Teaching the Short Story A. Cox, 2015-12-04 The short story is moving from relative neglect to a central position in the curriculum as a teaching tool it offers students a route into many complex areas including critical theory gender studies postcolonialism and genre This book offers a practical guide to the short story in the classroom covering all these fields and more

A Study Guide for Paul Bowles's "Eye" Gale, Cengage Learning,

Paul Bowles's Literary Engagement with Morocco Bouchra Benlemlih, 2018-01-05 This study argues that Paul Bowles is more perceptive than many American travelers in Morocco The book provides us with what are perhaps the most sustained meditations to date on Bowles's translation work and his autobiography as well as perceptive analyses of key stories such as A Distant Episode and Here to Learn and his second novel Let It Come Down set primarily in Tangier The chapter on translation dwells on the complex interactions between Moroccan storytellers and Bowles The work considers translation as a site where the oral and written colonial and post colonial scene and English and Maghrebi come face to face it is a place where things are worked out in dynamic interaction The chapter on Bowles's autobiography Without Stopping urges us to take this piece of self writing famously dubbed Without Telling by William Burroughs more seriously drawing our attention to baroque architectural features of mind and external landscape worlds distorted by mirrors dreams and fluid transit where forms morph The work also highlights difference between experience and representation of experience through language transformed through the prism of memory In the chapter on Without Stopping as well as in my discussions of Bowles's fiction I provide useful elaborations of connections between Bowles's work and that of Edgar Allan Poe My reading of one of Bowles's best known stories A Distant Episode brings to the surface a recognition that the tragic fate of the Professor the story's protagonist is an outcome of his inability to admit that cultures are not static The academically trained linguist demonstrates an unwillingness or inability to adapt to change or to read cultural signs accurately The message is that Morocco is not stuck in time and cannot be held in place by Orientalist fantasies or preconceived externally derived intellectual constructs and assumptions

The book concludes that against the grain of Samuel Huntington's notion of Clash of Civilizations Bowles's poetic and geographical journey forcefully projects cosmopolitanism and transnational attention confirming that civilizations and identities open up rather than shut down war or clash American Short-story Writers Since World War II. world today Each chapter addresses a different selection of James fiction and non fiction and offers a different approach towards the ideas that are still with us today history reflected in art and architecture the tourist gaze museum culture transnationalism and the return home As a whole the book encompasses both early and late fiction and non fiction by Henry James giving the reader a sense of how his idea of travel evolved over several decades of his creative activity and shows how thin the line between fiction and non fiction travel writing really is

On and Off the Page Ari J. Adipurwawidjana, M. B. Hackler, 2009-03-26 This collection of essays comprised of research first presented at the seventh annual Louisiana Conference on Literature Language and Culture explores one of the most pervasive vexing and alluring concepts in the Humanities that of place Including essays which encompass a broad range of research fields and methodologies from Geography to Cybernetics it presents a cross section of approaches aimed revealing the complex cultural machinations behind what once may have seemed a static one dimensional topic Investigations into the function of place as a force in contemporary culture inevitably reveal a long history of the interplay between place and cultural product between context and text Just as traditional cultures mythologize sacred spaces so too has Western culture sanctified its own places through its literature Imagined places such as Faulker's Yoknapatawpha or Joyce's Dublin become the focus of conferences and festivals authors homes birthplaces and gravesites are transformed into sites of pilgrimage locales created for television shows and movies become actual businesses catering to a public for whom the line between fantasy and reality is increasingly blurred and persisting through the great cultural shifts of the past two hundred years is the popular and romantic notion that words performances narratives and even national identities are always in some way an expression of the places in which they are created and set With the idea of place foregrounded in so much contemporary discourse this collection promises to enter into an already lively debate and one which due to its relevance to where we live and how we make sense of our own places within them does not show any signs of flagging

Writing Tangier in the Postcolonial Transition Michael K. Walonen, 2016-02-17 In his study of the Tangier expatriate community Michael K Walonen analyzes the representations of French and Spanish Colonial North Africa by Paul Bowles Jane Bowles William Burroughs Brion Gysin and Alfred Chester during the end of the colonial era and the earliest days of post independence The conceptualizations of space in these authors descriptions of Tangier Walonen shows share common components an attention to the transformative potential of the conflict sweeping the region a record of the power relations that divided space along lines of gender and ethnicity including the spatial impact of the widespread sexual commerce between Westerners and natives a vision of the Maghreb as a land that can be dominated or imposed on as a kind of frontier space an expression of anxieties about the specters of Cold War antagonisms and an embrace of the underlying logic of the market to the culture of the Maghreb Counterbalancing the depictions of Tangier by Westerners who sought to reconcile their nostalgia for the colonial order with their support of native demands for independent governance is Walonen's extended analysis of the contrasting sense of place found in the writings of native Moroccan authors such as Mohammed Choukri Tahar Ben Jelloun and Anouar Majid In its focus on Tangier and the larger Maghreb as a lived environment situated at a particular spatial and temporal crossroads Walonen s study makes an important contribution to the fields of urban transatlantic and postcolonial studies Gay and Lesbian Literary Heritage Claude J. Summers,2014-02-25 The revised edition of The Gay and Lesbian Literary Heritage is a reader s companion to this impressive body of work It provides overviews of gay and lesbian presence in a variety of literatures and historical periods in depth critical essays on major gay and lesbian authors in world literature and briefer treatments of other topics and figures important in appreciating the rich and varied gay and lesbian literary traditions Included are nearly 400 alphabetically arranged articles by more than 175 scholars from around the world New articles in this volume feature authors such as Michael Cunningham Tony Kushner Anne Lister Kate Millet Jan Morris Terrence McNally and Sarah Waters essays on topics such as Comedy of Manners and Autobiography and overviews of Danish Norwegian Philippines and Swedish literatures as well as updated and revised articles and bibliographies Burroughs Unbound S. E. Gontarski,2021-11-18 In addition to contributing significantly to the growing field of Burroughs scholarship Burroughs Unbound also directly engages with the growing fields of textual studies archival research and genetic criticism asking crucial questions thereby about the nature of archives and their relationship to a writer s work These questions about the archive concern not only the literary medium In the 1960s and 1970s Burroughs collaborated with filmmakers sound technicians and musicians who helped re contextualized his writings in other media Burroughs Unbound examines these collaborations and explores how such multiple authorship complicates the authority of the archive as a final or complete repository of an author s work It takes Burroughs seriously as a radical theorist and practitioner who critiqued drug laws sexual practice censorship and what we today call a society of control More broadly his work continues to challenge our common assumptions about language authorship textual stability and the archive in its broadest definition William S. Burroughs Cutting Up the Century Joan Hawkins,Alex Wermer-Colan,2019-05-17 This definitive book on Burroughs decades long cut up project and its relevance to the American twentieth century including previously unpublished works William S Burroughs s Nova Trilogy The Soft Machine Nova Express and The Ticket That Exploded remains the best known of his textual cut up creations but he committed more than a decade of his life to searching out multimedia for use in works of collage By cutting up folding in and splicing together newspapers magazines letters book reviews classical literature audio recordings photographs and films Burroughs created an eclectic and wide ranging countercultural archive This collection includes previously unpublished work by Burroughs such as cut ups of work written by his son cut ups of critical responses to his own work collages on the Vietnam War and the Watergate scandal excerpts from his dream journals and some of the few diary entries that Burroughs wrote about his wife Joan William S Burroughs Cutting Up the Century also features original essays interviews and discussions by established Burroughs scholars respected artists and people who encountered
