The Politicization of Russian Orthodoxy

Anastasia V Mitrofanova,2005-07-26 This book analyzes the ideologies of politicized Orthodox Christianity in today Russia including fundamentalism pan Slavism neo Eurasianism Orthodox communism and nationalism Apart from textual analysis the volume provides a description of the specific subculture of political Orthodoxy i e its language symbols art mass media hangouts and dresscode This study represents the first scholarly examination of these topics Unlike other publications on the politicization of Orthodoxy it is focused not on the political ambitions of the Russian Orthodox Church ROC but on political movements ideologically based on their own interpretations of the Orthodox doctrine often contravening the canonical version The book demonstrates that the political Orthodox or Orthodox patriots are a specific branch of believers who frequently do not practice Orthodoxy properly inventing instead their own quasi Orthodox rituals The volume shows that the ROC is not responsible for such religious politicization and that the community of the political Orthodox is rather guided by religiously oriented lay intellectuals The book provides a brief analysis of this intellectual community Finally the volume demonstrates that even in the absence of significant electoral achievements some religio political Orthodox movements namely fundamentalists and nationalists have been able to gain public support at the grassroots level They have been able to infiltrate larger and more moderate political organizations thus contributing to a general Orthodoxization of Russian political discourse

Future of Liberation Theology Ivan Petrella,2006-06-28 There is a notion amongst some academics that Latin American Liberation Theology has had its day a dream killed off by the Nicaraguan and Salvadoran revolutions the 1989 demise of socialism and the end of history claims of the champions of capitalism However in this book Petrella proves this to be an ill conceived notion and shows that this theology can be reinvented to bring its preferential option for the poor into the real world The actualisation of historical projects is possible by adopting the methods developed by the Brazilian champion of critical legal studies Robert Unger Doing so will entail the rejection of these theologians unitary concepts of a despised and rejected capitalism and a canonized and accepted socialism Petrella argues for a reconstruction of these concepts and those of democracy and property too He closely analyses the differences in democracy and capitalism as practised across the USA and Europe in support for the reconstruction of these concepts bringing about far reaching suggestions for the future of liberation theology

Activist Faith Carol Ann Drogus, Hannah Stewart-Gambino, 2009-03-02 An extensive and powerful literature on religion society and politics in Latin America in recent years has begun with the assumption that most of the movements that surged in the struggle against military rule are dead that most of the activists are scattered and burned out and that the promise of civil society as a source of new values and a new kind of citizenship and political life was illusory Many have assumed that the religiously inspired activism of that period left little lasting impact but hardly anyone has actually looked at the activists themselves to see what remains how they cope in a different more open environment and how they see and act on the present and future Activist Faith addresses these issues with a wealth of empirical detail from two key cases and with a richly interdisciplinary argument that draws on theorizing about social movements The authors strive to understand what sustains activism and movements in radically different circumstances from those in which they arose Their analysis is enriched by systematic attention to the impact of gender and gender related issues on activism and movements In the process they shed much needed light on the fate of the activists and social movements that rose to prominence throughout Latin America during the 1980s This beautifully written book is a major achievement that gives us analytical tools for studying how movements and activists survive in the doldrums and when a cycle of protest peaks and societies move on

Patterns Legitimizing Political Violence in Transcultural Perspectives Bettina Koch,2015-05-19 This volume explores theoretical discourses in which religion is used to legitimize political violence It examines the ways in which Christianity and Islam are utilized for political ends in particular how violence is used or abused as an expedient to justify political action This research focuses on premodern as well as contemporary discourses in the Middle East and Latin America identifying patterns frequently used to justify the deployment of violence in both hegemonic and anti hegemonic discourses In addition it explores how premodern arguments and authorities are utilized and transformed in order to legitimize contemporary violence as well as the ways in which the use of religion as a means to justify violence alters the nature of conflicts that are not otherwise explicitly religious It argues that most past and present conflicts even if the discourses about them are conducted in religious terms have origins other than religion and or blend religion with other causes namely socio economic and political injustice and inequality Understanding the use and abuse of religion to justify violence is a prerequisite to discerning the nature of a conflict and might thus contribute to conflict resolution

Popular Voices in Latin American Catholicism Daniel H. Levine, 2014-07-14 Throughout Latin America observers and activists have found in religion a promise of deep and long lasting democratization But for religion to change culture and politics religion itself must change Such change is not only a matter of doctrine ritual or institutional arrangements but also arises out of the needs values and ideas of average believers Combining rich interviews and community studies in Venezuela and Colombia with analysis of broad ideological and institutional transformations Daniel Levine examines how religious and cultural change begins and what gives it substance and lasting impact The author focuses on the creation of self confident popular groups among hitherto isolated and dispirited individuals Once silent voices come to light as peasants and urban barrio dwellers reflect on their upbringing and community on poverty and opportunity on faith prayer and the Bible and on institutions like state school and church Levine also interviews priests sisters and pastoral agents and explains how their efforts shape the links between popular groups and the larger society The result is a clear understanding of how relations among social and cultural levels are maintained and transformed how programs are implemented why they succeed or fail and how change appears both to elites and to ordinary people Originally published in 1992 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905
