Relativism And The Social Sciences:

Relativism and the Social Sciences Ernest Gellner, 1987-02-26 Considers human diversity and change and rejects the usual solutions to problems of relativism Presents a new mode of inquiry in its stead a mixture of philosophy history and anthropology that appears to be more meaningful

Cognitive Relativism and Social Science Diederick Raven, 2020 Modern epistemology has been dominated by an empiricist theory of knowledge that assumes a direct individualistic relationship between the knowing subject and the object of knowledge Truth is held to be universal and non individualistic social and cultural factors are considered sources of distortion of true knowledge Since the late 1950s this view has been challenged by a cognitive relativism asserting that what is true is socially conditioned This volume examines the far reaching implications of this development for the social sciences Recently cognitive relativism has become a key issue of debate in anthropology philosophy and sociology In anthropology this is illustrated by a growing awareness of the similarity of all systems of knowledge In philosophy it is exemplified by the realization that traditional monolithic and absolutist concepts of truth have increasingly lost any power to make sense and to convince In sociology it is visible in a renewal of interest in a general sociology of knowledge Yet in spite of this convergence of interests practitioners of these three disciplines have on the whole shown no inclination to reach a consensus on the terms of reference that could facilitate an interdisciplinary approach Cognitive Relativism and Social Science aims to do just this It is a working assumption of this volume that as far as the subject of cognitive relativism is concerned anthropologists philosophers and sociologists should join forces rather than try to deal with the challenges of cognitive relativism within strictly imposed boundaries that normally separate academic disciplines Only when they work together will it be possible to treat the problems posed by cognitive relativism in an adequate way This volume provides the results of attempts to communicate on cognitive relativism across disciplinary boundaries This is must reading in the philosophy of social science and in social research theory

Cognitive Relativism and Social Science Diederick Raven, Lieteke Van Vucht Tijssen, Jan De Wolf, Modern epistemology has been dominated by an empiricist theory of knowledge that assumes a direct individualistic relationship between the knowing subject and the object of knowledge Truth is held to be universal and non individualistic social and cultural factors are considered sources of distortion of true knowledge Since the late 1950s this view has been challenged by a cognitive relativism asserting that what is true is socially conditioned This volume examines the far reaching implications of this development for the social sciences Recently cognitive relativism has become a key issue of debate in anthropology philosophy and sociology In anthropology this is illustrated by a growing awareness of the similarity of all systems of knowledge In philosophy it is exemplified by the realization that traditional monolithic and absolutist concepts of truth have increasingly lost any power to make sense and to convince In sociology it is visible in a renewal of interest in a general sociology of knowledge Yet in spite of this convergence of interests practitioners of these three disciplines have on the whole shown no inclination to reach a consensus on the terms of reference that could facilitate an interdisciplinary approach Cognitive Relativism and Social Science aims to do just this It is a working assumption of this volume that as far as the subject of cognitive relativism is concerned anthropologists philosophers and sociologists should join forces rather than try to deal with the challenges of cognitive relativism within strictly imposed boundaries that normally separate academic disciplines Only when they work together will it be possible to treat the problems posed by cognitive relativism in an adequate way This volume provides the results of attempts to communicate on cognitive relativism across disciplinary boundaries This is must reading in the philosophy of social science and in social research theory Ethical Relativism in the Context of the Social Sciences Patrick Neal Grim,1976

Interpretation, Relativism, and the Social World Estelle T. Lau,1987 Ethical Relativism in the Context of the Social Sciences Patrick Grim,1979 Copernicus, Darwin, and Freud Friedel Weinert,2009-03-12 Using Copernicanism Darwinism and Freudianism as examples of scientific traditions Copernicus Darwin and Freud takes a philosophical look at these three revolutions in thought to illustrate the connections between science and philosophy Shows how these revolutions in thought lead to philosophical consequences Provides extended case studies of Copernicanism Darwinism and Freudianism Integrates the history of science and the philosophy of science like no other text Covers both the philosophy of natural and social science in one volume The Soul of the German Historical School Yuichi Shionoya,2006-01-20 This volume is a collection of my essays on Gustav von Schmoller 1838 1917 Max Weber 1864 1920 and Joseph Alois Schumpeter 1883 1950 published during the past fifteen years These three intellectual giants are connected with the German Historical School of Economics in different ways In the history of economics the German Historical School has been described as a heterodox group of economic researchers who flourished in the Germ speaking world throughout the nineteenth century The definition of a school is always problematic Even if the core of a certain idea were identified in the continuous and discontinuous process of the filiation and ramification of thought it is still possible to trace its predecessors successors and sympathizers in different directions creating an amorphous entity of a school It is beyond question however that Schmoller was the leader of the younger German Historical School the genuine school with a sociological 1 reality Schmoller was indeed the towering figure of the Historical School at its zenith Masons, Tricksters and Cartographers David Turnbull,2000 This highly original study puts forward the notion that every culture has its own ways of assembling local knowledge thereby creating space through the linking of people practices and places Philosophy for AS and A2 Elizabeth Burns,Stephen Law,2004-06-24 Philosophy for AS and A2 is the definitive textbook for students of Advanced Subsidiary or Advanced Level philosophy courses structured directly around the specification of the AQA Following a lively foreword by Nigel Warburton author of Philosophy The Basics a team of experienced teachers devote a chapter each to the six themes covered by the syllabus Each of the chapters include helpful student friendly features a list of key concepts to introduce students to the topic bite size sections corresponding to the syllabus topics actual exam questions from previous years suggested discussion questions to promote debate text boxes with helpful summaries case studies and examples an annotated further reading list directing students towards the best articles books and websites a comprehensive glossary providing a handy reference point There is a final chapter on essay writing and exam preparation designed to help students get to grips with the examination board requirements Philosophy for AS and A2 is written by a team of expert teachers based at Heythrop College part of the University of London which specializes in teaching philosophy and theology

Sociology and Ideology Eliezer Ben Rafael, 2003-01-01 Annotation Representing different views on the role of ideology in sociological pursuits and on the sociological study of ideology these seven essays consider the relationship between ideology and relativism modernity economic globalization linguistic pluralism critical reflexivity and identity The authors examine sociological practice as it has varied over time and as it is employed in different geographical locations contrasting sociological work with that of other social sciences Annotation 2004 Book News Inc Portland OR booknews.com

The Reflexive Thesis Malcolm Ashmore, 1989-08-02 This unusually innovative book treats reflexivity not as a philosophical conundrum but as a practical issue that arises in the course of scholarly research and argument In order to demonstrate the concrete and consequential nature of reflexivity Malcolm Ashmore concentrates on an area in which reflexive problems are acute the sociology of scientific knowledge At the forefront of recent radical changes in our understanding of science this increasingly influential mode of analysis specializes in rigorous deconstructions of the research practices and textual products of the scientific enterprise Through a series of detailed examinations of the practices and products of the sociology of scientific knowledge Ashmore turns its own claims and findings back onto itself and opens up a whole new era of exploration beyond the common fear of reflexive self destruction

Routledge International Handbook of Theoretical and Philosophical Psychology Brent D. Slife, Stephen C. Yanchar, Frank C. Richardson, 2021-12-28 Routledge International Handbook of Theoretical and Philosophical Psychology is a compilation of works by leading scholars in theoretical and philosophical psychology that offers critical analyses of and alternatives to current theories and philosophies typically taken for granted in mainstream psychology Within their chapters the expert authors briefly describe accepted theories and philosophies before explaining their problems and exploring fresh new ideas for practice and research These alternative ideas offer thought provoking ways of reinterpreting many aspects of human existence often studied by psychologists Organized into five sections the volume covers the discipline of psychology in general various subdisciplines e g positive psychology and human development concepts of self and identity as well as research and practice Together the chapters present a set of alternative ideas that have the potential to take the field of psychology in fruitful directions not anticipated in more traditional theory and research This handbook will be a valuable resource for students and scholars of the theory assumptions and history of psychology opposed views on truth in order to demonstrate the need for invigorating cross fertilization between the analytic and Continental philosophical traditions By pressing beyond familiar clichés about analytic philosophy and postmodernism a surprising convergence of Searle and Foucault's thought on truth emerge Prado rebuts the analytic impression of Michel Foucault as a radical relativist and shows that Foucault not only is a realist but also is much closer than many imagine to John Searle and Donald Davidson both model analytic thinkers

Understanding the Tacit Stephen P. Turner, 2014-01-21 This book outlines a new account of the tacit meaning tacit knowledge presuppositions practices traditions and so forth It includes essays on topics such as underdetermination and mutual understanding and critical discussions of the major alternative approaches to the tacit including Bourdieu's habitus and various practice theories Oakeshott's account of tradition Quentin Skinner's theory of historical meaning Harry Collins's idea of collective tacit knowledge as well as discussions of relevant cognitive science concepts such as non conceptual content connectionism and mirror neurons The new account of tacit knowledge focuses on the fact that in making the tacit explicit a person is not as many past accounts have supposed reading off the content of some sort of shared and fixed tacit scheme of presuppositions but rather responding to the needs of the Other for understanding

Philosophy of Anthropology and Sociology, 2011-08-12 This volume concerns philosophical issues that arise from the practice of anthropology and sociology The essays cover a wide range of issues including traditional questions in the philosophy of social science as well as those specific to these disciplines Authors attend to the historical development of the current debates and set the stage for future work Comprehensive survey of philosophical issues in anthropology and sociology Historical discussion of important debates Applications to current research in anthropology and sociology

The Routledge Companion to Accounting, Reporting and Regulation Carien van Mourik, Peter Walton, 2013-10-01 Financial accounting reporting and regulation is a vast subject area of huge global importance with interest rising significantly in the light of the ongoing global financial crisis The authors begin with a broad overview of the subject of accounting setting the stage for a discussion on the theoretical and practical issues and debates regarding financial reporting which are expanded on in the second part of the book This includes how to define the reporting entity recognition and measurement of the elements of financial statements fair values in financial reporting and the costs and benefits of disclosure The third part assesses the interest need and theories behind the accounting reporting and regulation industry while parts four and five look at the institutional social and economic aspects with issues such as accounting for environmental management and accounting regulation and financial reporting in Islamic countries both issues of ever increasing importance This authoritative Companion presents a broad overview of the state of these disciplines today and will provide a comprehensive reference source for students and academics involved in accounting regulation and reporting

Post-Popperian Methodology of Economics Neil de Marchi, 2012-12-06 For much of the last three decades or more economic methodology has been dominated by the work of Karl Popper who advocated the position that science is what it is by virtue of its adherence to certain ideals. The methodology of science is therefore not empirical or descriptive but rather a set of rules for producing rational or objective knowledge. This volume presents alternatives to an exclusively Popperian methodology; its purpose is not to reject Popper but to show there are other ways of construing methodology. The book is divided into three parts. Part I contains two critical surveys: one dealing with the rule-based tradition which has had a great influence on economic methodology in the last three decades and the other arguing for the social conditioning of knowledge. Part II is concerned with auxiliary hypotheses needed to link rational choice at the social and individual levels. Part III follows up on aspects raised in linking rational choice at the social and individual levels by looking at specific issues including rhetoric and economics and gender and economic research.
