Relating Humanities And Social Thought:

Relating Humanities and Social Thought Abraham Edel, 1990-01-01 In the current atmosphere of controversy about modes of interpreting literature historical influences in science and subtle ideologies in social theory Abraham Edel confronts the institutionalized separation of the humanities and the sciences the segregation of disciplines through structures that rest on entrenched dualisms and the isolations reenforced by habits of the academy and its struggles over turf Edel s search for connections carried out not only theoretically but through a series of particular studies spanning major disciplines from philosophy and social theory to jurisprudence biography and cultural anthropology leads into uncharted waters He faces the startling conclusion that the clue to answering internal questions characteristically turns out to come from trans discipline relations This fourth volume of Edel s Science Ideology and Value focuses in a Deweyan vein on the functional requirements at the base of the social sciences and humanities alike discipline structures are subject to change development and decay and even to categorial shifts as well as to readjustments At the same time Edel s philosophical naturalism helps diagnose the obstacles to research that stem from imposed dualisms such as theory and practice subjectivity and objectivity fact and value individual and society as well as social contrasts of elite and mass Normative structures are to be held responsible to inquiry and a self conscious exploratory practice is needed to minimize the risks of arbitrary closures For those who wish to get beyond sloganeering in the world of education humane learning and the social and historical sciences this book is a must

In Search of the Ethical Abraham Edel, 1993-01-01 The twentieth century has been rich in the variety of its ethical theories Since the turn of the century contending philosophical positions have tended to view ethics either as spiritual and separate from the natural world or as a function of bodily or material forces Although both factions had roots in older philosophies the speed and complexity of modern development in science and technology engendered a multiplicity of smaller schools within traditional domains In the fifth volume of Science Ideology and Value Abraham Edel offers a consideration of some of the major moral theories of this troubled century and a guide to their historical development and context In treating the newer and distinctively twentieth century philosophical schools Edel concentrates on movements rather than on the individual philosopher s rounded theory The treatment of John Dewey comes in a chapter on pragmatic tests and ethical insights while that of Edward Alexander Westermarck comes in a larger discussion of ethical relativism Edel s consideration of John Rawls and Alasdair MacIntyre provides a broader lesson in the problems and pitfalls of dealing with ethical ideas apart from history and social context Edel observes that while the concepts of morality and the theories in which they are enmeshed have been familiar subject matter of ethical theory the one topic that has been little explored is changes over time in ethical practice While the fact of different moralities and the rise and fall of a given morality have been dealt with in a historical vein how such changes have impacted the theory of ethics as such has received only limited treatment Edel devotes significant space to this topic noting that the study of moral change may yield both a deeper understanding of the functioning of morality within the social culture as well as new vistas on the function of ethical theories themselves

Hobbes and Human Nature Arnold W. Postcolonial Thought and Social Theory Julian Go, 2016. Social scientists have long resisted the radical ideas known as postcolonial thought while postcolonial scholars have critiqued the social sciences for their Eurocentric focus. However in Postcolonial Thought and Social Theory Julian Go attempts to reconcile the two seemingly contradictory fields by crafting a postcolonial social science. Contrary to claims that social science is incompatible with postcolonial thought this book argues that the two are mutually beneficial drawing upon the works of thinkers such as Franz Fanon Amílcar Cabral Edward Said Homi Bhabha and Gayatri Spivak. Go concludes with a call for a third wave of postcolonial thought emerging from social science and surmounting the narrow confines of disciplinary boundaries.

Crisis and Commonwealth Charles Reitz, 2013-08-29. Crisis and Commonwealth Marcuse Marx McLaren advances Marcuse scholarship by presenting four hitherto untranslated and unpublished manuscripts by Herbert Marcuse from the Frankfurt University Archive on themes of economic value theory socialism and humanism. Contributors to this edited collection notably Peter Marcuse Henry Giroux Peter McLaren Zvi Tauber Arnold L Farr and editor Charles Reitz are deeply engaged with the foundational theories of Marcuse and Marx with regard to a future of freedom equality and justice. Douglas Dowd furnishes the critical historical context with regard to U.S. foreign and domestic policy particularly its features of economic imperialism and militarism. Reitz draws these elements together to show that the writings by Herbert Marcuse and these formidable authors can ably assist a global movement toward intercultural commonwealth. The collection extends the critical theories of Marcuse and Marx to an analysis of the intensifying inequalities symptomatic of our current economic distress. It presents a collection of essays by radical scholars working in the public interest to develop a critical analysis of recent global economic dislocations. Reitz presents a new foundation for emancipatory practice a labor theory of ethics and commonwealth and the collection breaks new ground by constructing a critical theory of wealth and work. A central focus is building a new critical vision for labor including academic labor. Lessons are drawn to inform transformative political action as well as the practice of a critical multicultural pedagogy supporting a new manifesto for radical educators contributed by Peter McLaren. The collection is intended especially to appeal to contemporary interests of college students and teachers in several interrelated social science disciplines: sociology social problems economics ethics business ethics labor education history political philosophy multicultural education and critical pedagogy.
