Readers and Reading Culture in the High Roman Empire William A. Johnson,2010-06-03 In Readers and Reading Culture in the High Roman Empire William Johnson examines the system and culture of reading among the elite in second century Rome The investigation proceeds in case study fashion using the principal surviving witnesses beginning with the communities of Pliny and Tacitus with a look at Pliny s teacher Quintilian from the time of the emperor Trajan Johnson then moves on to explore elite reading during the era of the Antonines including the medical community around Galen the philological community around Gellius and Fronto with a look at the curious reading habits of Fronto s pupil Marcus Aurelius and the intellectual communities lampooned by the satirist Lucian Along the way evidence from the papyri is deployed to help to understand better and more concretely both the mechanics of reading and the social interactions that surrounded the ancient book The result is a rich cultural history of individual reading communities that differentiate themselves in interesting ways even while in aggregate showing a coherent reading culture with fascinating similarities and contrasts to the reading culture of today
