The Preface

The Master's Degree in Education as Teacher Professional Development

Gary Galluzzo, 2012-03-15 Teacher education is under more scrutiny than ever as standards based education is becoming more and more the norm Although much literature is available that addresses developing teacher education no one addresses how to create and develop a master's level program Gary R Galluzzo Joan Packer Isenberg C Stephen White and Rebecca K Fox professors at the highly regarded Graduate School of Education at George Mason University present a text to help deans and other professionals develop a master's level degree program that meets the standards of the National Board for Professional Teaching Standards The various sections explain in depth the facets of the program's design including how to qualify future students answering the call by the National Board provide researched evidence around Advanced Studies in Teaching and Learning and lastly explore what will become the new standards of accountability for teacher education Using their own experience as they reconceived their own program for a master's degree for practicing teachers the authors provide first hand accounts of their own expectations outcomes and continual dilemmas to inspire more discussion how teacher education can improve the quality of teaching in America's schools

Learning Trajectories, Innovation and Identity for Professional Development Anne Mc Kee, Michael Eraut, 2011-09-18 Educators in the professions have always had unique demands placed upon them These include the need to keep pace with rapidly evolving knowledge bases developing skills and attitudes appropriate to practice learning in the workplace and fostering public confidence For twenty years these new demands have created additional educational imperatives Public accountability has become more intensive and extensive Practitioners practice in climates more subject to scrutiny and less forgiving of error The contexts in which professionals practice and learn have changed and these changes involve global issues and problems Often professionals are the first responders who are required to take an active stance in defining and solving problems This book explores the pedagogic implications of these challenges internationally for a wide range of professions which include accountants military company commanders surgeons nurse practitioners academic managers community physicians and dentists The established view of professional development is about what the professional knows and can do The authors broaden this view to include the systemic and contextual factors that affect learning and the conditions necessary for effective practice and identity development across the professional lifespan Authors examine the unique particularities and requirements of diverse professional groups The editors emphasize new ideas and learning that emerges across the professions As readers use this book as a pathway to their own innovations in scholarship and pedagogic research they join their colleagues in
