culture In focusing on the construction of identity in painting and photography of Blacks women and the animals themselves involved in horseracing rodeo and horse show competition it illuminates the strategic and varying roles visual artists have played in producing cultural understandings of human animal relationships As the first book to offer a history of American equine and equestrian imagery it shrinks the chasm of literature on the subject and illustrates the significance of the genre to the history of American art This book further connects American equine and equestrian art to historical theoretical and philosophical analyses of animals and attests to how the horse endures as a vital meaningful subject within the art world as well as culture at large This book will be of interest to scholars in art history American art gender studies race and ethnic studies and animal studies

Literature and Photography in Transition, 1850-1915 O. Clayton, 2014-11-21 Literature and Photography in Transition 1850 1915 examines how British and American writers used early photography and film as illustrations and metaphors It concentrates on five figures in particular Henry Mayhew Robert Louis Stevenson Amy Levy William Dean Howells and Jack London

The Very Best Bad Idea Kirk Westwood, 2020-04-09 Do you like to be wrong Shouldn't you Why do you think wrong is bad In The Very Best Bad Idea Kirk Westwood steamrolls the long held premise that right is good and wrong is bad He paves the way to give anyone who sees situations differently the permission to be proud of their brilliantly unbridled bad ideas In this book you'll learn about The History of Thinking and how we might be wired incorrectly for the society we live in today An in depth analysis of popular clichés like don't reinvent the wheel and build a better mousetrap and why we might need to make friends with the mouse Why people should start embracing their unique views of the world as they are the true genesis of innovation and creativity And so much more This book speaks to the entrepreneurs the creatives the innovators and the outcasts as they seek out the secret to conquering innovation It's an unconventional look at a conventional problem If you're ready to release the creative and embrace your individual perspective get ready for the The Very Best Bad Idea

Punishment, Compensation, and Law Mark R. Reiff, 2005-07-11 This book is the first comprehensive study of the meaning and measure of enforceability While we have long debated what restraints should govern the conduct of our social life we have paid relatively little attention to the question of what it means to make a restraint enforceable Focusing on the enforceability of legal rights but also addressing the enforceability of moral rights and social conventions Mark Reiff explains how we use punishment and compensation to make restraints operative in the world After describing the various means by which restraints may be enforced Reiff explains how the sufficiency of enforcement can be measured and he presents a unified theory of deterrence retribution and compensation that shows how these aspects of enforceability are interconnected Reiff then applies his theory of enforceability to illuminate a variety of real world problem situations
