The Making and Selling of Post-Mao Beijing Anne-Marie Broudehoux, 2004-08-02 Describes the changing life of the city and its inhabitants during the final decades of the twentieth century and examines the complex forces at play in the search for modernity The author presents us with four case studies of how the city is marketing and selling itself including its refurbishment for the 2008 Olympic bid and concludes that Beijing's urban image construction may provide an avenue for opposition groups to challenge the hegemony of those in power

Designing Emerging Markets Giaime Botti, 2023-05-22 This book offers a unique glance into the process of globalisation of the architectural practice during the last three decades through the lenses of innovative methodologies in architectural history based on quantitative data Focusing on the golden age of globalisation 1990 2019 it investigates the transnational work of more than one thousand architectural firms of different business models from Europe North America and the Asia Pacific in a broad sample of emerging markets Mainland China South East Asia India the Persian Gulf Sub Saharan Africa Russia and Kazakhstan and Latin America In the book different thematic geographies are presented to explore the global scope of the contemporary profession examine significant projects and the structural conditions behind them and reveal the debates that such works generated Understanding the global agency of design firms in emerging markets also becomes a way to study different market conditions modes of production and architectural trends comparatively and to highlight the shifts that occurred in the profession over the last few decades The use of quantitative methodologies produces a novel and updated narrative on contemporary architecture in emerging markets grounded in quantitative data rather than in preassumptions and purely qualitative interpretations Richly illustrated this book is further enhanced by an ample set of maps graphs and tables to visualise data better

How to Read Skyscrapers Edward Denison,2019-04

Throughout history the story of the skyscraper has been defined by our desire for ascendance politically militarily economically religiously culturally and of course physically These spectacular superstructures epitomise more than architectural aspiration they excite the imagination and inspire awe The scope of the book is deliberately broad with a thematic first section and a geographical second section Conceptual chapters introduce the origins of our desire to build high and explore the skyscraper s role in fuelling our imaginations through different modes of cultural expression How To Read Skyscrapers offers a deep and rich understanding of the skyscraper by providing a comprehensive account of this unique and captivating building type from its origins in myth and legend to its future potential in satisfying humankind s needs and aspirations

Renzo Piano Lorenzo Ciccarelli,2023-10-24 A comprehensive study of internationally renowned Italian architect Renzo Piano The City As A Tangled Bank Sir Terry Farrell,2014-02-19 Here Sir Terry Farrell who has built an international career as an architect planner encourages other planners and architects to follow the biologists look at learn from and indeed admire the nature of the forces that drive the change and then with humility and respect work with them to nudge anticipate and prepare for where it takes us Searching for patterns within the apparent turbulence and complexity he analyses the notions of urban design and urban evolution and examines whether or not they need necessarily be seen as opposing one another The first two chapters discuss emergence as an idea in a biological and architectural context as well as the distinction between urban design and planning in both education and practice and the impact of other fields such as landscape design Seven further chapters examine a range of themes embracing the importance of chain reactions in the progress of urban engineering the character of habitation layering taste and context adaptation and conversion the advocacy of the architect planner and the effects of digital technology on city evolution Farrell brings his considerable experience in practice to bear elucidating his thoughts with examples from cities across the world including Beijing Hong Kong London New York and Paris

Contemporary Sino-French Cinemas Michelle E. Bloom,2017-11-30 Transnational cinemas are eclipsing national cinemas in the contemporary world and Sino French films exemplify this phenomenon through the cinematic coupling of the Sinophone and the Francophone linking France not just with the Chinese mainland but also with the rest of the Chinese speaking world Sinophone directors most often reach out to French cinema by referencing and adapting it They set their films in Paris and metropolitan France cast French actors and sometimes use French dialogue even when the directors themselves don't understand it They tend to view France as mysterious sexy and sophisticated just as the French see China and Taiwan as exotic As Michelle E Bloom makes clear many films move past a simplistic opposition between East and West and beyond Orientalist and Occidentalist cross cultural interplay Bloom focuses on films that have appeared since 2000 such as Tsai Ming-liang's What Time Is It There Hou Hsiao-hsien's Flight of the Red Balloon and Dai Sijie's Balzac and the Little Chinese Seamstress She views the work of these well-known directors through a Sino French optic applying the tropes of métissage or biraciality intertextuality adaptation and remake translation and imitation to shed new light on their work She also calls attention to important lesser studied films Taiwanese director Cheng Yu-chieh's Yang Yang which depicts the up and coming Taiwanese star Sandrine Pinna as a mixed race beauty and Emily Tang Xiaobai's debut film Conjugation which contrasts Paris and post Tiananmen Square Beijing the one an incarnation of liberty the other a place of entrapment Bloom's insightful analysis also probes what such films reveal about their Taiwanese and Chinese creators Scholars have long studied Sino French literature but this inaugural full length work on Sino French cinema maps uncharted territory offering a paradigm for understanding other cross cultural interminglings and tools to study transnational cinema and world cinema The Sino French rich and multifaceted linguistically culturally and ethnically constitutes an important part of film studies Francophone studies Sinophone studies and myriad other fields This is a must read for students scholars and lovers of film

Writing Beijing Yiran Zheng, 2016-04-29 One of the oldest cities in the world Beijing was an imperial capital for centuries After the founding of the People's Republic of China in 1949 Beijing became not only the political center of the new communist country but also the signifier of socialist ideology and revolutionary culture Now in the 21st century Beijing embodies global conflicts and global connections Over the course of the last century then Beijing moved from the quintessential traditional capital to the symbol of communist urban form and finally to a cosmopolitan metropolis These three stages in the history of Beijing and its shifting representations are the topic of this study Like other capitals Beijing is much more than its physical entity It also functions as a concept a representation As city planners have and continue to present Beijing to the world as a model the fluctuating images of Beijing have become solidified in urban space Today the urban form of Beijing juxtaposes diverse spaces that span centuries embodying the various representations of the city by its planners in different eras These representations of space also provide possibilities for writers to rethink and rebuild the city in their literary works Chinese writers and filmmakers often essentialize those urban spaces by making them symbols of different urban cultures the old houses representing traditional patriarchal Chinese culture while soviet style buildings reflect revolutionary culture Finally the more recent sprouting of apartments condos and townhouses stands for the invasion of western modernity and provides evidence of global capitalism in contemporary China Inspired by Henri Lefebvre this study establishes a framework that connects urban spaces representations of space to writers and literary productions representational space I analyze the three major urban spatial forms of traditional communist and globalized Beijing and examine what these urban spaces mean to Chinese writers and filmmakers as well as how they use them to configure particular images of Beijing I argue that these different configurations are actually the projections of those writers and filmmakers own cultural imaginations they provoke a form of emotional catharsis and also produce alternative visions of the cityscape

Building Globalization Xuefei Ren, 2011-04-15 From the years 2004 to 2008 Beijing and Shanghai witnessed the construction of an extraordinary number of new buildings many of which were designed by architectural firms overseas Combining ethnographic fieldwork historical research and network analysis Building Globalization closely scrutinizes the growing phenomenon of transnational architecture and its profound effect on the development of urban space Roaming from construction sites in Shanghai to architects offices in Paris Xuefei Ren interviews hundreds of architects developers politicians residents and activists to explore this issue She finds that in the rapidly transforming cities of modern China iconic designs from prestigious international architects help private developers to distinguish their projects government officials to advance their careers and the Chinese state to announce the arrival of modern China on the world stage China leads the way in the globalization of architecture a process whose ramifications can be felt from Beijing to Dubai to Basel Connecting the dots between real estate speculation megaproject construction residential displacement historical preservation housing rights and urban activism Building Globalization reveals the contradictions and consequences of this new global urban frontier

Architectural Encounters with Essence and Form in Modern China Peter G. Rowe, Seng Kuan, 2002 A study of traditional and modernist attitudes toward architecture in China from the 1840s to the present Built around snippets of discussion overheard in a Beijing design studio this book explores attitudes toward architecture in China since the opening of the Treaty Ports in the 1840s Central to the discussion are the concepts of ti and yong or essence and form Chinese characters that are used to define the proper arrangement of what should be considered modern and essentially Chinese Ti and yong have gone through various transformations for example from Chinese learning for essential principles and Western learning for practical application to socialist essence and cultural form and an almost complete reversal to modern essence and Chinese form The book opens with a discussion of cultural developments in China in response to the forced opening to the West in the mid nineteenth century efforts to reform the Qing dynasty and the Nationalist and Communist regimes It then considers the return of overseas educated Chinese architects and foreign influences on Chinese architecture four architectural orientations toward tradition and modernity in the 1920s and 1930s and the controversy over the use of big roofs and other sinicizing aspects of Chinese architecture in the 1950s The book then moves to the hard economic conditions of the Great Leap Forward and the Cultural Revolution when architecture was almost abandoned and the beginning of reform and opening up to the outside world in the late 1970s and 1980s Finally it looks at the present socialist market economy and Chinese architecture during the still incomplete process of modernization It closes with a prognosis for the future
