intelligence humane digressive deeply erudite unassuming and tinged with melancholy In Campo Santo Sebald reveals his distinctive tone as his winding sentences gradually mingle together curiosity and plangency learning and self-revelation Readers will be rewarded with unexpected illuminations The Washington Post Book World This final collection of essays by W.G. Sebald offers profound ruminations on many themes common to his work the power of memory and personal history the connections between images in the arts and life the presence of ghosts in places and artifacts Some of these pieces pay tribute to the Mediterranean island of Corsica weaving elegiacally between past and present examining among other things the island's formative effect on its most famous citizen Napoleon In others Sebald examines how the works of Günter Grass and Heinrich Böll reveal the grave and lasting deformities in the emotional lives of postwar Germans how Kafka echoes Sebald's own interest in spirit presences among mortal beings and how literature can be an attempt at restitution for the injustices of the real world Dazzling in its erudition accessible in its deep emotion Campo Santo confirms Sebald's status as one of the great modern writers who divined and expressed the invisible connections that determine our lives
