Catholic Reformation in Protestant Britain Alexandra Walsham, 2016-04-15 The survival and revival of Roman Catholicism in post Reformation Britain remains the subject of lively debate This volume examines key aspects of the evolution and experience of the Catholic communities of these Protestant kingdoms during the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries Rejecting an earlier preoccupation with recusants and martyrs it highlights the importance of those who exhibited varying degrees of conformity with the ecclesiastical establishment and explores the moral and political dilemmas that confronted the clergy and laity It reassesses the significance of the Counter Reformation mission as an evangelical enterprise analyses its communication strategies and its impact on popular piety and illuminates how Catholic ritual life creatively adapted itself to a climate of repression Reacting sharply against the insularity of many previous accounts this book investigates developments in the British Isles in relation to wider international initiatives for the renewal of the Catholic faith in Europe and for its plantation overseas It emphasises the reciprocal interaction between Catholicism and anti Catholicism throughout the period and casts fresh light on the nature of interconfessional relations in a pluralistic society It argues that persecution and suffering paradoxically both constrained and facilitated the resurgence of the Church of Rome They presented challenges and fostered internal frictions but they also catalysed the process of religious identity formation and imbued English Welsh and Scottish Catholicism with peculiar dynamism Prefaced by an extensive new historiographical overview this collection brings together a selection of Alexandra Walsham s essays written over the last fifteen years fully revised and updated to reflect recent research in this flourishing field Collectively these make a major contribution to our understanding of minority Catholicism and the Counter Reformation in the era after the Council of Trent Cheshire and the Tudor State 1480-1560 Tim Thornton, 2000 The palatinate of Chester survives Tudor centralisation The Antichrist and the Lollards: Apocalypticism in Late Medieval and Reformation England Curtis V. Bostick, 2021-10-11 This study examines expectations of imminent judgment that energized reform movements in Late Medieval and Reformation Europe It probes the apocalyptic vision of the Lollards followers of the Oxford professor John Wycliff 1384 The Lollards repudiated the medieval church and established conventicles despite officially sanctioned prosecution While exploring the full spectrum of late medieval apocalypticism this work focuses on the diverse range of Wycliffite literature political and religious treatises sermons biblical commentaries including trial records to reveal a dynamic strain of apocalyptic discourse It shows that sixteenth century English apocalypticism was fed by vibrant indigenous Wycliffite well springs The rhetoric of Lollard apocalypticism is analyzed and its effect on carriers and audiences is investigated illuminating the rise of evil in church and society as perceived by the Lollards and their radical reform program The Pastor Bonus Theo Clemens, Wim Janse, 2003-07-30 From earliest times the Western Church has fiercely debated questions about the place of the ministry within the Church and Church government What requirements should be met by candidates for holy orders and what do we expect of priests and ministers personal holiness training for their calling social skills or merely the possession of official ordination The Church has at different times produced very different answers and the 30 scholars from Britain the Netherlands and Belgium whose papers in this volume follow the course of the debate concerning the good shepherd from the early church through to modern times show on the one hand what happens to Christian communities that have lost a clear view of the functions of the ministry and on the other just how much trust people have always placed in their priests and pastors With contributions by Anton Weiler Charles Caspers Robert Swanson Petty Bange Mathilde van Dijk Claire Cross Fred van Lieburg Ingrid Dobbe Frank van de Pol Eamon Duffy Joke Spaans Trevor Johnson Gian Ackermans David Wykes Jeremy Gregory W M Jacob Joris van Eijnatten Nigel Yates David Bos Leo Kenis F G M Broeyer Frances Knight John Tomlinson Stuart Mews Lieve Gevers and Ian Jones

Elf Queens and Holy Friars Richard Firth Green, 2016-09-26 In Elf Queens and Holy Friars Richard Firth Green investigates an important aspect of medieval culture that has been largely ignored by modern literary scholarship the omnipresent belief in fairyland Taking as his starting point the assumption that the major cultural gulf in the Middle Ages was less between the wealthy and the poor than between the learned and the lay Green explores the church's systematic demonization of fairies and infernalization of fairyland He argues that when medieval preachers inveighed against the demons that they portrayed as threatening their flocks they were in reality often waging war against fairy beliefs The recognition that medieval demonology and indeed pastoral theology were packed with coded references to popular lore opens up a whole new avenue for the investigation of medieval vernacular culture Elf Queens and Holy Friars offers a detailed account of the church's attempts to suppress or redirect belief in such things as fairy lovers changelings and alternative versions of the afterlife That the church took these fairy beliefs so seriously suggests that they were ideologically loaded and this fact makes a huge difference in the way we read medieval romance the literary genre that treats them most explicitly The war on fairy beliefs increased in intensity toward the end of the Middle Ages becoming finally a significant factor in the witch hunting of the Renaissance

The King's Converts Lauren Fogle, 2018-11-26 In the Middle Ages Jews who converted to Christianity occupied a shadowy and often dangerous place between the two religions Rejected by their former community and sometimes not accepted fully as Christians converts were often destitute and at the mercy of noble benefactors Only in London was there an official royally sanctioned and funded policy of conversion When Henry III founded the Domus Conversorum in 1232 he created a unique institution one intended to house protect and instruct converts from Judaism This book provides an analysis of Jewish conversion in England and continental Europe in the 12th and 13th centuries and offers a detailed look at London's Domus Conversorum its finances its administration and its inhabitants Using royal records financial accounts and receipts Church letters and documents London wills and assizes and chronicles this book presents the most in depth account of Jewish conversion in London to date

The Pre-Reformation Church in England 1400-1530 Christopher Harper-Bill, 2014-07-15 Offers a concise synthesis of the valuable research accomplished in recent years which has transformed our view of religious belief and practice in pre Reformation England The author argues that the church was neither in a state of crisis nor were its members clamouring for change let alone reformation during the early years of Henry VIII's reign

Venomous Tongues Sandy Bardsley, 2006 Sandy Bardsley examines the complex relationship between speech and gender in the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries and engages debates on the static nature of women's status after the Black Death Focusing on England Venomous Tongues uses a combination of legal literary and artistic sources to show how deviant speech was increasingly feminized in the later Middle Ages Women of all social classes and marital statuses ran the risk of being charged as scolds and local jurisdictions interpreted the label scold in a way that best fit their particular circumstances Indeed Bardsley demonstrates this flexibility of definition helped to ensure the longevity of the term women were punished as scolds as late as the early nineteenth century The tongue according to late medieval moralists was a dangerous weapon that tempted people to sin During the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries clerics railed against blasphemers liars and slanderers while village and town elites prosecuted those who abused officials or committed the newly devised offense of scolding In courts women in particular were prosecuted and punished for insulting others or talking too much in a public setting In literature both men and women were warned about women's propensity to gossip and quarrel while characters such as Noah's Wife and the Wife of Bath demonstrate the development of a stereotypically garrulous woman Visual representations such as depictions of women gossiping in church also reinforced the message that women's speech was likely to be disruptive and deviant

The Prelate in England and Europe, 1300-1560 Martin Heale, 2014 An investigation into the role of the high ranking churchman in this period: who they were, what they did and how they perceived themselves. High ecclesiastical office in the Middle Ages inevitably brought power, wealth and patronage. The essays in this volume examine how late medieval and Renaissance prelates deployed the income and influence of their offices, how they understood their role and how they were viewed by others. Focusing primarily on but not exclusively confined to England, this collection explores the considerable common ground between cardinals, bishops and monastic superiors. Leading authorities on the late medieval and sixteenth century Church analyse the political, cultural and pastoral activities of high ranking churchmen and consider how episcopal and abbatial expenditure was directed, justified and perceived. Overall, the collection enhances our understanding of ecclesiastical wealth and power in an era when the concept and role of the prelate were increasingly contested. Dr Martin Heale is Senior Lecturer in Late Medieval History, University of Liverpool. Contributors: Martin Heale, Michael Carter, James G. Clark, Gwilym Dodd, Felicity Heal, Anne Hudson, Emilia Jamrozik, C. Dric Michon, Elizabeth A. New, Wendy Scase, Benjamin Thompson, C. M. Woolgar
