

Health systems

- Incorporate migration data into national health information systems.
- Analyse, and utilise data to inform delivery of responsive and equitable health policy and services for child migrants.
- Take a 'migration-aware' health-system response to addressing child migrant health needs.
- Enable migrant children, families and communities to participate in coproduction of health information, service design and delivery.
- Examine institutional policies and practices with an equity lens.
- Identify and rectify discriminatory elements in clinical guidance, algorithms, tools and teaching materials.
- Promote and uphold institutional 'diversity responsiveness'.
- Make guidance on child health care entitlements readily available to staff.
- Provide advice to health workers on how to navigate restrictive national policies on healthcare entitlements in order to deliver on their duty of care and adhere to medical ethics standards.
- Facilitate and promote institutional trauma-informed practice.
- Ensure health workers have the training and resources to deliver culturally and linguistically appropriate child friendly services.
- Support and encourage health workers to achieve the benchmark of care outlined in WHO's Global Competency Standards for health workers in relation to refugee and migrant health.
- Mandate and fund implicit bias training for the health workforce
- Have clear policies and procedures for reporting and addressing witnessed and experienced inter-personal discrimination.

Structural discrimination

- Governments should comply with international obligations to guarantee the right to health for child migrants.
- The UN and the Council of Europe should hold countries who violate their commitments to United Nations (UN) conventions and declarations and European conventions to account.
- Develop and implement national action plans against racism that consider child migrants as a priority group in need of protection against discrimination.
- Integrate migration, health and children in all policies.
- Provide child migrants with access to healthcare equitable to children of the host nation.

European Cohesion Policy Willem Molle, 2007-08-07 The only comprehensive text available for advanced study and professional reference this book brings much needed clarity to both the theoretical and practical aspects of EU intervention Integrating both theoretical and practical research in a clear and accessible structure covering economic social and territorial issues European Cohesion Policy provides a systematic view of the various stages of the whole policy cycle looking in detail at the evolution of the problems the design of the policy system the implementation in practice the evaluation of effects An authoritative analysis of the problems and debates involved European Cohesion Policy is essential reading for students policy makers development workers and researchers working in all aspects of European policy

Regional Policy in the European Community Douglas Yuill, Kevin Allen, Chris Hull, 2025-09-12 Regional Policy in the European Community 1980 presents a structured overview of regional incentives and policy in the European Community countries set in the context of the regional problem in those countries Four main policy elements can be isolated in EEC countries infrastructure investment the use of state owned or state controlled firms to help develop problem regions the use of disincentives in regions under pressure and regional incentive expenditure This book treats each of the EEC countries systematically examining the problem the development of policy the incentives and a comparison with other countries

Main Economic Policy Areas of the EEC — Towards 1992 P. Coffey, 2013-12-01 At the end of 1992 things will never again be the same inside the European Economic Community EEC because as that year draws to a close the aims of the Single Act of European Union SAEU which became law in July this year will have become effective thus creating a real Common Market This will mean that there will no longer be any obstacles to the free movement of goods between the Member States Equally and for the first time in the EEC's history internal capital movements will be absolutely free there will no longer be any exchange controls and it will be possible to freely establish financial services between EEC countries Likewise as currently being proposed by Lord Cockfield wide variations in the levels of value added tax VAT between Member States will not be allowed Also in the case of the Common Agricultural Policy CAP it will no longer be possible nor even necessary to have the monetary compensatory amounts MCA's All these changes but especially the increased freedom in capital movements will have profound consequences for the different regions of the Community and it will be desirable to have a much more dynamic Regional Policy before 1993 Last but by no means least a greater number of decisions inside the Community will be made by majority voting and the Parliament will be endowed with enhanced powers Main Economic Policy Areas of the EEC — Toward 1992 P. Coffey, 2012-12-06 PETER COFFEY Since the appearance of the second edition of this work which was so quickly out of print so much has happened in Europe In the EEC itself 1989 was a watershed year concerning the Community's moves towards the creation of the Single European Market SEM by the end of 1992 Early in the year the appearance of the Delors Report on Economic and Monetary Union in the European Community was followed by an agreement at the European Summit in June to begin the first stage of this union in the Summer of 1990 As a counterpart to this and other agreements seen by trade unions and similar groups as an agreement New composition of the ECU as on 21 st September 1989 Deutsche Mark DEM 30 10% French Franc FRF 19 00% Pound Sterling GBP 13 00% Italian Lira ITL 10 15% Dutch Guilder NLG 9 40% 7 90% Belgian Franc BFR 2 45% Danish Kroner DKK 1 10% Irish Punt IEP 0 80% Greek Drachma GRD 5 30% Spanish Peseta ESP 0 80% Portuguese Escudo PTE IX x between governments and businesses there followed calls for and the adoption by eleven Heads of State of a Social Charter The Regions and the European Community Robert Leonardi, 1993 The contributions to this volume analyse the role of sub national institutions in the regional economic development process in the Community's less developed countries Greece Ireland Portugal Spain and Italy They are structured on the basis of individual country reports providing background to the debate on decentralization in each national context and the regional role in economic development The volume also contains an extensive analysis of the impact of European Community sectoral policies on the alleviation of regional disparities and an in depth analysis of the EC's Integrated Mediterranean Programmes on the basis of a systematic content analysis of the programmes and field research conducted on six IMP programmes in Greece Italy and France The European Union and the Regions Barry Jones, Michael Keating, 1995-05-25 Is Europe witnessing the death of the once mighty nation state If it is then two of the most powerful factors in its post war decline have been European integration and regionalism Both challenge the nation state's monopoly of authority one from above the other from below Although it is increasingly recognized that the two are connected This book provides a definitive examination of the new patterns of politics and policy that link the three levels of European Union nation state and region Looking at each member state in turn the authors emphasize the diversity of the European experience European integration has differing impacts on different regions In some it is seen as a threat centralizing power and increasing their peripherality To others it is an opportunity to bypass national governments and assert their personality The authors are sceptical of the Europe of the Regions scenario in which nation states fade away in favour of the other two levels But they do show how the Maastricht commitment to subsidiarity together with the twin forces of European integration and regional assertion are profoundly changing the politics of Europe as it moves into the twenty first century European Communities John Paxton, 1992-01-01 The establishment of the European Economic Community in 1958 was one of the most remarkable developments in the history of the post World War II era It aimed for nothing less than a complete economic union so that goods people and capital would be able to pass over national boundaries of member countries as freely as they move within any one country As the Community's target date of 1992 for economic integration draws closer the need for information both current and historical becomes more urgent The aim of this annotated bibliography is to create a critical and descriptive list of books published mainly in English for businessmen and analysts combining older publications with new The literature on the EC is vast and issues The Community itself nearly 3000 publications a year The range of material covered in this volume is distinguished by its great scope Historical sections provide listings on the postwar years of economic recovery the development of the EC and biographies of the leading personalities involved Policy oriented sections encompass such subjects as labor transportation environment energy and education The political ramifications of economic union financial and fiscal affairs relations between the EC and the Third World and foreign relations in general are dealt with in separate sections The volume concludes with a listing of major European Community publications The sheer bulk of published material on the EC much of it duplication has made keeping up with its developments difficult for small and medium in Europe and elsewhere This invaluable sourcebook will provide the business community and the political establishments with better access to EC information as they grapple with the implications of 1992

Main Economic Policy Areas of the EC - After 1992 P. Coffey, 2012-12-06 Main Economic Policy Areas of the EC After 1992 is a completely rewritten version of past editions It examines successes and problems associated with the EC's main economic policy areas and makes proposals for the future For the first time a chapter on the very important policy area of transport is included This volume is an indispensable course book and handbook for all individuals interested in the European Community's main policy areas at the beginning of the coming into effect of the Single European Market

Regional Development and the European Community Ian McAllister, 1982 The Economics of European Integration Willem Molle, 2017-07-12 This title was first published in 2001 As economic integration touches ever more areas of society more and more people are confronted by the bewildering complexity of the functioning of the European Union Rather than merely focusing on the description of EU policies this study of the economics of European integration seeks to select the most relevant aspects and developments place the wide variety of issues in a robust conceptual structure integrate theoretical developments with the results of empirical research and of policy analysis explain the logic of the dynamic processes describe the structural features of the European economy highlight the response of private companies to changes in the regulatory environment depict the historical developments so as to give a sound basis for the understanding of the present situation and the likely future development and set the European developments in the light of global developments In practice Western Europe is the focus of major parts of this book

Yearbook of the European Convention on Human Rights Council of Europe/Conseil de l'Europe, 1977-08-01 This volume of the Yearbook of the European Convention on Human Rights prepared by the Directorate of Human Rights of the Council of Europe relates to 2003 Part one contains information on the Convention Part two deals with the control mechanism of the European Convention on Human Rights selected judgments of the European Court of Human Rights and human rights DH resolutions of the Committee of Ministers part three groups together the other work of the Council of Europe in the field of human rights and includes the work of the Committee of Ministers the Parliamentary Assembly and the Directorate General of Human Rights part four is devoted to information on national legislation and extracts from national judicial decisions concerning rights protected by the Convention Appendix A contains a bibliography on the Convention and Appendix B the biographies of the new judges elected to the European Court of Human Rights

Economic and Social Cohesion in Europe Achille Hannequart,1992-10 Examines ways in which Structural Funding could be reformed to avert potential crises of uneven development within the EC Economic Transformation, Democratization and Integration into the European Union H. Gibson,2001-02-01 The transformation from a closed and inward looking economy to an active integration into the European Union is one which a number of countries are facing This book examines the experience of southern European countries where such transformation has occurred within a short space of time and has been accompanied by important socio political developments including the consolidation of democracy The various contributors focus on the motivation for economic change the problems encountered and the lessons to be learnt Governance, Institutional Change and Regional Development Mike Danson,Henrick Halkier,Greta Cameron,2024-11-01 This title was first published in 2000 This volume addresses the prominent role given to institution building institutional change and governance in the regional development strategies and policies The establishment of the Scottish Parliament Welsh and Northern Ireland Assemblies and the arrival of regional development agencies in England highlighted the need to put the initiatives into some context drawing on experience from across Europe on the critical factors in the determination of the potential and success of regions Central to the discussions presented here by a group of European experts are the question of governance how does an ongoing process of institution building affect the ways in which regions and localities are governed including questions of democracy participation regional self determination public private partnerships networks and accountability and the consequences of new modes of governance and institutional change for regional development strategies and policies particularly in the context of large scale industrial restructuring and city region and urban regeneration Britain within the European Community A. M. El-Agraa,1983-08-01 Regional Policy and

Regional Planning in Ghana Sam Ofori,2017-11-22 This title was first published in 2002 This work is about the socio economic and spatial impacts of planning policy aimed at improving the living standards and well being of the regional communities of Ghana Implicit the effectiveness assessment of regional planning practice It is set within the context of the new national planning system and offers strategic opportunities and challenges Characteristically the national and regional policies and contacts are probed and the lack of formal regional plan making stressed The author critically analyzes the problem of socio economic and spatial disparities over the mid 60s to the early 1990s explaining the observed changes The latter is differentiatingly done in terms of relevant theories and the empirics undertaken These include the fashion of perception and conceptualization of development Change is based on one off micro projects at the regional level and a meso regional project within a sub regional context Dr Ofori equally stresses the implementations and local management of the planning policies and programmes Inclusive in the dynamics behind the processes is the role of partnership A further distinctive contribution is the identification of opportunities for planning intervention and policy recommendations for a better change in the future towards making things happen

Sustainable Development for Central and Eastern Europe Ulrich Graute, 2012-12-06 Central and Eastern European Countries are undergoing a difficult transition process with consequences for spatial development Europe needs a more balanced polycentric system of cities a new urban rural relationship parity of access to infrastructure and knowledge as well as prudent management and development of the natural and cultural heritage Dealing with these complex challenges and the need for sustainable development politicians requires qualified advice from experts To this end the German Ministry for Regional Planning Construction and Urban Development initiated the Network of Spatial Research Institutes in Central and Eastern Europe CEE Net in 1992 Exchange of knowledge and an open dialogue at all levels are pre conditions for the cooperative development of visions and strategies serving spatial development in Europe The annual conferences of the network have been a first steps towards closer cooperation The high interest shown in these conferences by academics and government representatives and the fact that several research projects have already crystallised out of the debates they engendered indicate that the network is meeting a need for exchange and cooperation Decisions on spatial development do not stop at national borders and the discussion on spatial development in any European region has therefore to take the European context into consideration A special advantage of this publication is that as well as focusing on spatial development and research in CEE regions it also discusses Central and Eastern Europe in a European context

The Regions and the New Europe Martin Rhodes, 1995 The contributors argue that some regions such as Emilia Romagna Baden Wurttemberg and Rhone Alpes have been highly successful in launching regional development strategies Others such as the English and certain southern European regions lack the economic resources and institutional structures to follow these examples The book analyses the reasons for success and failure and considers the strategic development options open to the less developed European regions

"Foundations of an Ever Closer Union" Mark Callanan, 2007 Marking the fiftieth anniversary of the Treaty of Rome this publication examines some of the key developments in European integration from an Irish perspective The book explores different aspects of Ireland's relationship with the process of European integration including Ireland's relationship with the six founding members before it joined in 1973 and how European developments formed the backdrop to domestic debates over changing Irish economic policy in the 1950s and 1960s The increasing importance of the European Union in different policy areas is also analysed as is the impact the Union has had on the work of ministers and the Oireachtas and how EU business is managed within government departments The publication also reflects on the different amendments to the Treaty of Rome and how Ireland has contributed to the negotiation of new treaties since the 1980s With contributions from both practitioners and academics the book offers a diverse range of perspectives on how European developments have impacted on Ireland as well as reflections on what Ireland has brought to the European integration project In these different ways the authors offer interesting new insights into Ireland's involvement in the integration process and illustrate how Ireland's position within the European Union has matured and entered a new phase of development BOOK JACKET

The novel begins with Richard Papen, a bright but troubled young man, arriving at Hampden College. Richard is immediately drawn to the group of students who call themselves the Classics Club. The club is led by Henry Winter, a brilliant and charismatic young man. Henry is obsessed with Greek mythology and philosophy, and he quickly draws Richard into his world. The other members of the Classics Club are equally as fascinating. Bunny Corcoran is a wealthy and spoiled young man who is always looking for a good time. Charles Tavis is a quiet and reserved young man who is deeply in love with Henry. Camilla Macaulay is a beautiful and intelligent young woman who is drawn to the power and danger of the Classics Club. The students are all deeply in love with Morrow, and they are willing to do anything to please him. Morrow is a complex and mysterious figure, and he seems to be manipulating the students for his own purposes. As the students become more involved with Morrow, they begin to commit increasingly dangerous acts. The Secret History is a masterful and gripping novel that will keep you speculating until the very end. The novel is a cautionary tale about the dangers of obsession and the power of evil.
