Schneider, Grazia Attili, Jacqueline Nadel, Roger P. Weissberg, 2012-12-06 What determines the focus of a researcher s interest the sources of inspiration for a study or the variables scrutinized If we were to examine the antecedents of these decisions they would surely emerge as accidents of circumstance the personal experiences of the researcher the inspiration of early mentors the influence of contemporary colleagues all tempered by the intellectual currents that nurture the researcher's hypotheses. Among the accidents that mold the careers of researchers is geographic location. The culture in which a research program emerges helps determine both its very subject and its method. The primary purpose of this book is to assist those interested in the scientific study of children's social competence in transcending the boundaries imposed both by geography and by selective exposure to the highly diverse schools of thought that have led to interest in this field. Most of these ideas were presented and exchanged at an Advanced Study Institute entitled Social Competence in Developmental Perspective held in Savoie, France, in July 1988. This Institute was attended by scholars from France, England, Northern Ireland, Germany, Italy, Norway, Spain, Portugal, Netherlands, Canada, the United States, and Brazil. Those who participated will recognize that the metamorphosis from lecture to chapter has necessitated many changes. In order to accommodate the reader who may be unfamiliar with the field, more attention has been paid here to identifying the theoretical contexts of the research described.

Low-Cost Approaches to Promote Physical and Mental Health Luciano L'Abate, 2007-06-06. Most physical and mental health professionals will agree that their time, space, and funds are generally in short supply even under optimal conditions. Their participants, clients, or patients too will admit to similar deficits of time and patience even with optimal motivation. Overburdened mental health facilities are trying to cope with limited budgets and overworked and underpaid personnel. Low Cost Approaches to Promote Physical and Mental Health addresses both sides of this shortfall by offering either self-administered or easily administered verbal and non-verbal interventions designed to promote positive health behaviors while requiring little or no outside funding. Editor Luciano L'Abate continues his long tradition of prolific innovations by identifying major changes in today's health care systems and explaining how targeted prescriptive promotion/prevention strategies can enhance traditional primary, secondary, and tertiary interventions in key behavioral and relational areas: Nutrition, weight, obesity control, diets, meal planning, vitamins and minerals, herbal supplements, Exercise, expressive movement, relaxation, meditation, and mindfulness. Writing for mental health promotion from structured protocols/workbooks to less structured, focused, expressive, and guided writing including diaries and autobiographies. Sex, sexuality, affection, intimacy, and fear of intimacy. Mother-child bonding as well as couple and family togetherness. Spirituality and forgiveness in dealing with inevitable life hurts and disappointments. Friendships and support groups. Plus leading edge interventions including emotional intelligence, animal companionship, and computer technology. Reviews of each promotional approach are engaging, effective, and consistent with standard psychological practice for lasting results, either away from or in addition to non-clinical and clinical settings: schools, hospitals, senior/citizen centers, etc. L'Abate and his fifty colleagues have designed a future-oriented sourcebook for mental and public health professionals who want to maximize their resources and those of their participants.
