Scalable Enterprise Systems Vittal Prabhu, Soundar Kumara, Manjunath Kamath, 2012-12-06 The National Science Foundation NSF is the leading sponsor of basic academic research in engineering and its influence far exceeds its budget We think NSF is at its best when it uses that influence to focus interest within the researcher community on critical new challenges and technologies NSF s Scalable Enterprise Systems SES initiative for which we were responsible in our successive terms in the division of Design Manufacture and Industrial Innovation DMII was just such a venture A collaborative effort spanning NSF s engineering and computer science directorates SES sought to concentrate the energies of the academic engineering research community on developing a science base for designing planning and controlling the extended spatially and managerially distributed enterprises that have become the norm in the manufacture distribution and sale of the products of U S industry The of associated issues addressed included everything from management supply chains to product design across teams of collaborating companies to e marketing and make to order manufacturing to the information technology challenges of devising inter operable planning and control tools that can scale with exploding enterprise size and scope A total of 27 teams with nearly 100 investigators were selected from the 89 submitted proposals in the Phase I exploratory part of the effort see the list below Seven of these were awarded larger multi year grants to continue their research in Phase II As the contents of this book amply illustrate these investigations continue to flourish with and without direct NSF support

E-Commerce and Web Technologies Kurt Bauknecht, Martin Bichler, Birgit Pröll, 2004-12-07 We welcome you to the proceedings of the 5th International Conference on E Commerce and Web Technology EC Web 2004 held in conjunction with DEXA 2004 in Zaragoza Spain This conference first held in Greenwich United Kingdom in 2000 now is in its fifth year and very well established As in the four previous years it served as a forum to bring together researchers from academia and commercial developers from industry to discuss the current state of the art in e commerce and Web technology Inspirations and new ideas emerged from intensive discussions during formal sessions and social events Keynote addresses research presentations and discussions during the conference helped to further develop the exchange of ideas among the researchers developers and practitioners present The conference attracted 103 paper submissions and almost every paper was reviewed by three program committee members The program committee selected 37 papers for presentation and publication a task which was not easy due to the high quality of the submitted papers We would like to express our thanks to our colleagues who helped with putting together the technical program the program committee members and external reviewers for their timely and rigorous reviews of the papers and the organizing committee for their help in the administrative work and support We owe special thanks to Gabriela Wagner Mirella Kister and Birgit Hauer for their helping hands concerning the administrative and organizational tasks of this conference Finally we would like to thank all the authors who submitted papers authors who presented papers and the participants who together made this conference an intellectually stimulating event through their active contributions

Groupware: Design, Implementation, and Use Jesus Favela, Dominique Decouchant, 2003-10-02 This volume constitutes the proceedings of the 9th International Workshop on Groupware CRIWG 2003 The conference was held in the city of Autrans on the spectacular Vercors plateau in the foothills of the French Alps The organizing committee could not have thought of a better setting to inspire lively discussions and reflection on open issues facing the field of groupware The CRIWG workshops have been motivated by advances in Computer Supported Cooperative Work and by the need for CSCW to meet the challenges of new application areas With this ninth meeting CRIWG aimed to provide a forum for academic researchers and professionals to exchange their experiences and ideas about problems and solutions related to the design development and use of groupware applications The selection of papers followed a strict refereeing process by a renowned international committee We received 84 contributions with first authors from 21 different countries from which 30 papers were selected to be presented and published in this proceedings volume The papers in these proceedings include 18 long papers presenting mature work and 12 short papers describing promising work in progress in the field We thank all members of the Program Committee for their valuable reviews of the papers In addition we were pleased to have as invited speaker Prof Saul Greenberg from the University of Calgary in Canada a renowned specialist in Groupware and HCI An extended abstract of his lecture is included in these proceedings

 Brambilla,Sara Comai,Maristella Matera,2003-01-04 The most prominent Web applications in use today are data intensive Scores of database management systems across the Internet access and maintain large amounts of structured data for e commerce on line trading banking digital libraries and other high volume sites Developing and maintaining these data intensive applications is an especially complex multi disciplinary activity requiring all the tools and techniques that software engineering can provide This book represents a breakthrough for Web application developers Using hundreds of illustrations and an elegant intuitive modeling language the authors all internationally known database researchers present a methodology that fully exploits the conceptual modeling approach of software engineering from idea to application Readers will learn not only how to harness the design technologies of relational databases for use on the Web but also how to transform their conceptual designs of data intensive Web applications into effective software components A fully self contained introduction and practitioner s guide suitable for both technical and non technical members of staff as well as students A methodology development process and notation WebML based on common practice but optimized for the unique challenges of high volume Web applications Completely platform and product independent even the use of WebML is optional

Software Maintenance - A Management Perspective Phaneendra Nath Vellanky,2007-10-23 Computer systems play an important role in our society Software drives those systems Massive investments of time and resources are made in developing and implementing these systems Maintenance is inevitable It is hard and costly Considerable resources are required to keep the systems active and dependable We cannot maintain software unless maintainability characters are built into the products and processes There is an urgent need to reinforce software development practices based on quality and reliability principles Though maintenance is a mini development lifecycle it has its own problems Maintenance issues need corresponding tools and techniques to address them Software professionals are key players in maintenance While development is an art and science maintenance is a craft We need to develop maintenance personnel to master this craft Technology impact is very high in systems world today We can no longer conduct business in the way we did before That calls for reengineering systems and software Even reengineered software needs maintenance soon after its implementation We have to take business knowledge procedures and data into the newly reengineered world Software maintenance people can play an important role in this migration process Software technology is moving into global and distributed networking environments Client server systems and object orientation are on their way Massively parallel processing systems and networking resources are changing database services into corporate data warehouses Software engineering environments rapid application development tools are changing the way we used to develop and maintain software Software maintenance is moving from code maintenance to design maintenance even onto specification maintenance Modifications today are made at specification level regenerating the software components testing and integrating them with the system Eventually software maintenance has to manage the evolution and evolutionary characteristics of software systems Software professionals have to maintain not only the software but the momentum of change in systems and software In this study we observe various issues tools and techniques and the emerging trends in software technology with particular reference to maintenance We are not searching for specific solutions We are identifying issues and finding ways to manage them live with them and control their negative impact
