resilience of the poor Gender divisions within the household are also examined The book adopts an innovative method for measuring poverty The new method combines objective and subjective dimensions of deprivation to develop a unique way of addressing two central questions what are those standards of living whose absence indicates deprivation and how can the value of each standard of living be determined Rural Poverty in India Bhoopal Chandra Mehta, 1993 and Exploitation Jagannath Rath, 2022-01-01 The present study is designed with analytical sophistication theoretical soundness and empirical grounding to bring in deeper critical insights into an understanding of the incidence of poverty and nature of exploitation of tribes in the process of development with the Kandhs of Koraput district in Odisha as case study Undoubtedly the volume will be useful to those interested in equitable participatory inclusive and sustainable tribal Family Investments in Children's Potential Ariel Kalil, Thomas DeLeire, 2004-07-22 The papers in this volume bring together a cross disciplinary mix of researchers developmental psychologists evolutionary biologists economists anthropologists and sociologists working on the common theme of investments in children The interdisciplinary conceptual framework adopted by this collection of papers is loosely built around the idea that there are two broad dimensions of parental investments These include resources eq income wealth on the one hand and behaviors eq parental instrumental support and parental activities that promote warmth socialization and cognitive stimulation on the other Believing that parental investments yield a return in improved child and young adult outcomes the papers discuss how parents differ in terms of the resources they have available to invest the choices parents make the behaviors they engage in and relevant policy and program interventions More specifically core questions addressed by the authors include Why do some families invest while others do not and are differential investment patterns related to biology economics or social factors What constitutes a successful investment portfolio How are investments measured and or characterized Are different investments interchangeable compensating or off setting Given a set of resources why are some families able to make more effective investments in child outcomes How well do these investments affect outcomes for children and for these children as young adults Can interventions or public policies help families build assets or become better investors in their children's potential Developing a better understanding of what investments matter when they matter and how resources can be successfully invested in children's potential is key to shaping efficient interventions and social policies Knowledge of how parents invest and what strategies are effective may help policies which seek to further empower and enable parental involvement and choice for their children Research Grants Index National Institutes of Health (U.S.). chapters written by a diverse range of authors employ a combination of theoretical and empirical methodologies to offer well rounded explorations of complex topics The New Welfare Consensus Darren Barany, 2018-07-11 Winner of the 2019 Paul Sweezy Marxist Sociology Book Award presented by the Marxist Section of the American Sociological Association Families on welfare in the United States are the target of much public indignation from not only the general public but also political figures and the very workers whose job it is to help the poor The question is What explains this animus and more specifically the failure of the United States to prioritize a sufficient social wage for poor families outside of labor markets The New Welfare Consensus offers a comprehensive look at welfare in the United States and how it has evolved in the last few decades Darren Barany examines the origins of American antiwelfarism and traces how over time fundamentally conservative ideas became the dominant way of thinking about the welfare state work family and personal responsibility resulting in a paternalistic and stingy system of welfare programs Geography in America at the Dawn of the 21st Century Gary L. Gaile, Cort I. Willmott, 2005 Geography in America at the Dawn of the 21st Century surveys American geographers current research in their specialty areas and tracks trends and innovations in the many subfields of geography As such it is both a state of the discipline assessment and a topical reference It includes an introduction by the editors and 47 chapters each on a specific specialty The authors of each chapter were chosen by their specialty group of the American Association of Geographers AAG Based on a process of review and revision the chapters in this volume have become truly representative of the recent scholarship of American geographers While it focuses on work since 1990 it additionally includes related prior work and work by non American geographers The initial Geography in America was published in 1989 and has become a benchmark reference of American geographical research during the 1980s This latest volume is completely new and features a preface written by the eminent geographer Gilbert White Urban Latin America Alejandro Portes, John Walton, 2014-09-10 Much research on the city in developing societies has focused mainly on one of three areas planning demography or economics and has emphasized either power elites or the masses but not both The published literature on Latin America has reflected these interests and has so far failed to provide a comprehensive view of Latin American urbanization Urban Latin America is an attempt to integrate research on Latin American social organization within a single theoretical framework development as fundamentally a political problem Alejandro Portes and John Walton have included material on both elites and marginal populations and on the three major areas of research in order to formulate and address some of the key questions about the structure of urban politics in Latin America Following an introduction that delineates the scope of Latin American urban studies Portes discusses the Latin American city as a creation of European colonialism He goes on to examine political behavior among the poor with central reference to system support and countersystem potential Walton provides material for a comparative study of four cities Monterrey and Guadalajara in Mexico and Medell n and Cali in Colombia He also summarizes a large number of urban elite studies and develops a theoretical interpretation of their collective results based on class structure and vertical integration Material in each chapter is cross referenced to other chapters and the authors have used a common methodological approach in synthesizing and interpreting the research literature In the final chapter they generalize current findings elaborating on the interface between elite and mass politics in the urban situation They make some observations on approaching changes and pinpoint possible research strategies for the Handbook of Marriage and the Family Suzanne K. Steinmetz, Marvin B. Sussman, 2013-11-11 The lucid straightforward Preface of this Handbook by the two editors and the comprehenSIve perspec tives offered in the Introduction by one of them leave little for a Foreword to add It is therefore limIted to two relevant but not intrinsically related points vis a vis research on marriage and the family in the interval since the first Handbook Christensen 1964 appeared namely the impact on this research of the politicization of the New Right and of the Feminist Enlightenment beginning in the mid sixties about the time of the first Handbook In the late 1930s Willard Waller noted Fifty years or more ago about 1890 most people had the greatest respect for the institution called the family and wished to learn nothing whatever about it Everything that concerned the life of men and women and their children was shrouded from the light Today much of that has been changed Gone is the concealment of the way in which life begins gone the irrational sanctity of the home The aura of sentiment which once protected the family from discussion clings to it no more We wantto learn as much about it as we can and to understand it as thoroughly as possible for there is a rising recognition in America that vast numbers of its families are sick from internal frustrations and from external buffeting We are engaged in the process of reconstructing our family institutions through criticism and discussion 1938 pp 3 4 Catalogue of Research Literature for Development: Food production and nutrition, development and economics, education and human resources, health, selected development areas United States.
