Prose Volume II 1939 1948:

The Politics of 1930s British Literature Natasha Periyar, 2018-06-14 Winner of the 2018 International Standing Conference for the History of Education's First Book Award Drawing on a rich array of archival sources and historical detail The Politics of 1930s British Literature tells the story of a school minded decade and illuminates new readings of the politics and aesthetics of 1930s literature In a period of shifting political claims educational policy shaped writers social and gender ideals This book explores how a wide array of writers including Virginia Woolf W H Auden George Orwell Winifred Holby and Graham Greene were informed by their pedagogic work It considers the ways in which education influenced writers analysis of literary style and their conception of future literary forms The Politics of 1930s British Literature argues that to those perennial symbols of the 1930s the loudspeaker and the gramophone should be added the textbook and the blackboard

Violent Minds Matthew Levay, 2019-01-03 Just as cultural attitudes toward criminality were undergoing profound shifts in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries modernist authors became fascinated by crime and its perpetrators as well as the burgeoning genre of crime fiction Throughout the period a diverse range of British and American novelists took the criminal as a case study for experimenting with forms of psychological representation while also drawing on the conventions of crime fiction in order to imagine new ways of conceptualizing the criminal mind Matthew Levay traces the history of that attention to criminal psychology in modernist fiction placing understudied authors like Wyndham Lewis Dorothy Sayers Graham Greene and Patricia Highsmith in dialogue with more canonical contemporaries like Joseph Conrad Henry James Dashiell Hammett and Gertrude Stein Levay demonstrates criminality's pivotal role in establishing quintessentially modernist forms of psychological representation and brings to light modernism's deep but understudied connections to popular literature especially crime fiction

W.H. February House Sherill Tippins, 2016-07-26 An irresistible account of a little known literary salon and creative commune in 1940s Brooklyn The Washington Post Book World A San Francisco Chronicle Best Book of the Year February House is the true story of an extraordinary experiment in communal living one involving young but already iconic writers and America's best known burlesque performer in a house at 7 Middagh Street in Brooklyn. It was a fevered yearlong party fueled by the appetites of youth and a shared sense of urgency to take action as artists in the months before the country entered World War II. In spite of the sheer intensity of life at 7 Middagh the house was for its residents a creative crucible. Carson McCullers's two masterpieces The Member of the Wedding and The Ballad of the Sad Cafe were born bibulously in Brooklyn. Gypsy Rose Lee, workmanlike by day party girl by night, wrote her book The G String Murders in her Middagh Street bedroom. W. H. Auden, who along with Benjamin Britten was being excoriated back in England for absenting himself from the war, presided over the house like a peevish auntie collecting rent money and dispensing romantic advice. And yet all the while he was composing some of the most important work of his career. Enlivened by primary sources and an unforgettable story, this tale of daily life at the most fertile and improbable live-in salon of the twentieth century comes from the acclaimed author of Inside the Dream Palace: The Life and Times of New York's Legendary Chelsea Hotel. Brimming with information, the personalities she depicts are indelibly drawn. Los Angeles Times Book Review: Magnificent. Not to mention funny and raunchy. The Seattle Times.

Travels and Translations Alison Yarrington, Stefano Villani, Julia Kelly, 2013-11-01. This volume explores the fascinating interactions and exchanges between British and Italian cultures from the early modern period to the present. It looks at how these exchanges were mediated through personal encounters, travel writings, and translations involving a variety of protagonists: explorers, writers, poets, preachers, diplomats, and tourists. In particular, this book examines the understanding of Italy as a destination and set of locations, each with their own distinctive geographical character during a period which saw the creation of the modern Italian state. It also charts the shifts in travelling activity during this period from early explorers and cartographers via those taking part in the Grand Tour in the 18th and 19th centuries to more modern poet-travellers and blogging tourists. Drawing upon literary studies, history, art history, cultural studies, translation studies, sociology, and socio-linguistics, this volume takes a cross-disciplinary approach to its rich constellation of cultural transactions.

The Year of Our Lord 1943 Alan Jacobs, 2018-07-02. By early 1943 it had become increasingly clear that the Allies would win the Second World War. Around the same time it also became increasingly clear to many Christian intellectuals on both sides of the Atlantic that the soon-to-be victorious nations were not culturally or morally prepared for their success. A war won by technological superiority merely laid the groundwork for a post-war society governed by technocrats. These Christian intellectuals, Jacques Maritain, T. S. Eliot, C. S. Lewis, W. H. Auden, and Simone Weil among others, sought both to articulate a sober and reflective critique of their own culture and to outline a plan for the moral and spiritual regeneration of their countries in the post-war world. In this book, Alan Jacobs explores the poems, novels, essays, reviews, and lectures of these five central figures in which they presented with great imaginative energy and force pictures of the very different paths now set before the Western democracies. Working mostly separately and in ignorance of one another's ideas, the five developed a strikingly consistent argument that the only means by which democratic societies could be prepared for their world wide economic and political dominance was through a renewal of education that was grounded in a Christian understanding of the power and limitations of human beings The Year of Our Lord 1943 is the first book to weave together the ideas of these five intellectuals and shows why in a time of unprecedented total war they all thought it vital to restore Christianity to a leading role in the renewal of the Western democracies

Shakespeare and the Modern Poet Neil Corcoran, 2010-04-01 Shakespeare is a major influence on poets writing in English but the dynamics of that influence in the twentieth century have never been as closely analysed as they are in this important study More than an account of the ways in which Shakespeare is figured in both the poetry and the critical prose of modern poets this book presents a provocative new view of poetic interrelationship Focusing on W B Yeats T S Eliot W H Auden Ted Hughes and Sylvia Plath Neil Corcoran uncovers the relationships combative as well as sympathetic between these poets themselves as they are intertwined in their engagements with Shakespeare Corcoran offers many enlightening close readings fully alert to contemporary theoretical debates This original study of influence and reception beautifully displays the nature of poetic influence both of Shakespeare on the twentieth century and among modern poets as they respond to Shakespeare
