Prostitution And Feminism Towards A Politics Of Feeling:

Prostitution and Feminism Maggie O'Neill, 2013-06-25 Feminists have long differed in their view of prostitution While some regard it as a classic form of exploitation and degradation others offer a more sympathetic interpretation of women's involvement in the sex industry In this important new book Maggie O'Neill seeks to explore the theoretical debates on prostitution and the relevance of these to the everyday lived experiences of women working on the streets Based upon her own ethnographic research defined as ethno mimesis the author seeks to undermine and demystify stereotypical images of prostitutes She explores the narratives offered by prostitutes themselves as well as other forms of their representation in film art and photography and shows how these various mediums may be used to shed light on the socio economic processes and structures which lead women into prostitution These personal accounts produce what O'Neill refers to as a politics of feeling which she argues may be used to transform attitudes policy and practice in relation to female prostitution By relating these individual experiences to critical feminist theory the book deepens our understanding of the phenomenon of prostitution in contemporary society The book will be of particular interest to students and scholars in gender studies feminist theory and sociology

Feminism, Prostitution and the State Eilis Ward, Gillian Wylie, 2017-02-17 This edited volume focuses on charting the rise of neo abolitionism and offering a critique of the idea its logics and consequences A model of state policy which aims to abolish prostitution through legislation Neo abolitionism criminalises the buyer of sex but not the seller It is currently law in Sweden and other Nordic states and dominates the framing of policy debates in many other Western liberal contexts Pressure for adoption of this policy has come from radical feminists who understand prostitution and sex trafficking as a form of violence against women This volume argues that this convergence between radical feminism and state's interests arises from the emergence of on the one hand governance feminism which seeks to have its ideals implemented through top down sovereigntist means and on the other hand state's interests in legitimising stricter border controls and law enforcement responses in relation to transnational organised criminality illegal migration and security Based around a series of country case studies each chapter will explore the politics surrounding the emergence of neo abolitionism and its trajectory through those politics whether the paradigm has been adopted rejected or is still under debate The volume will be of great interest to students and scholars of Social and Public Policy Gender and Women's Studies Politics and International Relations and Critical Legal Studies Criminology

Demanding Sex: Critical Reflections on the Regulation of Prostitution Marina Della Giusta, 2016-05-13 Interrogating supply demand from an inter and multi disciplinary perspective this collection broadens engagement beyond the routine analysis of the locus of violence in prostitution and the validity of the prostitute's consent A focus on the supply demand dynamic brings into play a range of other societal economic and psychological factors such as the social construction of sexuality the viability of alternative choices for prostitutes and clients and the impact of regulatory regimes on the provision of sexual services The factors which underlie each component of the supply demand dyad are also

studied and an examination is made of their dynamic interrelation The collection emphasizes the importance of rendering policy makers alert to the evidence emerging from empirical studies conducted in different fields of enquiry in the hope of moving beyond polarity and politics at the local national and international level Sex Work Matters Melissa Hope Ditmore, Antonia Levy, Alys Willman, 2013-04-04 Sex Work Matters brings together sex workers scholars and activists to present pioneering essays on the economics and sociology of sex work From insights by sex workers on how they handle money intimate relationships and daily harassment by the police to the experience of male and transgender sex work this fascinating and original book offers new theoretical frameworks for understanding the sex industry The result is a vital new contribution to sex worker rights that explores the topic in new ways especially its cultural economic and political dimensions Readers weary of the sensational and often salacious treatment of the sex industry in the media and literature will find Sex Work Matters refreshing Emotions and Crime Michael Hviid Jacobsen, Sandra Walklate, 2019-06-11 In spite of the fact that crime is an emotive topic the question of emotion has been largely overlooked in criminological research which has tended instead to examine criminal conduct in terms of structural background variables or rational decision making Building on research into emotions within sociology this book seeks to show how criminologists can in fact take emotions seriously and why criminology needs to begin considering emotions as a central element of its theoretical conceptual and methodological apparatus Thematically organised and presenting both empirical and theoretical studies Emotions and Crime pays attention to the different emotional dimensions of crime victimhood the criminal justice system the practice of criminological research and the discipline of criminology Bringing together the work of an international team of authors and discussing research into violence punishment gender imprisonment and mass atrocity this volume shows how crime and emotions are inextricably connected and illustrates both the hidden and pervasive role of emotions in criminological work Student Sex Work Debbie Jones, Teela Sanders, 2022-09-27 This book provides a contemporary collection of key works that chart new and ongoing terrain on student sex work It brings together experienced researchers activists practitioners early career researchers and those with lived experience of doing sex work in the university setting from across the globe The book addresses three core areas Activism Ideology and Exclusion Motivations and Experiences and University Policy Practice and Service Delivery This collection represents significant theoretical methodological and policy and practice contributions within sex work studies These new perspectives contribute to our existing knowledge introduce new directions for scholarship and prompt new and exciting questions about how higher education students participation in sex work can be researched understood and responded to in an ethical non stigmatising approach The book will be of interest to students researchers and service providers and given the interdisciplinary nature of the chapters the book has a cross disciplinary appeal Listening to Olivia Jody Raphael, 2004-04-22 The harrowing story of a woman s descent into prostitution and addiction the remarkable tale of her recovery and an expos of the global trafficking industry Migration, Agency and

Citizenship in Sex Trafficking R. Andrijasevic, 2010-11-03 Providing a new perspective on migration and sex work in Europe this book is based on interviews with migrant women in the sex sector It brings together issues of migration labour and political subjectivity in order to refocus scholarly and policy agenda away from sex slavery and organized crime towards agency and citizenship

Magdalene House Sarah VanHooser Suiter, 2012 Women come to Magdalene House in Nashville when they are ready to leave the streets They live together unsupervised and free of charge for two years During that time the women are given time space and the resources they need to heal from what have often been lifelong experiences with suffering Of the twenty two women now in residence 80 percent have a diagnosed mental illness other than addiction 40 percent are receiving treatment for hepatitis C and one third are HIV positive However the story of the Magdalene community is not about these statistics but about the stories the women tell They say they thrive in the community because it is a place where they are free to be themselves safe to give and receive love and free to speak their truth even to complain sometimes about how their storytelling is exploited for the good of the community A Place about Mercy is a participant observation account of the history of this remarkable community founded in 1997 its structure its Thistle Farms beauty products operation and Reverend Becca Stevens s communal and spiritual vision The book is finally about what it means to walk the path of healing with a group of unlikely women as guide Magdalene House was the subject of a multiple part documentary on National Public Radio

Sex Work and Human Dignity Stewart Cunningham, 2020-11-02 The notion of human dignity is frequently yet enigmatically invoked in legal and political debates on sex work where many people use it without much elaboration on exactly what they mean by it Sex Work and Human Dignity Law Politics and Discourse sheds light on this enigma by exploring how dignity based discourses are used by those who write and talk about prostitution and also what role these discourses may play in shaping wider cultural understandings of sex work and sex workers The book draws on political discourse theory and is international in its scope with analysis of legal cases textual sources and empirical data gathered through interviews with activists from several different countries in the Global North and South The book traces how the concept of dignity is used in a range of legal and political discourses on sex work and ultimately asks to what extent dignity based discourses help to advance or hinder sex workers social inclusion This book will appeal to students and researchers interested in sex work and feminism as well as those who study human dignity Its interdisciplinary nature means it will appeal to those working in a range of disciplines including law sociology philosophy and political theory
