Celebrating God's Cosmic Perichoresis Bryan Jeongguk Lee, 2011-08-05 In the face of today s unprecedented ecological crisis Christianity is often seen not only as sharing in the guilt of causing this crisis but also as unwilling and incapable of providing any help in re envisioning the required new way of life on earth This view is justified when we consider how modern Christian theology has tended to denigrate the natural world and how the prevalent world deserting Christian eschatology forms a spirituality that is fundamentally insensitive and indifferent to nature In light of this a meaningful Christian contribution to today s world of enormous ecological suffering must lie in envisioning a fundamentally new ecological vision of humanity s relationship to nature as well as providing an ethical energy to transform our current path of self destruction In this book Bryan J Lee finds in Jurgen Moltmann s eschatological panentheism a viable pathway toward a Christian ecological re envisioning of the relationship between God and humanity and between humanity and nature Furthermore Lee demonstrates in a persuasive way how Christian worship can and should be the epicenter of ecological transformation of the society emphatically interpreting Christian worship as an ecological eschatological anticipation of God s cosmic perichoresis to the vital and diverse international scene of the present day      A History of Christianity in Asia, Vol. II Samuel Hugh Moffett, 2014-07-30 The story of Christianity in the West has often been told but the history of Christianity in the East is not as well known The seed was the same the good news of Jesus Christ for the whole world which Christians call the gospel But it was sown by different sowers it was planted in different soil it grew with a different flavor and it was gathered by different reapers It is too often forgotten that the faith moved east across Asia as early as it moved west into Europe Western church history tends to follow Paul to Philippi and to Rome and on across Europe to the conversion of Constantine and the barbarians With some outstanding exceptions only intermittently has the West looked beyond Constantinople as its center It was a Christianity that has for centuries remained unashamedly Asian A History of Christianity in Asia makes available immense amounts of research on religious pluralism of Asia and how Christianity spread long before the modern missionary movement went forth in the shelter of Western military might Invaluable for historians of Asia and scholars of mission it is stimulating for all readers interested in Christian history      The Essential Handbook of Denominations and Ministries George Thomas Kurian, Sarah Claudine Day, 2017-03-14 Though the church universal is an ancient institution the contemporary ministry landscape is always changing That's why a new resource with useful information about Christian organizations is needed The Essential Handbook of Denominations and Ministries is an easy to use guide to more than 200 of the largest denominations and 300 ministries in the United States The entries for organizations include a brief history and summary a contemporary profile and discussion on doctrinal emphases creeds membership and interdenominational and ecumenical alliances Pastors ministry leaders community leaders and students will find this resource a helpful guide as they seek to understand Christian denominations and ministries      Justification and the Future of the Ecumenical Movement George A. Lindbeck, 2003 On October 31 1999 officials of the Lutheran World Federation and the Roman Catholic Church in Augsburg Germany signed an Official Common Statement with its Annex and the Joint Declaration on the Doctrine of Justification declaring publicly and in a binding manner that a consensus in basic truths of the doctrine of justification exists between Lutherans and Catholics A number of the essays in this book emanate from a conference at the Berkeley Divinity School of Yale University in 2000 that discussed the import of this momentous declaration for ecumenism      Reformed and Ecumenical , 2021-11-15      A Theology for the Twenty-First Century Douglas F. Ottati, 2020-10-15 Christianity in the United States is in crisis Liberalism is declining evangelicalism is splintering increasing numbers of Christians are slipping away from churches and more and more young people are for various reasons finding Christianity as they conceive it a metaphysical thought system or society of science deniers or an ideology for oppressors not just implausible but repellent At the same time Christians across denominational and ideological divides are rediscovering a moral core especially in the Jesus of the Gospels that reactivates and unites them and this kind of faith appeals to many who consider themselves averse to all traditional organized religion But any revitalized Christian faith is going to need to understand its rootedness in and interpretation of Christianity's foundational texts and traditions. Noted theologian Douglas F. Ottati steps in to offer a theology for this new era. Combining deep learning in texts and traditions with astute awareness of contemporary questions and patterns of thought and life, he asks what does it mean in our time to understand the God of the Bible as Creator and Redeemer. Distilling the content of Christian faith into seventy concise propositions, he explains each in lucid, cogent prose. A Theology for the Twenty First Century will be an essential textbook for those training for ministry in our current climate, a wise guide for contemporary believers who wonder how best to understand and communicate their faith, and an inviting and intelligent resource for serious inquirers who wonder whether the way of Jesus might help them grasp the real world while remaining open to the transcendent. Reformed Theology and Evolutionary Theory Gijsbert Van den Brink, 2020-02-25. Many books aim to help beginners explore whether or not evolutionary science is compatible with Christian faith. This one probes more deeply to ask: What do we learn from modern evolutionary science about key issues that are of special theological concern? And what does Christian theology, especially in its Reformed expressions, say about those same key issues? Gijsbert van den Brink begins by describing the layers of meaning in the phrase evolutionary theory and exploring the question of how to interpret the Bible with regard to science. He then works through five key areas of potential conflict between evolutionary theory and Christian faith, spelling out scientific findings and analyzing Christian doctrinal concerns along the way. His conclusion, although some traditional doctrinal interpretations must be adjusted, evolutionary science is no obstacle to classical Christian faith. Faiths across Time J. Gordon Melton, 2014-01-15. This monumental four-volume reference overviews significant events and developments in religious history over the course of more than five millennia. Written for high school students, undergraduates, and general readers interested in the history of world religions, this massive reference chronicles developments in religious history from 3500 BCE through the 21st century. The set comprises four volumes treating the ancient world from 3500 BCE through 499 CE, 500 through 1399, 1400 through 1849, and 1850 through 2009. Each volume includes hundreds of brief entries arranged chronologically and then further organized by region and religion. The entries provide fundamental information on topics ranging from the neolithic Ggantija temples near Malta through the election of Mary Douglas Glasspool as bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Los Angeles in 2009. Global in scope and encyclopedic in breadth, this chronology of world religions is an essential purchase for all libraries concerned with the development of human civilization. Prayers and Promises of the Bible Jonathan Rogers, J.
