Dangerous Giving in Nineteenth-Century

American Literature Alexandra Urakova, 2022-04-27 This book explores the dark unruly and self destructive side of gift giving as represented in nineteenth century literary works by American authors It asserts the centrality and relevance of gift exchange for modern American literary and intellectual history and reveals the ambiguity of the gift in various social and cultural contexts including those of race sex gender religion consumption and literature Focusing on authors as diverse as Emerson Kirkland Child Sedgwick Hawthorne Poe Douglass Stowe Holmes Henry James Twain Howells Wilkins Freeman and

O Henry as well as lesser known obscure and anonymous authors Dangerous Giving explores ambivalent relations between dangerous gifts modern ideology of disinterested giving and sentimental tradition Sex and Citizenship in Antebellum America Nancy Isenberg, 2000-11-09 With this book Nancy Isenberg illuminates the origins of the women's rights movement Rather than herald the singular achievements of the 1848 Seneca Falls convention she examines the confluence of events and ideas before and after 1848 that in her view marked the real birth of feminism Drawing on a wide range of sources she demonstrates that women's rights activists of the antebellum era crafted a coherent feminist critique of church state and family In addition Isenberg shows they developed a rich theoretical tradition that influenced not only subsequent strains of feminist thought but also ideas about the nature of citizenship and rights more generally By focusing on rights discourse and political theory Isenberg moves beyond a narrow focus on suffrage Democracy was in the process of being redefined in antebellum America by controversies over such volatile topics as fugitive slave laws temperance Sabbath laws capital punishment prostitution the Mexican War married women's property rights and labor reform all of which raised significant legal and constitutional questions These pressing concerns debated in women's rights conventions and the popular press were inseparable from the gendered meaning of nineteenth century citizenship A New-England Tale; Or, Sketches of New-England Character and Manners Catharine Maria Sedgwick, 1995-09-28 The Early American Women Writers series offers rare works of fiction by eighteenth and nineteenth century women each reprinted in its entirety each with a foreword by General Editor Cathy N Davidson who places the novel in a historical and literary perspective Ranging from serious cautionary tales about moral corruption to amusing and trenchant social satire these books provide today's reader with a unique window into the earliest American popular fiction and way of life Written in 1822 A New England Tale is the first of Catharine Sedgwick's twenty novels in addition to the one hundred short magazine pieces she published in her lifetime The story of an orphan girl in rural New England and the moral and religious trials she faces as she grows up this intriguing portrait provides a unique look at the religious and political climate of this crucial period in America's development as a country Addressing many of the complex religious political and philosophical issues of the time as well as theoretical issues of the woman writer A New England Tale is a classic nineteenth century story of a young woman's moral and material triumphs The Poets of Tin Pan Alley Philip Furia, 1992-06-25 From the turn of the century to the 1960s the songwriters of Tin Pan Alley dominated American music Irving Berlin Cole Porter George and Ira Gershwin Rodgers and Hart even today these giants remain household names their musicals regularly revived their methods and styles analyzed and imitated and their songs the bedrock of jazz and cabaret In The Poets of Tin Pan Alley Philip Furia offers a unique new perspective on these great songwriters showing how their poetic lyrics were as important as their brilliant music in shaping a golden age of American popular song Furia writes with great perception and understanding as he explores the deft rhymes inventive imagery and witty solutions these songwriters used to breathe new life into rigidly established genres He devotes full chapters to all the greats including Irving Berlin Lorenz Hart Ira Gershwin Cole Porter Oscar Hammerstein II Howard Dietz E Y Harburg Dorothy Fields Leo Robin and Johnny Mercer Furia also offers a comprehensive survey of other lyricists who wrote for the sheet music industry Broadway Hollywood and Harlem nightclub revues This was the era that produced The New Yorker Don Marquis Dorothy Parker and E B White and Furia places the lyrics firmly in this fascinating historical context In these pages the lyrics emerge as an important element of American modernism as the lyricists like the great modernist poets took the American vernacular and made it sing

The Publishing History of Uncle Tom's Cabin, 1852-2002 Claire Parfait, 2016-12-05 Uncle Tom's Cabin continues to provoke impassioned discussions among scholars to serve as the inspiration for theater film and dance and to be the locus of much heated debate surrounding race relations in the United States It is also one of the most remarkable print based texts in U S publishing history And yet until now no book length study has traced the tumultuous publishing history of this most famous of antislavery novels Among the major issues Claire Parfait addresses in her detailed account are the conditions of female authorship the structures of copyright author publisher relations agency and literary economics To follow the trail of the book over 150 years is to track the course of American culture and to read the various editions is to gain insight into the most basic structures formations and formulations of literary culture during the period Parfait interrelates the cultural status of this still controversial novel with its publishing history and thus also chronicles the changing mood and mores of the nation during the past century and a half Scholars of Stowe of American literature and culture and of publishing history will find this impressive and compelling work invaluable

The Disobedient Writer Nancy A. Walker, 1995 For centuries women who aspired to write had to enter a largely male literary tradition that offered few if any literary forms in which to express their perspectives on lived experience Since the nineteenth century however women writers and readers have been producing disobedient counter narratives that while clearly making reference to the original texts overturn their basic assumptions This book looks at both canonical and non canonical works over a variety of fiction and nonfiction genres that offer counter readings of familiar Western narratives Nancy Walker begins by probing women s revisions of two narrative traditions pervasive in Western culture the biblical story of Adam and Eve and the traditional fairy tales that have served as paradigms of women s behavior and expectations She goes on to examine the works of a wide range of writers from contemporaries Marilynne Robinson Ursula Le Guin Anne Sexton Fay Weldon Angela Carter and Margaret Atwood to precursors Caroline Kirkland Fanny Fern Mary De Morgan Mary Louisa Molesworth Edith Nesbit and Evelyn Sharp

Women of War, Women of Woe Marion Ann Taylor, Christiana de Groot, 2016 Recovering a neglected chapter of reception history this unique volume gathers select writings by thirty five nineteenth century women on the stories of several women in Joshua and Judges including Rahab Deborah Jael and Delilah Back cover

Women and Literary Celebrity in the Nineteenth Century Brenda R. Weber, 2016-02-11 Focusing on representations of women s literary celebrity in nineteenth century biographies autobiographical accounts periodicals and fiction Brenda R Weber examines the transatlantic cultural politics of visibility in relation to gender sex and the body Looking both at discursive patterns and specific Anglo American texts that foreground the figure of the successful woman writer Weber argues that authors such as Elizabeth Gaskell Fanny Fern Mary Cholmondeley Margaret Oliphant Elizabeth Robins Eliza Potter and Elizabeth Keckley helped create an intelligible category of the famous writer that used celebrity as a leveraging tool for altering perceptions about femininity and female identity Doing so Weber demonstrates involved an intricate gender sex negotiation that had ramifications for what it meant to be public professional intelligent and extraordinary Weber s persuasive account elucidates how Gaskell s biography of Charlotte Bront served simultaneously to support claims for Bront s genius and to diminish Bront s body in compensation for the magnitude of those claims thus serving as a touchstone for later representations of women s literary genius and celebrity Fanny Fern for example adapts Gaskell s maneuvers on behalf of Charlotte Bront to portray the weak woman s body becoming strong as it is made visible through and celebrated within the literary marketplace Throughout her study Weber analyzes the complex codes connected to transatlantic formations of gender sex the body and literary celebrity as women authors proactively resisted an intense backlash against their own success

Women, America, and Movement Susan L. Roberson, 1998 Since the colonial days American women have traveled migrated and relocated always faced with the challenge of reconstructing their homes for themselves and their families Women America and Movement offers a journey through largely unexplored territory the experiences of migrating American women These narratives both real and imagined represent a range of personal and critical perspectives some of the women describe their travels as expansive and freeing while others relate the dreadful costs and sacrifices of relocating Despite the range of essays featured in this study the writings all coalesce around the issues of politics poetry and self identity described by Adrienne Rich as the elements of the politics of location treated here as the politics of relocation The narratives featured in this book explore the impact of race class and sexual economics on migratory women their self identity and their roles in family and social life These issues demonstrate that in addition to geographic place ideology is itself a space to be traversed By examining the writings of such women as Louise Erdrich Zora Neale Hurston and Gertrude Stein the essayists included in this volume offer a variety of experiences The book confronts such issues as racist politicking against Native Americans African Americans and Asian immigrants sexist attitudes that limit women to the roles of wife mother and sexual object and exploitation of migrants from Appalachia and of women newly arrived in America These essays also delve into the writings themselves by looking at what happens to narrative structure as authors or their characters cross geographic boundaries The reader sees how women writers negotiate relocation in their texts and how the written word becomes a place where one finds oneself

Narratives of Community Roxanne Harde, 2009-03-26 Narratives of Community draws together essays that examine short story sequences by women through the lenses of Sandra Zagarell's theoretical essay Narrative of Community Reading texts from countries around the world the collection's twenty-two contributors expand scholarship on the genre as they employ diverse theoretical models to consider how female identity is negotiated in community or the roles of women in domestic social and literary community Grouped into four sections based on these examinations the essays demonstrate how Zagarell's theory can provide a point of reference for multiple approaches to women's writing as they read the semiotic systems of community While narrative of community provides an organizing principle behind this collection these essays offer critical approaches grounded in a wide variety of disciplines Zagarell contributes the collection's concluding essay in which she provides a series of reflections on literary and cultural representations of community on generic categorizations of community and on regionalism and narrative of community as she returns to theoretical ground she first broke almost twenty years ago Overall these essays bring their contributors and readers into a community engaged with a narrative genre that inspires and affords a rich and growing tradition of scholarship With Narratives of Community editor Roxanne Harde offers a wealth of critical essays on a wide variety of women's linked series of short stories essays that can be seen overall to explore the genre as a kind of meeting house of fictional form and meaning for an inclusive sororal community The book itself joins a growing critical community of monographs and essay collections that have been critically documenting the rise of the modern genre of the story cycle to a place second only to the novel But more than simply joining this critical venture Narratives of Community makes a major contribution to studies in the short story feminist theory women's studies and genre theory Its introduction and essays should prove of enduring interest to scholars and critics in these fields as well as continue highly useful in the undergraduate and graduate classrooms Gerald Lynch Professor of English University of Ottawa The introduction by Prof Harde and the 20 essays in the book dialogue with Sandra Zagarell's proposed paradigm narratives of community which other scholars have called short story cycles or story sequences Zagarell's proposal organically blends a generic model with a thematic concern to explain how women writing community often turn to a particular narrative style that itself supports the literary creation of that community Harde and the volume contributors appropriate this brilliant and engaging proposal in the context of other crucial discussions of the genre notably Forest Ingram's germinal study J. Gerald Kennedy's work and those by Robert Luscher Maggie Dunn and Anne Morris James Nagel Gerald Lynch and I'm honored to note my own study on Asian American short story cycles to expand the range of the critical discussion on the form The quality and diversity of the essays remind us that there is still much work that can be done in the area of genre studies The volume emphasizes an important caveat to one vital misconception that although writers like James Joyce or Sherwood Anderson are thought to be the precursors or even inventors of the form women's sequences by Sara Orne Jewett and Elizabeth Gaskell among others actually predate the work of the male writers This fact suggests that the development of the form as a genre that attends to specific perspectives or creative formulations of and by women needs to be considered in depth The temporal scope of the volume is therefore a vital contribution to scholarship on the form as is the diversity of the writers analyzed Indeed the examination of narratives by writers from different countries and that focus on characters from different time periods racial religious or ethnic communities and social class impels a multilayered reading of the texts that inevitably promotes a nuanced understanding of the project of each of the writers a project that connects issues of individuality and community in varied and often surprising ways The essays thus critically explore the notion of community in its myriad associations with the individual and as a crucial site not only for women's action upon the world but also for her creative endeavors The essays in the volume revisit familiar texts Naylor's The Women of Brewster Place Cisneros's The House on Mango Street Kingston's The Woman Warrior Welty's The Golden Apples Munro's The Lives of Girls and Women among others but offer new perspectives on the way form interacts with issues of women's communities and women creating community in these works Significantly it also offers readings on texts that have not been analyzed in detail from this perspective Gaskell's Cranford or Woolf's A Haunted House for example thus contributing to a continuing conversation about the ways women write The juxtaposition of the familiar and the new expand the paradigms of current criticism not only on the story cycle but also on women's writing in general Rocio Davis Professor of Literature University of Navarre Roxanne Harde's forthcoming volume Narratives of Community: Women's Short Story Sequences provides an abundant collection of varied responses to Sandra Zagarell's longstanding call for further in-depth exploration of the genre that Zagarell christened the narrative of community in her 1988 essay linking non-novelistic narrative form with representations of female experience As Harde observes such narratives of community overlap significantly with the growing canon of unified but discontinuous collections of autonomous stories that critics have variously labeled as the short story cycle sequence composite The essays in her collection examine a rich variety of such works by women extending the scholarship in this area Harde's ample collection of essays presents a concerted and diverse exploration of the implications of the short story sequence form as a representation of women's lives as part of and in conflict with membership in a community Overall Harde's volume is a welcome addition to current scholarship on the short story sequence bringing in a variety of new voices and perspectives to the community of scholars who have engaged in the exploration of this paradoxical evolving and increasingly popular genre

Dr Luscher A Gendered Collision Rhonda S. Pettit, 2000 As documented in her poetry and fiction Parker's modernism moves beyond a narrow set of aesthetic principles it carries the remnants from a collision of competing values those of nineteenth century sentimentalism and twentieth century decadence and modernism Her works display the intense dynamic in which early twentieth century literature and art were created
