Body Failure Wendy Mitchinson, 2013-01-01 In this energetic new study Wendy Mitchinson traces medical perspectives on the treatment of women in Canada in the first half of the twentieth century. It is based on in depth research in a variety of archival sources including Canadian medical journals, textbooks used in many of Canada's medical faculties, popular health literature, patient case records and hospital annual reports as well as interviews with women who lived during the period. Each chapter examines events throughout a woman's life cycle: puberty, menstruation, sexuality, marriage and motherhood and the health problems connected to them: infertility, birth control and abortion, gynaecology, cancer, nervous disorders and menopause. Mitchinson provides a sensitive understanding of the physician-patient relationship, the unease of many doctors about the bodies of their female patients as well as overriding concerns about the relationship between female and male bodies. Throughout the book Mitchinson takes care to examine the roles and agency of both patients and practitioners as diverse individuals.

Monster/Beauty Joanna Frueh, 2001-02-19 This book is as seductive as the phenomenon that it explores. With courage, love and joy Frueh crosses into unexplored terrains of beauty and pleasure where she finds a grotesquely captivating creature. Monster Beauty. By illuminating her journey with thoughtful insight and engaging prose, she encourages readers to join her in her quest to articulate fresh ways of thinking about the aesthetic and the erotic and of theorizing the flux of lived experience. John Alan Farmer, senior editor of Art Journal. Monster Beauty is a daringly provocative experiment in personal and erotic writing and an important book for anyone interested in breaking normative codes of beauty, pedagogy and authorial methodology. In a richly self-revealing text Frueh proposes nothing less than a Rabellaisian re-ordering of aesthetic embodiments within social relations. Mira Schor, author of Wet On Painting: Feminism and Art Culture. Giving new meaning to embodied writing, this book goes farther than any other toward getting the body into the text. Joanna Frueh is a performance artist; first she is also an art historian, a singer, a poet, a bodybuilder, a professor, an academic celebrity of modest fame, but her performances collapse these distinctions. Frueh's intensely personal, intensely physical prose brings an aura of presence to the book that rivals the effect she achieves on stage. Robyn Warhol, co-editor of Feminisms. This book is monstrous, full of gorgeous hypermuscular women, step mothers and vampires full of ravishing muscular sex, classroom erotics, splendid aging. It is a performance in which Frueh explores and celebrates her body, its powers and beauties and those of her friends and lovers. Alphonso Lingis, author of Excesses, Abuses and Dangerous Emotions. A welcome voice in contemporary feminist theory, Frueh's Monster Beauty reminds us of the pleasures of thinking, teaching and creating in wholly embodied, sensual and passionate acts. Frueh poetically enacts the self as an aesthetic, erotic project, affirming the many different and beautiful selves we can become. It is a joy to read. Marsha Meskimmon, author of We Weren't Modern Enough: Women Artists and the Limits of German Modernism. Joanna Frueh is a hero. I sleep better knowing she's out there writing and thinking. Michael Cunningham, author of The Hours. Age Becomes Us Leni Marshall, 2015-06-30 Deconstructs fiction and nonfiction to further understandings of how aging and old age are created. In lively accessible prose, this book expands the reach and depth of age studies. A review of age studies methods in theory.

Agewise Margaret Morganroth Gullette, 2011-03-15 Let's face it almost everyone fears growing older We worry about losing our looks our health our jobs our self esteem and being supplanted in work and love by younger people It feels like the natural inevitable consequence of the passing years But what if it's not What if nearly everything that we think of as the natural process of aging is anything but In Agewise renowned cultural critic Margaret Morganroth Gullette reveals that much of what we dread about aging is actually the result of ageism which we can and should battle as strongly as we do racism sexism and other forms of bigotry Drawing on provocative and under reported evidence from biomedicine literature economics and personal stories Gullette probes the ageism that drives discontent with our bodies our selves and our accomplishments and makes us easy prey for marketers who want to sell us an illusory vision of youthful perfection Even worse rampant ageism causes society to discount and at times completely discard the wisdom and experience acquired by people over the course of adulthood The costs both collective and personal of this culture of decline are almost incalculable diminishing our workforce robbing younger people of hope for a decent later life and eroding the satisfactions and sense of productivity that should animate our later years Once we open our eyes to the pervasiveness of ageism however we can begin to fight it and Gullette lays out ambitious plans for the whole life course from teaching children anti ageism to fortifying the social safety nets and thus finally making possible the real pleasures and opportunities promised by the new longevity A bracing controversial call to arms Agewise will surprise enlighten and perhaps most important bring hope to readers of all ages

Feminist Reconstructions in Psychology Mary Gergen, 2000-10-03 Feminist Reconstructions in Psychology introduces a distinctive new mode of doing psychology This psychology is based on an increasingly popular range of ideas called social constructionism Within the book new forms of theory and methods of inquiry relating social constructionism to feminist topics are introduced Each chapter highlights different topics of special concern within gender studies especially the psychology of women The first chapter outlines the purposes of the book and positions social constructionism in relation to the more traditional feminist psychologies empiricist and feminist standpoint Given the trend toward social constructionism the author thinks the broad audience of people doing gender work will be interested in becoming familiar with this approach to the field The second and third chapters are focused on narrative methods as a means for studying gender differences in popular autobiographies The discussions center on differences in stories of achievement family love and embodiment Quotations from well known personalities such as Donald Trump and Martina Navratilova enrich the text The fourth fifth and sixth chapters involve issues of menopause with a focus group methodology a historical look at the male gaze as it is poised on the Naked Maja painting by Goya and how relationships function within imaginal conversations The two final chapters in the book are exemplars of a recent innovation in the field called performative psychology One monologue is about aging in contemporary society and the other is a feminist critique of aspects of postmodernism itself The book draws from the central tenets of postmodern inquiry as played out in the positive framework of social constructionism Emphasized are reflexivity the social basis of reality making the breakdown of traditional narrative forms the loss of objectivity as a scientific standard and the possibilities for new forms of doing research In this respect the book is unique and serves to provide a point of view on an intriguing movement that is gaining momentum across the social sciences and humanities It is hoped that this book might serve as a catalyst for further innovative work in psychology This text encourages such moves by its own irreverence for traditions and its overt efforts to break down resistances to creativity in the field
