The Indian Forest Records ,1924 The Publishers' Circular and Booksellers' Record of British and Foreign Literature ,1904 Publishers' Circular and General Record of British and Foreign Literature, and Booksellers' Record ,1891 Ming Erotic Novellas Richard G Wang,2011-03-13 Richard Wang s Ming Erotic Novellas is path breaking in its attention to a virtually ignored body of literature that certainly influenced the writing of the Jin Ping Mei the Sanyan vernacular stories and most likely Li Yu s fiction Compared to other titles in the field this is the first scholarly monograph in any language to contextualize the erotic novellas of late imperial China Moreover existing studies in this area have tended to concentrate on a limited number of works of Chinese erotic fiction or have only brushed up against these works tangentially during more general discussion of Ming and Qing literature Ming Erotic Novellas adopts a provocative approach to fiction moving beyond the traditional textual analyses of gender politics and the qing cult and examining these erotic novellas as a new genre within the contexts of print culture readership consumption patterns as well as religious dimensions Ming Erotic Novellas focuses on a group of mid to late Ming literary wenyan novellas which are all stories of erotic romance These novellas include a profusion of poems mixed with prose narratives that are characterized by simple literary Chinese with a tendency toward the vernacular Their plots are complex with some running 20 000 characters or more allowing for nuanced character development rich dialogue and psychological description Circulated widely during the Ming the novellas had a significant impact on later erotic and scholarbeauty caizi jiaren novels This particular group of novellas was of great importance in the development of Chinese fiction functioning as a transitional link between the classical tale to the vernacular novel By approaching these works through the lens of a cultural study Wang is able to explore the social functions of the novellas as well as their significance in the development of Chinese fiction in the Ming cultural context The Erotic Life of Manuscripts Yii-Jan Lin,2016-01-04 Since the New Testament s inception as written text its manuscripts have been subject to all the dangers of history scribal error emendation injury and total destruction The traditional goal of modern textual criticism has been to reconstruct an original text from surviving manuscripts adjudicating among all the variant texts resulting from the slips additions and embellishments of scribal hand copying Because of the way manuscripts circulate and give rise to new copies it can be said that they have an erotic life they mate and breed bear offspring and generate families and descendants New Testament textual critics of the eighteenth century who began to use this language to group texts into families and genealogies were not pioneering new approaches but rather borrowing the metaphors and methods of natural scientists Texts began to be classified into families tribes and nations and later were racialized as African or Asian with distinguishable textual physiognomies and textual complexions The Erotic Life of Manuscripts explores this curious relationship between the field of New Testament textual criticism and the biological sciences beginning with the eighteenth century and extending into the present While these biological metaphors have been powerful tools for textual critics they also produce problematic understandings of textual purity and agency with the use of scientific discourse artificially separating the work of textual criticism from literary interpretation Yii Jan Lin shows how the use of biological classification genealogy evolutionary theory and phylogenetics has shaped and limited the goals of New Testament textual criticism the greatest of which is the establishment of an authoritative original text She concludes by proposing new metaphors for the field
