Readings in Organization Theory: Open-system Approaches John G. Maurer, 1971 Readings in Organization Theory: Open-system Approaches John G. Maurer, 1971 Open Standards and the Digital Age Andrew L. Russell, 2014-04-28

How did openness become a foundational value for the networks of the twenty first century Open Standards and the Digital Age answers this question through an interdisciplinary history of information networks that pays close attention to the politics of standardization For much of the twentieth century information networks such as the monopoly Bell System and the American military s Arpanet were closed systems subject to centralized control In the 1970s and 1980s however engineers in the United States and Europe experimented with design strategies to create new digital networks In the process they embraced discourses of openness to describe their ideological commitments to entrepreneurship technological innovation and participatory democracy The rhetoric of openness has flourished for example in movements for open government open source software and open access publishing but such rhetoric also obscures the ways the Internet and other open systems still depend heavily on hierarchical forms of control Handbook for Professional Development in Human Services William L. Mermis, Joann Chenault, 1979 Professionals and Urban Form Judith R. Blau, Mark E. La Gory, John S. Pipkin, 1984-06-30 Professionals and Urban Form departs from the usual way of studying the city to examine the chief professions responsible for designing urban places planning and architecture Not often treated together they are here combined to highlight common problems and lines of convergence between the two The architects planners and social scientists who contributed to this book concern themselves with the interconnection between knowledge and practice in planning and architecture paying particular attention to the issues of whether design knowledge and theory can or should be distinct from social science knowledge and the effects of professionalization and institutionalization on the structuring of inquiry and theory The main sections of the book deal with the history of the design professions epistemological foundations professions and practice and controversies in practice Many issues of contemporary interest to planners are dealt with including the debates over normative advocacy and communicative planning Marxist perspectives supply and demand in the job market for architects and the overarching epistemological question of the relationship between social science research and design practice International Encyclopedia of Organization Studies Stewart Clegg, James R. Bailey, 2008 Describing the field spanning individual organisation societal and cultural perspectives in a cross disciplinary manner this is the premier reference tool for students lecturers academics and practitioners to gather knowledge about a range of important topics from the perspective of organisation studies Communication Yearbook 30 Christina S. Beck, 2012-12-06 Communication Yearbook 30 continues the tradition of publishing rich state of the discipline literature reviews This volume offers insightful descriptions of research as well as reflections on the implications of those findings for other areas of the discipline Editor Christina S Beck presents a diverse international selection of articles that highlight empirical and theoretical intersections in the communication discipline Chapters in this volume include reviews of literature on gain framed and loss framed messages conversational topic organizational rhetoric work life research collaboration bullying forgiveness language revitalization Latina o representation in the media and television viewing patterns of older adults This volume will be valuable to scholars across the communication discipline Communication Yearbook 30 will be particularly beneficial to scholars in the areas of interpersonal health organizational family and intercultural communication language and social interaction and media studies Lawyers in Corporate Decision-Making Robert Eli Rosen,2010-11-18 The recognized social policy study of the disparate roles corporate lawyers play in representing and advising their institutional clients Long passed around and cited by scholars and lawyers as an unpublished manuscript the book explores the choices lawyers and executives make about how they are involved in corporate decisions It is accessible to a wide audience and includes inside interviews Plantation Politics and Campus Rebellions Bianca C. Williams,Dian D. Squire, Frank A. Tuitt,2021-03-01 Plantation Politics and Campus Rebellions provides a multidisciplinary exploration of the contemporary university s entanglement with the history of slavery and settler colonialism in the United States Inspired by more than a hundred student led protests during the Movement for Black Lives contributors examine how campus rebellions and university responses to them expose the racialized inequities at the core of higher education Plantation politics are embedded in the everyday workings of universities in not only the physical structures and spaces of academic institutions but in its recruitment and attainment strategies hiring practices curriculum and notions of sociality safety and community The book is comprised of three sections that highlight how white supremacy shapes campus communities and classrooms how current diversity and inclusion initiatives perpetuate inequality and how students staff and faculty practice resistance in the face of institutional and legislative repression Each chapter interrogates a connection between the academy and the plantation exploring how Black people and their labor are viewed as simultaneously essential and disruptive to university cultures and economies The volume is an indispensable read for students faculty student affairs professionals and administrators invested in learning more about how power operates within education and imagining emancipatory futures Determinants of Level of Sustainability Report Clement Lamboi Arthur, PhD,2018-01-26 This book examines the determinants of the level of sustainability reports of mining companies in Ghana in the absence of regulatory and statutory requirements It adopted the use of content analysis by probing the question of whether there is an effect of factors such as size growth rate profitability efficiency gearing ratio working capital ratio age and complexity of the mining companies on the level of disclosure in sustainability report The book also reviewed some of the traditional theories used in the accounting literature to examine sustainability reporting practices The book also provides insights into the various sustainability reporting initiatives South African Business in China Kelly Meng,2021-12-26 Sino African relations have evoked a great deal of geo strategic interest in recent years Most attention has focused on China s assistance to and growing involvement in the economic development of several African nations Far less emphasis has been placed on Africans in China and on African actors involvement in the Chinese economy despite the importance of both to genuinely bilateral economic relations This is one of the first studies to focus on South African foreign direct investment FDI in Mainland China The research aims to identify and specify the key institutional factors that have contributed to the effectiveness or otherwise of South African firms entering and operating within the Chinese market The research also investigates the characteristics and processes that have effectively shaped South African firms business strategies to negotiate the current Chinese institutional environment The study s primary empirical contribution is ten real life case studies drawn from a cross section of South African business actors who have sought to penetrate the Chinese market These case studies are interrogated conceptually by means of a three dimensional institutional model which explores the role of formal and informal business processes and practices in influencing business success and failure in the Sino South African context It will be of value to researchers academics policymakers Sino African business practitioners and advanced students in the fields of international business political economy strategy and Asian and African studies The Learning Congregation Thomas R. Hawkins,1997-01-01

Congregations today face an adaptive challenge of immense proportions Many respond with classic signs of work avoidance holding to past assumptions and blaming authority Thomas Hawkins s new vision of church leadership can provide a way to break through these defensive routines The Learning Congregation is a must read for all pastors and church leaders

The SAGE Handbook of Organizational Institutionalism Royston Greenwood,Christine Oliver,Thomas B. Lawrence,Renate E. Meyer,2017-05-01 The SAGE Handbook of Organizational Institutionalism brings together extensive coverage of aspects of Institutional Theory and an array of top academic contributors Now in its Second Edition the book has been thoroughly revised and reorganised with all chapters updated to maintain a mix of theory how to conduct institutional organizational analysis and contemporary empirical work New chapters on Translation Networks and Institutional Pluralism are included to reflect new directions in the field The Second Edition has also been reorganized into six parts Part One Beginnings Foundations Part Two Organizations and their Contexts Part Three Institutional Processes Part Four Conversations Part Five Consequences Part Six Reflections

Microfoundations of Institutions Patrick Haack,Jost Sieweke,Lauri Wessel,2019-11-25 The notion of microfoundations has received growing interest in neo institutional theory along with an increasing interest in microfoundational research in disciplines such as strategic management and organizational economics

Neighborhood Organization and Interest-Group Processes David J. O'Brien,2015-03-08 Since the end of the civil rights era in the sixties it has become increasingly clear that social and political conflicts cannot be resolved entirely at the national level Struggles between residents of poor neighborhoods and local interest groups or public authorities present some of our most explosive domestic political problems today This study seeks insight into these problems through an analysis of efforts during the sixties to organize the poor to pursue their interests in local decision making processes David J O Brien holds that both organizers and scholarly observers of the grass roots movement have failed to understand properly the process by which interest groups are formed Arguing that the demise of neighborhood organization cannot be attributed to supposedly unique social psychological or cultural characteristics of the poor he develops an analytical framework that emphasizes the strategic role of incentives and organizational resource problems This framework helps explain not only the failure of organizers in the sixties to grasp the problems of interest group formation but also the assumptions that prevented them from identifying the source of their frustration The author assesses the different approaches that have been taken to neighborhood organization and outlines a model for future efforts Originally published in 1976 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905 Personnel Literature ,1974
