Pathologies Of Power Health Human Rights And The New War On The Poor:

Pathologies of Power Paul Farmer, 2005 Pathologies of Power uses harrowing stories of life and death to argue that the promotion of social and economic rights of the poor is the most important human rights struggle of our times Human Rights Albert A. Zinnos, 2007 Human rights refers to the concept of human beings as having universal rights or status regardless of legal jurisdiction and likewise other localising factors such as ethnicity and nationality For many the concept of human rights is based in religious principles However because a formal concept of human rights has not been universally accepted the term has some degree of variance between its use in different local jurisdictions difference in both meaningful substance as well as in protocols for and styles of application Ultimately the most general meaning of the term is one which can only apply universally and hence the term human rights is often itself an appeal to such transcended principles without basing such on existing legal concepts The term humanism refers to the developing doctrine of such universally applicable values and it is on the basic concept that human beings have innate rights that more specific local legal concepts are often based Within particular societies human rights refers to standards of behaviour as accepted within their respective legal systems regarding 1 the well being of individuals 2 the freedom and autonomy of individuals and 3 the representation of the human interest in government These rights commonly include the right to life the right to an adequate standard of living the prohibition of genocide freedom from torture and other mistreatment freedom of expression freedom of movement the right to self determination the right to education and the right to participation in cultural and political life These norms are based on the legal and political traditions of United Nations member states and are incorporated into international human rights instruments This new book brings together the latest book literature centred on this crucial topic Socio-Economic Rights in South Africa Malcolm Langford, Ben Cousins, Jackie Dugard, Tshepo Madlingozi, 2014 This book sets out to assess the role and impact of socio economic strategies used by civil society actors in South Africa Focusing on a range of socio economic rights and national trends in law and political economy the book's authors show how socio economic rights have influenced the development of civil society discourse and action Human Rights and the Body Annabelle Mooney, 2016-05-13 Human Rights and the Body is a response to the crisis in human rights to the very real concern that without a secure foundation for the concept of human rights their very existence is threatened While there has been consideration of the discourses of human rights and the way in which the body is written upon research in linguistics has not yet been fully brought to bear on either human rights or the body Drawing on legal concepts and aspects of the law of human rights Mooney aims to provide a universally defensible set of human rights and a foundation or rather a frame for them She argues that the proper frames for human rights are firstly the human body seen as an index reliant on the natural world secondly the globe and finally language These three frames generate rights to food water sleep and shelter environmental protection and a right against dehumanization This book is essential reading for researchers and graduate students in the fields of human rights and semiotics of law Maya after War Jennifer L. Burrell, 2013-06-01 Guatemala's thirty six year civil war culminated in peace accords in 1996 but the postwar transition has been marked by continued violence including lynchings and the rise of gangs as well as massive wage labor exodus to the United States For the Mam Maya municipality of Todos Santos Cuchumatán inhabited by a predominantly indigenous peasant population the aftermath of war and genocide resonates with a long standing tension between state techniques of governance and ancient community level power structures that incorporated concepts of kinship gender and generation Showing the ways in which these complex histories are interlinked with wartime and enduring family class conflicts Maya after War provides a nuanced account of a unique transitional postwar situation including the complex influence of neoliberal intervention Drawing on ethnographic field research over a twenty year period Jennifer L Burrell explores the after war period in a locale where community struggles span culture identity and history Investigating a range of tensions from the local to the international Burrell employs unique methodologies including mapmaking history workshops and an informal translation of a historic ethnography to analyze the role of conflict in animating what matters to Todosanteros in their everyday lives and how the residents negotiate power Examining the community based divisions alongside national postwar contexts Maya after War considers the aura of hope that surrounded the signing of the peace accords and the subsequent doubt and waiting that have fueled unrest encompassing generational conflicts This study is a rich analysis of the multifaceted forces at work in the quest for peace in Guatemala and beyond The Oxford Handbook of International Political Theory Chris Brown, Robyn Eckersley, 2018 The essential volume for all those working on International Political Theory and related areas The Land of Open Graves Jason De Leon, 2015-10-23 In this gripping and provocative ethnography of death National Book Award winner and MacArthur Genius Fellow Jason De Leon sheds light on one of the most pressing political issues of our time the human consequences of US immigration and border policy The Land of Open Graves reveals the suffering and deaths that occur daily in the Sonoran Desert of Arizona as thousands of undocumented migrants attempt to cross the border from Mexico into the United States Drawing on the four major fields of anthropology De Leon uses an innovative combination of ethnography archaeology linguistics and forensic science to produce a scathing critique of Prevention through Deterrence the federal border enforcement policy that encourages migrants to cross in areas characterized by extreme environmental conditions and high risk of death For two decades systematic violence has failed to deter border crossers while successfully turning the rugged terrain of southern Arizona into a killing field Featuring stark photography by Michael Wells this book examines the weaponization of natural terrain as a border wall first person stories from survivors underscore this fundamental threat to human rights and the very lives of non citizens as they are subjected to the most insidious and intangible form of American policing as institutional violence In harrowing detail De Leon chronicles the journeys of people who have made dozens of attempts to cross the border and uncovers the stories of the objects and bodies left behind in the desert The Land of Open

The images of women in chadors or burqas as contrasted with images of belly dancers which circulate today as representations of Muslim Middle Eastern women do not fluctuate from the images propagated by Orientalist paintings and colonial photographs which also offer contrasting representations of the veiled thus secluded and the naked or semi naked thus eroticised Muslim Oriental woman As well as challenging the prevailing stereotypes of the Middle Eastern and North African women the book aims to highlight the element of diversity which characterises the lives of these women and the regions to which they belong The sense that most of the Middle Eastern and North African countries are Muslim does confer a common identity a distinction from others that may serve to bridge wide social cultural and economic differences among them However it is also important to stress that significant elements other than Islam contribute to the making of MENA societies and women s cultural identities This book was published as a special issue of the British Journal of Middle Eastern Studies The United States of War David Vine, 2021-09-07 2020 L A Times Book Prize Finalist History A provocative examination of how the U S military has shaped our entire world from today s costly endless wars to the prominence of violence in everyday American life The United States has been fighting wars constantly since invading Afghanistan in 2001 This nonstop warfare is far less exceptional than it might seem the United States has been at war or has invaded other countries almost every year since independence In The United States of War David Vine traces this pattern of bloody conflict from Columbus's 1494 arrival in Guantanamo Bay through the 250 year expansion of a global U S empire Drawing on historical and firsthand anthropological research in fourteen countries and territories The United States of War demonstrates how U S leaders across generations have locked the United States in a self perpetuating system of permanent war by constructing the world's largest ever collection of foreign military bases a global matrix that has made offensive interventionist wars more likely Beyond exposing the profit making desires political interests racism and toxic masculinity underlying the country's relationship to war and empire The United States of War shows how the long history of U S military expansion shapes our daily lives from today's multi trillion dollar wars to the pervasiveness of violence and militarism in everyday U S life The book concludes by confronting the catastrophic toll of American wars which have left millions dead wounded and displaced while offering proposals for how we can end the fighting

The World Bank and Governance

Diane L. Stone, Christopher Wright, 2006-09-27 This timely book offers the first critical examination of World Bank policy reforms and initiatives during the past decade The World Bank is viewed as one of the most powerful international organizations of our time The authors critically analyze the influence of the institution's policy and engagement during the past decade in a variety of issue areas including human rights domestic reform and the environment The World Bank and Governance delves into the bowels of the World Bank exploring its organizational structure professional culture and bureaucratic procedures illustrating how these shape its engagement with an increasingly complex diverse and challenging operational environment The book includes chapters on two under researched divisions of the World Bank the International Finance Corporation and the Multilateral Investment Guarantee Agency Several illuminating country studies are also included analyzing the World Bank's activities in Argentina Bolivia Lebanon Hungary and Vietnam This volume will be of great interest to students and scholars of international relations development politics and economics

Reflections on the Right To Development Arjun Sengupta, Archana Negi, Moushumi Basu, 2005 The Right to Development RTD is a new and highly contested right Its emergence is linked to the demand for a new international economic order by developing countries Composite in nature and integrating civil and political rights with economic social and cultural rights the RTD approach underscores participation a fair sharing of benefits transparency and non discrimination The present volume explores the theoretical and practical aspects of RTD as an alternative to existing approaches to development It brings together the reflections and insights of some of the finest scholars on the specific aspects of RTD

Trauma Rehabilitation After War and Conflict Erin Martz, 2010-04-15 As foreign assistance flows into post conflict regions to rebuild economies roads and schools it is important that development professionals retain a focus on the purely human element of rebuilding lives and societies This book provides perspective on just how to begin that process so that the trauma people suffered is not passed on to future generations long after the violence has stopped Amy T Wilson Ph D Gallaudet University Washington DC This ground breaking text provides the reader with an excellent and comprehensive overview of the existing field of trauma rehabilitation. It also masterfully navigates the intricate relationships among theory, research, and practice, leaving the reader with immense appreciation for its subject matter. Hanoch Livneh, Ph.D., LPC, CRC, Portland State University, Fear, terror, helplessness, rage for soldier and civilian alike: the psychological costs of war are staggering. And for those traumatized by chronic armed conflict, healing, recovery, and closure can seem like impossible goals. Demonstrating wide-ranging knowledge of the vulnerabilities and resilience of war survivors, the collaborators on Trauma Rehabilitation after War and Conflict analyze successful rehabilitative processes and intervention programs in conflict-affected areas of the world. Its dual focus on individual and community healing builds on the concept of the protective trauma membrane, a component crucial to coping and healing, to humanitarian efforts, though one which is often passed over in favor of rebuilding infrastructure and to promoting and sustaining peace. The book's multiple perspectives, including public health, community-based systems, and trauma-focused approaches, reflect the complex psychological, social, and emotional stresses faced by survivors to provide authoritative information on salient topics such as: Psychological rehabilitation of U.S. veterans, non-Western ex-combatants, and civilians; Forgiveness and social reconciliation after armed conflict; Psychosocial adjustment in the post-war setting; Helping individuals heal from war-related rape; The psychological impact on prisoners of war; Rehabilitating the child soldier. Trauma Rehabilitation after War and Conflict lucidly sets out the terms for the next stage of humanitarian work, making it essential reading for researchers and professionals in psychology, social work, rehabilitation, counseling, and public health.
