International Division of Labour and Regional Development Rameshwar Prasad Misra,1989 Growth, Structural Change and Regional Inequality in Malaysia Asan Ali Golam Hassan,2017-11-30 Economic development in the long run is seen as a process of structural change that is affected by economic growth Malaysia is one of the middle income economies that are going through rapid structural change Since the mid 1980s it has changed to an industrially based economy with large scale export of electrical and electronic components However thirty years after Malaysia s re distributive policies have been exercised regional inequality still exists This book examines the nature and impact of regional policies in relation to the patterns of demographic and economic structural change and in relation to growth distribution and income disparities across regions in Peninsular Malaysia The book also explores the degree to which differences in regional manufacturing distribution and concentration have contributed to regional inequality It concludes with a number of recommendations for regional policies that will reduce this inequality Integration and Transition in Europe Grzegorz Gorzelak,Gunther Maier,George Petrakos,2013-01-11 International line up of contributors Tackles the big issues facing Europe eg north south and east west divides Chapters incorporate specific case studies with broader European analysis

Small Firms in Regional Economic Development D. J. Storey,1985-11-21 This collection of essays the contribution of small businesses to economic development is assessed in a number of different localities A Regional Approach to Industrial Restructuring in the Tomsk Region, Russian Federation OECD,1998-10-07 At the invitation of the regional authorities the OECD organised a conference in Tomsk on a regional approach to industrial restructuring in June 1997 This report presents the economic assessment conference conclusions and recommendations OECD Regional Development Studies Broad-based Innovation Policy for All Regions and Cities OECD,2020-10-15 This publication summarises the main findings of a series of high level expert workshops organised with support by the European Commission to deepen the understanding how OECD countries can move towards a broad based form of innovation policy for regions and cities Weaknesses in technology and knowledge diffusion are weighing on productivity growth and innovation in OECD countries particularly in firms that are distant from the technological frontier global or national This in turn weakens their capacity to meet future challenges and undermines inclusive growth Instant encyclopaedia of geography Shatrughna P. Sinha,1993 The Medical Metropolis Andrew T. Simpson,2019-11-01 In 2008 the University of Pittsburgh Medical Centers UPMC hoisted its logo atop the U S Steel Building in downtown Pittsburgh symbolically declaring that the era of big steel had been replaced by the era of big medicine for this once industrial city More than 1 200 miles to the south a similar sense of optimism pervaded the public discourse around the relationship between health care and the future of Houston s economy While traditional Texas industries like oil and natural gas still played a critical role the presence of the massive Texas Medical Center billed as the largest medical complex in the world had helped to rebrand the city as a site for biomedical innovation and ensured its stability during the financial crisis of the mid 2000s Taking Pittsburgh and Houston as case studies The Medical Metropolis offers the first comparative historical account of how big medicine transformed American cities in the postindustrial era Andrew T Simpson explores how the hospital civic relationship in which medical centers embraced a business oriented model remade the deindustrialized city into the medical metropolis From the 1940s to the present the changing business of American health care reshaped American cities into sites for cutting edge biomedical and clinical research medical education and innovative health business practices This transformation relied on local policy and economic decisions as well as broad and homogenizing national forces including HMOs biotechnology programs and hospital privatization Today the medical metropolis is considered by some as a triumph of innovation and revitalization and by others as a symbol of the excesses of capitalism and the inequality still pervading American society
