Continue Joseph Laurence Black,1990 Youth in Regime Crisis Félix Krawatzek,2018-09-19 How do political regimes respond to the challenges emanating from youth mobilization This book seeks to understand regime resilience and breakdown by analysing the public meaning of youth as well as the physical mobilization of young people Mobilization carried by young people is a key component in understanding the stabilisation of the authoritarian regime structures in contemporary Russia but the Russian experience makes only sense if placed in its broader historical context Three comparative cases the breakdown of the authoritarian Soviet Union the breakdown of the democratic Weimar Republic and the crisis of the democratic regime in France around 1968 highlight how regimes which lacked popular support have compensated for their insufficient legitimacy by trying to mobilize youth symbolically and politically This book illustrates the symbolic significance of youth and its role in regime crisis by analysing a new data set of newspaper articles with a new method of discourse analysis The combination of qualitative interpretation and quantitative network analysis enables a deeper and more systematic understanding of discursive structures about youth Through this methodological innovation the book contributes to the way we define the categories of youth generation and crisis It makes the case that our conceptualisation should reflect the way terms are being used usages that can be captured in a systematic way with new methods of discourse analysis Oxford Studies in Democratization is a series for scholars and students of comparative politics and related disciplines Volumes concentrate on the comparative study of the democratization process that accompanied the decline and termination of the cold war The geographical focus of the series is primarily Latin America the Caribbean Southern and Eastern Europe and relevant experiences in Africa and Asia The series editor is Laurence Whitehead Senior Research Fellow Nuffield College University of Oxford Economic Reforms in the U.S.S.R. United States. Modern Russia is the first book to trace the significance of education in Russia from Peter the Great's reign all the way through to Vladimir Putin and the present day. Individual chapters open with an overview of the political, social, diplomatic and cultural environment of the period in order to orient the reader. Dowler then goes on to analyse the aims of education initiatives in each era before considering the ways in which Russians experienced education both as students and as teachers. Each chapter concludes with an assessment of the outcomes and consequences of education policies in the period, both the successes and failures as well as the impact of education on the cultural, social, economic and ultimately political environments. The chronologically arranged book also traces and then summarises underlying key themes like the tension between an open system of education and an estate based system, the push and pull between utility and the broader goal of human development and the effects of centralized authoritarian control that for much of the period limited local initiative and starved the regions of adequate resources.

The Nuclear and Space Talks revolutionized arms control. The Cold War endgame commenced with the umbrella negotiations that linked START and INF negotiations to a regulation on the weaponization of space. This volume reveals a US grand strategy to replace deterrence with a collective security order. An entente of the superpowers was needed to transform bipolarity. The US planned the replacement of mutually assured destruction by mutually assured security. A global astrodome was to protect a nuclear disarmed world. The Franco-German special relationship in European affairs had to be amended by a US-SU special relationship to replace classic bloc politics. The Reagan Administration planned a global zero agenda, a joint development of a global protective system and a creation of a Common House of Europe. In brief, the superpowers prepared the velvet revolution that eliminated the Cold War structures. Neither containment nor convergence offers a valid explanation of the Cold War endgame. Co-creation is the key to decipher the end of the Cold War. NATO Europe challenged the transformation of bipolarity. The European NWS resisted to a multilateralization of strategic arms control. In Europe, the classic Cold War thinking survived the fall of the Iron Curtain. European conservatism contributed to the geopolitical catastrophe of the first order: the downfall of the Soviet Union. The Reagan Administration developed a Grand Strategy to end the Cold War. The US-SU co-creation of an astrodome was meant to ease a global zero agenda. A global collective security structure under the United Nations was to replace deterrence. The superpower project collapsed due to the penetration of US decision making by NATO Allies. The European NWS totally objected to a multilateralization of strategic arms control to preserve their relative position in the international system.
