Regional Development In The 1990s The British Isles In Transition:

Regional Development in The 1990s Ron Martin, Ron L. Martin, P. M. Townroe, 1992 In the first half of this book region by region profiles review the experience of the 80s and reflect on the present climate assessing problems and opportunities as they look forward across the next decade The second half provides 25 commentaries on changes influencing the development of regions from questions of industry technology and employment to the impact of national policy and 1992 and the prospects and capacity for regional policy and development From these a number of conclusions are drawn for policy development at local regional national and EEC levels

Institutions, Discourse, and Regional Development Henrik Halkier, 2006 Why are some regional development strategies adopted and others rejected Only limited systematic attention has been paid to the politics of regional policy including the role of institutions discourse and political debate in shaping this major area of public policy The book develops an institutionalist approach to the study of regional policy capable of spanning major European development paradigms and accounting for the dynamic relationship between organisations policies and political discourse This conceptual framework is then applied to the Scottish Development Agency a development body famed across Europe for its innovative policies but surrounded by political controversy in Scotland A detailed study of corporate strategies policy implementation and the wider British environment questions existing interpretations of the organisation which tend to vilify anti interventionist Thatcherites or glorify shrewd development professionals Instead the author proposes an alternative synthesis which highlights the interplay between institutions discourse and regional development in the politics of regional policy

Transitions in Regional Economic Development Ivan Turok, David Bailey, Jennifer Clark, Jun Du, Ugo Fratesi, Michael Fritsch, John Harrison, Tom Kemeny, Dieter Kogler, Arnoud Lagendijk, Tomasz Mickiewicz, Ernest Miguelez, Stefano Usai, Fiona Wishlade, 2018-10-18 At a time of extraordinary challenges confronting the world this book analyses some of the profound changes occurring in the development of cities and regions It discusses the uncertainties associated with the stalling of hyper globalization and asks whether this creates opportunities for resurgent regional economies driven by local capabilities resource efficiencies and domestic production Theory and evidence on socio economic and environmental transitions underway in many regions are brought together Implications of the shifting balance of global power towards emerging economies in the East are explored along with the consequences of urbanization in the global South for politics and democracy Dilemmas surrounding migration are also discussed including whether incomers displace local workers and depress wages or bring benefits in the form of know how new technology and investment More integrative concepts of the region and theories of regional development are analysed recognising the role of human capital knowledge innovation finance infrastructure and institutions This was originally published as a special issue of Regional Studies

Regional Development Strategies Jeremy Alden, Philip Boland, 2013-10-18 Regional development strategies have become the focus of attention in many countries in the 1990s This textbook provides a conceptual theoretical and empirical analysis of regional development strategies within a European context It examines the various regional development strategies which are currently being pursued within the regions of Europe defined in its loosest term to include East and West The book describes how many different European regions are attempting to reduce regional disparities by engaging themselves in coherent and focused regional development strategies and there is also private sector approach to regional economic development There are many case studies from Europe and from other parts of the world including Japan thereby providing lessons that different countries and regions can learn from each other

British Planning J. B. Cullingworth, 1999-10-01 Brings together Britain's leading analysts of planning to present a review and analysis of planning and policy Covers major issues in contemporary planning reviews the history of post war planning and considers the future for planning covering both policy and its impact on practice Includes case material and black and white photos and plans of houses and buildings Cullingworth is a professor of urban affairs at the University of Delaware and an associate of the Department of Land Economy at the University of Cambridge

Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR The UK Regional-National Economic Problem Philip McCann, 2016-03-10 In recent years the United Kingdom has become a more and more divided society with inequality between the regions as marked as it has ever been In a landmark analysis of the current state of Britain's regional development Philip McCann utilises current statistics examines historical trends and makes pertinent international comparisons to assess the state of the nation The UK Regional National Economic Problem brings attention to the highly centralised top down governance structure that the UK deploys and demonstrates that it is less than ideally placed to rectify these inequalities The North South divide in the UK has never been greater and the rising inequalities are evident in almost all aspects of the economy including productivity incomes employment status and wealth Whilst the traditional economic dominance of London and its hinterland has continued along with relative resilience in the South West of England and Scotland in contrast the Midlands the North of England Northern Ireland and Wales lag behind by most measures of prosperity This inequality is greatly limiting national economic performance and the fact that Britain has a below average standard of living by European and OECD terms has been ignored The UK's economic and governance inequality is unlikely to be fundamentally rebalanced by the current governance and connectivity trends although this definitive study suggests that some areas of improvement are possible if they are well implemented This pivotal analysis is essential reading for postgraduate students in economics and urban studies as well as researchers and policy makers in local and central government

The Changing Geography of the UK Hugh Matthews, Vince Gardiner, 2002-03-11 First published in 2000 Within the last decade the UK has undergone major shifts in terms of its land economy society polity and environment all of which have had a profound effect on the geographical landscape This fully revised edition of a widely appreciated book presents a full description and interpretation of the changes that have occurred during the 1990s It includes a great deal of new material from a revised team of contributors

The Changing Geography of the United Kingdom V. Gardiner, Michael

Hugh Matthews, 2000 First Published in 2000 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company The Changing Geography of the UK 3rd Edition Hugh Matthews, Vince Gardiner, 2020-10-28 This book presents a full description and interpretation of the changes that have occurred in the United Kingdom during the 1990s It offers an understanding of the social economic political and physical forces bringing about the changes in the United Kingdom The Social Dynamics of Innovation Networks Roel Rutten, Paul Benneworth, Dessy Irawati, Frans Boekema, 2014-06-27 The social dynamics of innovation networks captures the important role of trust social capital institutions and norms and values in the creation of knowledge in innovation networks In doing so this book connects to a long standing debate on the socio spatial context of innovation in economic geography which is usually referred to as the Territorial Models of Innovation TIMs literature This present volume breaks with the TIM literature in several important ways In the first place this book emphasizes the role of individual agency because individuals and their networks are increasingly recognized as the principal agents of knowledge creation Secondly this volume looks at space as a continuous field of opportunity rather than as bounded territory with a set of endowments such as knowledge base and social capital Although individually these elements are not new to the TIM literature it has thus far failed to grasp their critical implication for studying the social dynamics of innovation networks The approach to the socio spatial context of innovation in this volume is summarized as Knowledge Economy 2.0 It emphasizes that human creativity is now the main source of economic value and that human creativity and knowledge creation is not an organized process within organizations but happens bottom up in formal and informal professional and social networks of individuals that cut across multiple organizations Land for Industrial Development D. Adams, L. Russell, C. Taylor-Russell, Clare Taylor-Russell, 2021-09-01 This book provides a detailed account of the processes of land supply land exchange and land development for manufacturing industry It has a practical case study based approach which provides an understanding of the motives and behaviour of critical factors in the development process Territorial Development, Cohesion and Spatial Planning Neil Adams, Giancarlo Cotella, Richard Nunes, 2012-08-06 This book examines some of the evolving challenges faced by EU regional policy in light of enlargement and to assess some of the approaches and trends in terms of territorial development policy and practice that are emerging out of this process Focusing on the experiences on Central and Eastern Europe these chapters reflect on the diversity of approaches to spatial planning and the the politics of policy formation and multi level governance operations from local to trans national agendas Promoting increased awareness and understanding of these issues is the main purpose of the book as well as harnessing the extensive capacity and knowledge within these countries that can greatly enrich the discourse within an enlarged epistemic community of European spatial planning academics practitioners and policy makers The recently acquired CEE dimension provides a unique opportunity to examine the evolution of existing epistemic communities as well as to explore the potential emergence of new ones The Political Economy of Devolution in Britain from the Postwar Era to Brexit Nick Vlahos, 2020-06-29 This book examines the political economy of devolution in Britain from the postwar period to the present. It situates devolution in Britain within an understanding of the partisan recalibration of political economic and democratic scales or levels of the state. The author utilizes various explanatory tools to unpack complex social economic spatial and political phenomena across national regional and local scales. The book further contributes to our conceptual understanding of decentralization as a broader comparative phenomenon. Particular emphasis is placed on examining why decentralization and devolution occur at particular points in time which enables the investigation into how political and fiscal powers are re organized at different levels of the state.

Union Retreat and the Regions Ron Martin, Peter Sunley, Jane Wills, 2012-10-12 Since the beginning of the 1980s British trade unions have experienced a dramatic retreat marked by rapidly falling membership and declining industrial power. The authors examine the regional dimensions of this retreat of organised labour paying particular attention to the resilience of the unions' historical heartland areas. The impact of economic restructuring on local union traditions. The shrinking landscape of industrial militancy. The geographical decentralization of the new industrial relations. The link between these factors and the more general debate on regional development and regional labour markets. An important synthesis of economic geography and industrial relations work. This book marks a major contribution towards the newly emerging field of labour geography.

The Economic Geography of the IT Industry in the Asia Pacific Region Philip Cooke, Glen Searle, Kevin O'Connor, 2013-07-18 The development of the information technology (IT) industry in the Asia Pacific region faces two challenges. Firstly, can its established physical technical regional and governance infrastructures be adapted to meet the challenges embedded in the set of products and processes created by the IT industry? Secondly, as this adaptation evolves, which cities and regions will be best suited to connect to or lead global responses to these challenges? The chapters in this book have set out to explore these questions providing details of change in a range of aspects of the IT industry such as mobile phones, software services and flat screen design in regions in Japan, Korea, Taiwan, India, China and Australia. The book also outlines the policy responses of national and regional governments in Singapore, India and China and India. These case studies provide a basis to understand effective strategies which could be formulated for the future. This book's originality emerges from the fine detail provided about firms in particular regions and cities from research carried out by young scholars in the past two years. This makes it very useful for readers keen to understand the recent changes in this dynamic industry in a fast growth part of the world and it will also help to shape thinking by policy makers on policy settings that can be applied.

Dynamics of Economic Spaces in the Global Knowledge-based Economy Sam Park, 2014-09-19 This book addresses how economic spaces dynamically change within the context of the global knowledge based economy. Specifically, it centers the discussion on integrated views of understanding and conceptualizing dynamic changes of global economy under the global megatrends of globalization, knowledge based economy, information society, service world, climate change and population aging. Focusing on East Asia, especially on Korea, it deals with case studies regarding the processes and patterns of these global dynamics looking at economic spaces of various spatial scales and types of economic actors This book develops a theoretical model for understanding and analysing the dynamics of economic spaces that are being reshaped within the larger global economy It also emphasizes the analysis of empirical studies at the level of firm region and state by considering an evolutionary perspective over time In developing its theoretical framework this book examines regional resilience intangible assets service innovation path dependence and other notions related to the evolution of economic spaces and incorporates these elements into real world case studies The integrated theoretical framework examined here contributes a new perspective on spatial disparities in the global economy An integral model of service innovation the integration of path dependence and regional resilience the interaction between firm and region for the accumulation of intangible assets and the roles of governments and global firms these are all essential to understanding the dynamics of economic spaces in East Asia The theoretical model and case studies in this book suggest policy implications for developing countries especially in the Asian and African regions with regard to regional development and innovation policies

Smaller Cities in a World of Competitiveness Peter Karl Kresl,Daniele Ietri,2016-04-28 Much recent research in Urban Studies has concentrated on the notion of the global city but discussion has also covered a larger set of mega cities with populations in excess of 10 million This analysis has begged the question of the optimal size for a city is larger always better Smaller Cities explores the advantages and disadvantages of different sized cities trying to determine their place in the global economy and hierarchy How can smaller cities gain or retain their competitiveness in a world of large cities In a globalized world the nation has perhaps been diminished as an economic actor with fiscal shortcomings and political gridlock leaving cities more or less on their own in the task of enhancing their competitiveness and improving the economic lives of their residents This book argues that smaller cities of varying population can be important actors in competitiveness and aims to bring attention to an area often overlooked by researchers In short are Pittsburgh San Diego and Austin less competitive than London and Mumbai This volume will be of interest to students researchers and city professionals who work in urban economy and urban geography

Rethinking the Region John Allen,with Julie Charlesworth,Allan Cochrane,Gill Court,Nick Henry,Doreen Massey,Phil Sarre,2012-12-06 Rethinking the Region argues that regions are not simply bounded spaces on a map This book uses unique research of England during the 1980s to show how regions are made and unmade by social processes The book examines how new lines of division both social and geographical were laid down as free market growth and reconstructed this are as a neo liberal region The authors argue that a more balanced form of growth is possible within and between regions as well as between social groups This book shows that to grasp the complexities of growth we must rethink the region in time as well as in space

Manufacturing in the New Urban Economy Willem van Winden,Leo van den Berg,Luis Carvalho,Erwin van Tuijl,2010-10-04 This book looks at the changing link between manufacturing and knowledge based activities in urban regions drawing on insights from organization studies and regional economics and looking at case studies in Europe South America and Asia

Spatial Policy in a Divided Nation Richard T. Harrison, Mark Hart, 2002-09

This re evaluation of the role of regional policy in the UK has been accompanied by a much closer identification of regional policy with national economic policymaking This book drawing upon the contributions of a large number of experts in the field in the UK sets the debate on the future of spatial policy explicitly within the context of the economics and politics of the North South divide Recent policy debates in the United Kingdom have highlighted two major issues which will shape future policy developments and their impact in the 1990s the persistence of pronounced regional economic and social imbalances and the shift away from traditional perceptions of the role of regional policy with a new emphasis on inner city as opposed to regional problems In this collection by leading researchers in the field the role of regional policy in the UK is re evaluated against a background of renewed debate on the economic disparities inherent in the north south divide and an assessment of the implications for future policy
