Protein Functionality in Foods John P. Cherry, 1981 Abstract Symposium proceedings American Chemical Society Division of Agricultural and Food Chemistry 1980 on physico chemistry of protein functionality are presented The functional properties that are contributed by protein are discussed in separate papers these properties include color flavor texture solubility and viscosity adhesion and cohesion gelation and coagulation whippability and aeration water and fat absorption emulsifiers milk proteins and emulsification vegetable proteins Nutrient bioavailability enzyme modification of proteins and multiple regression modeling of functionality also are discussed rkm Protein Structure-Function Relationships in Foods Rickey Y. Yada, R.L. Jackman, 2012-12-06 Food proteins constitute a diverse and complex collection of biological macro molecules Although contributing to the nutritional quality of the foods we consume proteins also act as integral components by virtue of their diverse functional properties The expression of these functional properties during the preparation processing and storage of foods is largely dictated by changes to the structure or structure related properties of the proteins involved Therefore germane to the optimal use of existing and future food protein sources is a thorough understanding of the nature of the relationships between structure and function It is the goal of this book to aid in better defining these relationships Two distinct sections are apparent firstly those chapters which address structure function relationships using a variety of food systems as examples to demonstrate the intricacies of this relationship and secondly those chapters which discuss techniques used to either examine structural parameters or aid in establishing quantitative relationships between protein structure and function The editors would like to thank all contributors for their assistance co operation and above all their patience in putting this volume together and the following companies organizations for their financial support without which it would not have been the success it was Ault Foods Limited Best Foods Canada Limited Natural Sciences and Engineering Research Council of Canada Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food Quest International Canada Inc and University of Guelph R Y Y R LJ Applied Food Protein Chemistry Zeynep Ustunol, 2014-12-31 Food proteins are of great interest not only because of their nutritional importance and their functionality in foods but also for their detrimental effects Although proteins from milk meats including fish and poultry eggs cereals legumes and oilseeds have been the traditional sources of protein in the human diet potentially any proteins from a biological source could serve as a food protein The primary role of protein in the diet is to provide the building materials for the synthesis of muscle and other tissues and they play a critical role in many biological processes They are also responsible for food texture color and flavor Today food proteins are extracted modified and incorporated into processed foods to impart specific functional properties They can also have adverse effects in the diet proteins such as walnuts pecans almonds and cashews soybean wheat milk egg crustacean and fish proteins can be powerful allergens for some people Applied Food Protein Chemistry is an applied reference which reviews the properties of food proteins and provides in depth information on important plant and animal proteins consumed around the world The book is grouped into three sections 1 overview of food proteins 2 plant proteins and 3 animal proteins Each chapter discusses world production distribution utilization physicochemical properties and the functional properties of each protein as well as its food applications The authors for each of the chapters are carefully selected experts in the field This book will be a valuable reference tool for those who work on food proteins It will also be an important text on applied food protein chemistry for upper level students and graduate students of food science programs
