The Forgotten Chaucer Scholarship of Mary Eliza Haweis, 1848-1898 Mary Flowers Braswell, 2016-06-17 The author of numerous books on Geoffrey Chaucer the nineteenth century scholar Mary Eliza Haweis has been largely erased from general histories of Chaucer studies In her critical biography Mary Flowers Braswell traces Haweis's career bringing her out of obscurity and placing her contributions to Chaucer scholarship in the context of those of influential Chaucerians of the period such as Frederick James Furnivall Walford Dakin Selby and Walter Rye Braswell draws on extensive archival research from a broad range of late Victorian newspapers journals and society papers to weave a fascinating picture of Haweis's own life and work which in quantity and quality rivaled that of her contemporaries Haweis we discover corrected assumptions related to the Chaucer seal and texts bringing her findings to the attention of the public in works such as Chaucer for Schools the first textbook on the poet Braswell also sheds light on the ways in which fashion society culture art and leisure activities intermingled with scholarship archival recovery museum work editing writing and publishing in the late Victorian middle and upper classes Concluding with a discussion of Haweis's forgotten role as head of the Chaucer section for the National Home Reading Union Braswell's book makes a strong case both for Haweis's influence as a Chaucer scholar and her importance as an educator in nineteenth century Britain and the United States

Medieval Art and Architecture after the Middle Ages Alyce A. Jordan, Janet T. Marquardt, 2009-01-14 Medieval Art and Architecture after the Middle Ages explores the endurance of and nostalgia for medieval monuments through their reception in later periods specifically illuminating the myriad ways in which tangible and imaginary artifacts of the Middle Ages have served to articulate contemporary aspirations and anxieties. The essays in this interdisciplinary collection examine the afterlife of medieval works through their preservation, restoration, appropriation, and commodification in America, Great Britain, and across Europe from the sixteenth to the twentieth century. From the evocation of metaphors and tropes to monumental projects of restoration and recreation, medieval visual culture has had a tremendous purchase in the construction of political, religious, and cultural practices of the Modern era. The authors assembled here engage a diverse spectrum of works from Irish ruins and a former Florentine prison to French churches and American department stores and an equally diverse array of media ranging from architecture and manuscripts to embroidery, monumental sculpture, and metalwork. With applications not only to the study of art and architecture but also encompassing such varied fields as commerce, city planning, education, literature, collecting, and exhibition design, this copiously illustrated anthology comprises a significant contribution to the study of medieval art and medievalism.

Play Among Books Miro Roman, Alice_ch3n81, 2021-12-06 How does coding change the way we think about architecture? This question opens up an important research perspective. In this book, Miro Roman and his AI Alice_ch3n81 develop a playful scenario in which they propose coding as the new literacy of information. They convey knowledge in the form of a project model that links the fields of architecture and information through two interwoven narrative strands in an infinite flow of real books. Focusing on the intersection of information technology and architectural formulation, the authors create an evolving intellectual reflection on digital architecture and computer science.

The Discipline of Organizing: Core Concepts Edition Robert J. Glushko, 2016-08-05 We organize things. We organize information, information about things, and information about information. Organizing is a fundamental issue in many professional fields, but these fields have only limited agreement in how they approach problems of organizing and in what they seek as their solutions. The Discipline of Organizing synthesizes insights from library science, information science, computer science, cognitive science, systems analysis, business, and other disciplines to create an Organizing System for understanding organizing. This framework is robust and forward-looking, enabling effective sharing of insights and design patterns between disciplines that weren't possible before The 4th edition of this award winning and widely adopted text adds content to bridge between the foundations of organizing systems and the new statistical and computational techniques of data science because at its core data science is about how resources are described and organized The 4th edition reframes descriptive statistics as organizing techniques expands the treatment of classification to include computational methods and incorporates many new examples of data driven resource selection organization maintenance and personalization The Core Concepts edition is an abridged version that is simpler to read because it does not tempt the reader with the deep scholarly web of endnotes contained in the Professional edition Instead it seeks to reinforce the concepts and design patterns with numerous Stop and Think exercises and omits some of the theoretical nuance of the Professional edition to put more emphasis on concrete examples     The Catholic Periodical and Literature Index ,2005
