Protides Of The Biological Fluids Volume 29:

Protides of the Biological Fluids , Structural Elements of the Nervous System Abel Lajtha, 2013-03-09

Neurochemistry having the objective of elucidating biochemical processes subserving nervous activity emerged as an application of chemistry to the of neurobiological problems as a post World War II phenomenon investigation However only in the last 40 years has the chemical community recognized neurochemistry as a distinct if hybrid discipline During this period great strides have been made However recently neurochemistry along with neu rophysiology neuropharmacology neuroanatomy and the behavioral sci ences has emerged to form neuroscience a new community of scientists with its own national society journals and meetings Actually this recently formed hybrid neuroscience is in the process of merging with another well established discipline molecular genetics frequently called molecular biology and itself a hybrid which appears to have sufficient hybrid vigor to form yet a new community of scientists which for want of a more imaginative term has been called molecular genetic neuroscience Clearly advantages resulting from such mergers or hybridizations accrue not only from the merging discipline neurochemistry in this case to the new community molecular genetic neuroscience but also in the reverse direction This Foreword will be concerned primarily with examples of this latter process Steroid-Protein Interactions II Ulrich Westphal, 2012-12-06 The Enzymes of Biological Membranes A.N. Martonosi, 2012-12-06 In the first edition of The Enzymes of Biological Membranes published in four volumes in 1976 we collected the mass of widely scattered information on membrane linked enzymes and metabolic processes up to about 1975 This was a period of transition from the romantic phase of membrane biochemistry preoccupied with conceptual developments and the general properties of membranes to an era of mounting interest in the specific properties of membrane linked enzymes analyzed from the viewpoints of modem enzymology The level of sophistication in various areas of membrane research varied widely the structures of cytochrome c and cytochrome b5 were known to atomic detail while the majority of membrane linked enzymes had not even been isolated In the intervening eight years our knowledge of membrane linked enzymes ex panded beyond the wildest expectations The purpose of the second edition of The Enzymes of Biological Membranes is to record these developments The first volume describes the physical and chemical techniques used in the analysis of the structure and dynamics of biological membranes In the second volume the enzymes and met abolic systems that participate in the biosynthesis of cell and membrane components are discussed The third and fourth volumes review recent developments in active transport oxidative phosphorylation and photosynthesis Anti-Idiotypes, Receptors, and Molecular Mimicry D. Scott Linthicum, Nadir R. Farid, 2012-12-06 Here is an up to date review of important new methods and results in anti idiotypes receptors and molecular mimicry It begins with a discussion of the theoretical background of the anti idiotypic network it s role in the regulation of immune response and the physical characteristics of anti idiotypic antibodies It then goes on to explore many exciting applications in such areas as insulin action thyroid cell function the neurosciences cardiology virology pharmacology and reproduction Scientific Directory and Annual Bibliography National Institutes of Health (U.S.), Published Scientific Papers of the National Institutes of Health National Institutes of Health (U.S.),1981 Each issue lists papers published during the preceding year Minimal Residual Disease in Acute Leukemia B. Löwenberg,A.

Hagenbeek,2013-11-11 The objective of the treatment of acute leukemia involves the eradication of all neoplastic cells including the last one Ideally treatment should be controlled by monitoring cell kill If the last cells could be discovered and their biological properties be determined the qualitative and quantitative effects of treatment should be directly evaluable This should ultimately permit a calculated tumor cell reduction thereby avoiding overtreatment and excessive toxicity and thus providing a basis for individualized antileukemic treatment In recent years several new developments have contributed to the selective discovery of minimal numbers of leukemic cells which are hidden among the normal cells in the marrow cavities These methods are the first steps to the realization of the therapeutic goals indicated above They include the production and application of monoclonal antibodies against differentiation antigens on the cell surface the use of pulse cytophotometry and cell sorter techniques the employment of cytogenetics the development of culture techniques for selective growth of precursor cells and several others These methodologies offer prospects for refined diagnosis and as far as the elimination of leukemic cells is concerned the further development of autologous bone marrow transplantation Eliminating tumor cells from autologous grafts requires the detailed knowledge of the cellular inter relationships within the neoplasm so that the neoplastic cells responsible for tumor propagation are specifically removed Recognition and characterization of the clonogenic cells of the neoplasm should then lead to determining their sensitivity to the therapeutic agents which are clinically applied Microenvironments in the Lymphoid System G. Klaus,2012-12-06 The Role of
