Protection Of Intellectual Biological:

Protection of Intellectual, Biological and Cultural Property in Papua New Guinea Kathy Whimp, Mark Busse, 2013-03-01 Intellectual biological and cultural property rights are a powerful and debatable topic They offer the possibility for protection of rights to intangible resources including the products of knowledge and creativity The forces of globalisation have made this subject of immediate international concern Struggles for ownership of intellectual property occur between and within local and global arenas This book examines important questions which Papua New Guinea must ask in the development of intellectual property legislation The chapters are written by specialists in the fields of medicine law the environment music genetics and traditional cultural knowledge The wise and creative protection of intellectual biological and cultural property is important if Papua New Guinea is to successfully define and realise its future International Law and the Conservation of Biological Diversity Michael Bowman, Catherine Redgwell, 1996-01-10 This work presents a thorough analysis of the biodiversity concept in international law and commentary on the 1992 United Nations Convention on Biological Diversity which was opened for signature following the 1992 UN Conference on Environment and Development This Convention is the first international treaty explicitly to address all aspects of biodiversity ranging from the conservation and sustainable use of biological resources to access to biotechnology and the safety of activities related to modified living organisms The work extends beyond the ambit of the Convention itself to examine the conservation of biodiversity in international law generally including measures for the protection of the terrestrial marine and Antarctic environment and particular features relating to sustainable use of biological resources ex situ conservation and plant genetic resources It further analyses the controversial issue of intellectual property rights the problems of implementation in the European Union and the United States differences between developing and developed states and the role of indigenous peoples This major new work has been written by members of the Committee on Environmental Law of the British Branch of the International Law Association following an earlier study on the subject of International Law and Global Climate Change Graham Trotman 1991 It is the first major study of the Convention of the context in which it was negotiated and of the prospects for its implementation following the entry into force of the Convention on 29 December 1993 Intellectual Property and Human Rights World Intellectual Property Organization, 1999 The papers published in this volume were presented at a panel discussion titled Intellectual Property and Human Rights organized by the World Intellectual Property Organization WIPO in collaboration with the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights OHCHR on November 9 1998 The Convention on Biological Diversity (Treaty Doc. 103-20) United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Foreign Relations, 1994 Intellectual Property and Information Wealth Peter K. Yu, 2006-12-30 Until recently issues of intellectual property were relegated to the experts attorneys legal scholars rightsholders and technology developers who wrangled over interpretations and enforcement of copyright patent and trademark protections But in today s knowledge based economy intellectual property protection has taken on fundamentally new proportions as a subject of urgency for businesses whose survival depends on protection of their intangible assets and as a subject of cultural importance that grabs front page headlines as the controversy over Napster and high profile revelations of plagiarism for example have illustrated This landmark set of essays brings new clarity to the issues as societies around the world grapple with the intricacies and complexities of intellectual property and its impact on business law policy and culture Featuring insights from leading scholars and practitioners Intellectual Property and Information Wealth provides rigorous analysis historical context and emerging practical applications from the public private and non profit sectors Volume 1 focuses on protections to novels films sound recordings computer programs and other creative products and covers such issues as authorship duration of copyright fair use of copyrighted materials and the implications of the Internet and peer to peer file sharing Volume 2 explains the fundamental protections to inventors of devices mechanical processes chemical compounds and other inventions and examines such issues as the scope and limits of patent protection research exemptions and infringement IP in the software and biotech industries and trade secrets Volume 3 looks at the protections to distinctive symbols and signs including brand names and unique product designs and features chapters on consumer protection trademark and the first amendment brand licensing publicity and cultural images and domain names Volume 4 takes the discussion to the global level addressing a wide range of issues including not only enforcement of IP protections across borders but also their implications for international trade and investment economic development human rights and public health

Traditional Knowledge, Traditional Cultural Expressions, and Intellectual Property Law in the Asia-Pacific Region Christoph Antons, 2009-01-01 Among the many contentious matters thrown up by the relentless march of economic globalization those forms of knowledge variously known as indigenous or traditional remain seriously threatened despite numerous transnational initiatives and highly publicized debate It is not proving easy to bring these holistic worldviews into accordance with the technical terms and classifications of intellectual property law The contributions in this volume contrast efforts to find solutions and workable models at the international and regional level with experiences on the ground Legal policies related to indigenous knowledge in settler societies such as Australia and New Zealand are compared with those in densely populated neighbouring countries in Asia where traditional knowledge is often regarded as national heritage While many of the chapters are written by lawyers using an interdisciplinary approach other chapters introduce the reader to perspectives from disciplines such as legal sociology and anthropology on controversial issues such as the understandings of art culture tradition customary law and the opportunities for traditional cultural knowledge and traditional cultural expressions in an Internet environment Experienced observers of the international debate and regional experts discuss international model laws as well as legislation at regional and national level and the role of customary law Topics covered include the following and much more the concept of farmers rights biodiscovery and bioprospecting traditional knowledge as a commodity encounters between different legalities geographical indications registration requirements sanctions remedies and dispute resolution mechanisms the ongoing fragmentation and loss of traditional knowledge and systems of data collection

Intellectual Property and Traditional Knowledge in the Global Economy Teshager W. Dagne, 2014-09-04 Arising from recent developments at the international level many developing countries indigenous peoples and local communities are considering using geographical indications GIs to protect traditional knowledge and to promote trade and overall economic development Despite the considerable enthusiasm over GIs in diverse quarters there is an appreciable lack of research on how far and in what context GIs can be used as a protection model for traditional knowledge based resources This book critically examines the potential uses of geographical indications as models for protecting traditional knowledge based products and resources in national and international intellectual property legal frameworks By analysing the reception towards GIs from developing countries and advocates of development in the various legal and non legal regimes including the World Trade Organization World Intellectual Property Organization and the Convention on Biological Diversity and the Food and Agricultural Organization the book evaluates the development potential of GIs in relation to ensuing changes in international intellectual property law in accommodating traditional knowledge Teshager W Dagne argues for a degree of balance in the approach to the implementation of global intellectual property rights in a manner that gives developing countries an opportunity to protect traditional knowledge based products The book will be of great interest and use to scholars and students of intellectual property law public international law traditional knowledge and global governance

Intellectual Property Law Dictionary Rachel Gader-Shafran, 2004 This book contains 6 sections explaining the meaning and legal background of terms used in copyright trademark patent nanotechnology and trade secrets both in the U S and internationally
