distinction between race and ethnicity Methodological issues facing researchers Intersections between race and ethnicity and questions of sexuality gender nation and social transformation The challenge of multiculturalism Race ethnicity and globalization Race and the family Race and education Race and religion Planned and edited by a distinguished team of Anglo American scholars the Handbook pools an impressive range of international world class expertise and insight It provides a landmark work in the field which will be the measure of debate and research for years to come Western Muslims and Conflicts Abroad Juris Pupcenoks, 2015-12-07 This book explains why reactive conflict spillovers political violence in response to conflicts abroad occur in some migrant background communities in the West Based on survey data statistical datasets more than sixty interviews with Muslim community leaders and activists ethnographic research in London and Detroit and open source data this book develops a theoretical explanation for how both differences in government policies and features of migrant background communities interact to influence the nature of foreign policy focused activism in migrant communities Utilizing rigorous mixed methods case study analysis the author comparatively analyses the reactions of the Pakistani community in London and the Arab Muslim community in Detroit to the wars in Afghanistan and Iraq during the decade following 9 11 Both communities are politically mobilized and active However while London has experienced reactive conflict spillover Detroit has remained largely peaceful The key findings show that with regards to activism in response to foreign policy events Western Muslim communities primarily politically mobilize on the basis of their ethnic divisions Nevertheless one notable exception is the Arab Israeli conflict which is viewed through the Islamic lenses and the common Islamic identity is important in driving mobilization domestically in response to Islamophobia and counterterrorism policies and practices perceived to be discriminatory Certain organizational arrangements involving minority community leaders law enforcement and government officials help to effectively contain excitable youth who may otherwise engage in deviant behavior Overall the following factors contribute to the creation of an environment where reactive conflict spillover is more likely to occur policies allowing immigration of violent radicals poor economic integration without extensive civil society inter group ties the presence of radical groups and connections with radical networks abroad Britain's rural Muslims Sarah Hackett, 2020-06-06 Immigration has long been associated with the urban landscape from accounts of inner city racial tension and discrimination during the 1960s and 1970s and studies of minority communities of the 1980s and 1990s to the increased focus on cities amongst contemporary scholars of migration and diaspora Though cities have long provided the geographical frameworks within which a significant share of post war migration has taken place Sarah Hackett argues that that there has long existed a rural dimension to Muslim integration in Britain This book offers the first comprehensive study of Muslim migrant integration in rural Britain across the post 1960s period examining the previously unexplored relationship between Muslim integration and rurality by using the county of Wiltshire in the South West of England as a case study Drawing upon a range of archival material and oral histories it challenges the long held assumption that local authorities in more rural areas have been inactive and even disinterested in devising and implementing migration integration and diversity policies and sheds light on smaller and more dispersed Muslim communities that have traditionally been written out of Britain's immigration history Essays on Secularism and Multiculturalism Tariq Modood, 2019-04-25 Whether the recently settled religious minorities Muslims in particular can be accommodated as religious groups in European countries has become a central political question and threatens to create long term fault lines In this collection of essays Tariq Modood argues that to grasp the nature of the problem we have to see how Muslims have become a target of a cultural racism Islamophobia Yet the problem is not just one of anti racism but of an understanding of multicultural citizenship of how minority identities including those formed by race ethnicity and religion can be incorporated into national identities so all can have a sense of belonging together This means that the tendency amongst some to exclude religious identities from public institutions and the re making of national identities has to be challenged Modood suggests that this can be done in a principled yet pragmatic way by drawing on Western Europe's moderate political secularism and eschewing forms of secularism that offer religious groups a second class citizenship Muslim Masculinities in Literature and Film Peter

Racialization and Religion Nasar Meer, 2015-04-10 This volume locates the contemporary study of anti-Semitism and Islamophobia squarely within the fields of race and racism As such it challenges the extent to which discussion of the racialization of these minorities remains unrelated to each other or is explored in distinct silos as a series of internal debates By harnessing the explanatory power of long established organizing concepts within the study of race and racism this collection of articles makes a historically informed theoretical and empirical contribution to aligning these analytical pursuits The collection brings together a range of perspectives on this subject including a comparison between Islamophobia in early modern Spain and twenty first century Europe an examination of the new anti-Semitism and an analysis of online anti-Muslim and anti-Semitic jokes This book was originally published as a special issue of Ethnic and Racial Studies
