Protest Businesses Mobilising Campaign:

The Protest Business? Grant Jordan, William A. Maloney, 1997-06-15 This study's main concern is to examine why people chose to join campaigning groups such as Friends of the Earth or Amnesty in preference to political parties Particular emphasis is given to environmental campaign groups

Insiders versus Outsiders Andreas Dür, Gemma Mateo, 2016-07-07 What explains differences in the lobbying behaviour of interest groups And what consequences do these differences have for the access that interest groups can gain to decision makers and the influence that they can exert on policy outcomes Building on an unprecedented amount of empirical evidence on lobbying in Europe this book puts forward a distinction between lobbying insiders and lobbying outsiders Lobbying insiders most prominently business interests try to establish direct contacts with decision makers enjoy good access to executive institutions and manage to shape policy outcomes when mobilizing the public on an issue is difficult Lobbying outsiders in particular citizen groups such as consumer environmental or health non governmental organizations put greater emphasis on mobilizing the public or changing public attitudes find it easier to gain access to legislative decision makers and have the greatest impact on outcomes on issues that are amenable to an outside lobbying campaign The book shows that a single argument building on group type as the main variable can explain variation across interest groups in their choice of strategy their access to decision makers and the conditions under which they can exert influence The existence of lobbying insiders and lobbying outsiders has important implications for both our understanding of political decision making and the normative appraisal of contemporary democracy

Understanding Political Participation Lynn Bennie, 2017-05-15 Developing a framework of analysis which enables a detailed empirical investigation of Scottish Green Party membership this is a detailed assessment of why people become members of a green party The questions are particularly relevant in the light of declining political participation Lynn Bennie responds to the gap in the literature on green and small parties and builds on the work of other researchers who have used similar methods to explore membership of the larger parties The volume incorporates an extensive review of participation literature details the history of the Scottish Green Party documents extensive survey data of party members and develops an understanding of motivations behind membership of a green party It will prove ideal for courses on political behaviour and green politics and be of interest to sociologists and political science researchers

Consensus Decision Making, Northern Ireland and Indigenous Movements Patrick G. Coy, 2003 Presents a study of social movement decision making through seven case studies This book focuses on Northern Ireland where frustration with inter community conflict resolution spawned a movement promoting intra community or single tradition programs

The Nonprofit Sector Walter W Powell, Patricia Bromley, 2023-05-25 Timely unique and definitive not only chronicles the history of the nonprofit sector but also provides a broad but critical analysis of its current state Vartan Gregorian President Carnegie Corporation of New York The nonprofit sector has changed in fundamental ways in recent decades As the sector has grown in scope and size both domestically and internationally the boundaries between for profit governmental and charitable organizations have become intertwined Nonprofits are increasingly challenged on their roles in mitigating or exacerbating inequality And debates flare over the role of voluntary organizations in democratic and autocratic societies alike The Nonprofit Sector takes up these concerns and offers a cutting edge empirical and theoretical assessment of the state of the field This book now in its third edition brings together leading researchers economists historians philosophers political scientists and sociologists along with scholars from communication education law management and policy schools to investigate the impact of associational life Chapters consider the history of the nonprofit sector and of philanthropy the politics of the public sphere governance mission and engagement access and inclusion and global perspectives on nonprofit organizations Across this comprehensive range of topics The Nonprofit Sector makes an essential contribution to the study of civil society Praise for previous editions Takes a decidedly multidisciplinary approach invaluable Journal of Policy Analysis and Management A major contribution to the field Social Forces

Radical Space Debra Benita Shaw, Maggie Humm, 2016-03-24 The spatial turn in the Humanities and Social Sciences has produced a considerable body of work which re assesses space beyond the fixed Cartesian co ordinates of Modernity and the nation state In the process space has been revealed as a productively contested concept with methodological implications across and between disciplines The resulting understandings of space as fluid changeable and responsive to the situation of bodies both human and non human has prepared the ground for radical concepts and uses of space with implications for how we conceive of contemporary lived reality Rather than conceiving of bodies as constantly rendered docile within the spaces of the post industrial nation state Radical Space reveals how activists and artists have deployed these theoretical tools to examine and contest spatial practice Bringing together contributions from academics across the humanities and social sciences together with creative artists this dynamically multidisciplinary collection demonstrates this radicalization of space through explorations of environmental camps new explorations of psychogeography creative interventions in city space and mapping the extra terrestrial onto the mundane spaces of everyday existence

The End Of Globalization Alan Rugman, 2012-09-30 Professor Alan Rugman is one of the world s leading academics in the field of international business and strategy In The End of Globalization he argues that we are currently witnessing the end of globalization and draws on new research and analysis to argue that globalization never really happened anyway Like Bartlett and Ghoshal s Managing Across Borders this book is aimed at the market of practitioners and policy makers not academics and theoreticians showing them what the current state of the global economy means for them Global business is dominated by the 500 largest multinational enterprises MNEs out of a total of 30 000 MNEs altogether The 500 MNEs that are the engines of international business think regional and act local Using analysis drawn from world leading companies Professor Rugman looks in detail at the managerial implications of the end of globalization including in depth discussion of corporate strategies organizational structures and analytical methods

Generations, Political Participation and Social Change

in Western Europe Maria Grasso, 2016-03-31 This new comparative analysis shows that there are reasons to be concerned about the future of democratic politics. Younger generations have become disengaged from the political process. The evidence presented in this comprehensive study shows that they are not just less likely than older generations to engage in institutional political activism such as voting and party membership; they are also less likely to engage in extra-institutional protest activism. Generations: Political Participation and Social Change in Western Europe offers a rigorously researched empirical analysis of political participation trends across generations in Western Europe. It examines the way in which the political behaviour of younger generations leads to social change. Are younger generations completely disengaged from politics, or do they simply choose to participate in a different way to previous generations? The book is of key interest to scholars, students, and practitioners of political sociology, political participation, and behaviour. European Politics: Comparative Politics and Sociology

Politics at the Edge Chris Pierson, S. Tormey, 2016-02-16 Politics at the Edge was the theme of the 1999 PSA Annual Conference. This volume brings together nearly twenty of the liveliest, most thoughtful, and original papers from some two hundred presented at the conference. The major traditional strengths of British political science are well represented with papers on parties, political theory, and the history of political thought, but so too are less familiar areas such as the politics of Latin America and the politics of poststructuralism. Distinguished contributors include Agnes Heller, David Held, Mahdi Elmandjra, Andrew Dobson, Andrew Vincent, and Richard Sakwa. Protest Campaigns, Media and Political Opportunities

Jonathan Cable, 2016-09-21 The attention paid to protest groups and social movements has rarely been higher, be it the Occupy movement, austerity protests, or student demonstrations. These formations are under continual scrutiny by academics, the press, and politicians who are all attempting to interpret and understand protest groups, their tactics, demands, and their wider influence on society. Protest Campaigns, Media and Political Opportunities takes an in-depth look at three different protest groups, including a community campaign, environmental direct action activists, and a mass demonstration. It offers a broad perspective of each group through a comprehensive combination of insider stories from activists, the authors' own involvement with one group, newspaper coverage, each group's social media websites and leaflets, and government documents. This wealth of material is pieced together to provide compelling narratives for each group's campaign, from the inception of their protest messages and actions through media coverage and into political discourse. This book provides a vibrant contribution to debates around the communication and protest tactics employed by protest groups and the significance news media has on advancing their campaigns.
