Anderson,1997 The second edition of this successful book addresses how technologies evolve and how they drive the need for organizational change and adaptation Focusing on the general management challenges that innovative firms face the editors draw from a variety of disciplines and demonstrate the linksbetween innovation organizational competencies organizational architectures executive teams and managing change The Oxford Handbook of Innovation Management Mark

Dodgson,David M. Gann,Nelson Phillips,2014 While innovation is widely recognised as being critical to organisational success and the well being of societies it requires careful management to ensure that innovation processes have the best possible impact This volume provides a wide range of perspectives on the nature of innovation management and its influences Public Policy and the Management of Innovation in Technology-based Entrepreneurship Michael W.

Lawless,1996 This text takes a broad look at the aspects that affect the creation and growth of technology based entrepreneurship from the process by which entrepreneurial firms are created to the role of governments in creating them and to their management Innovation, Science, and Institutional Change Jerald Hage,Marius Meeus,2006-10-26

Innovation is central to the dynamics and success of organizations and society in the modern world the process famously referred to by Schumpeter as gales of creative destruction This ambitious and wide ranging book makes the case for a new approach to the study of innovation It is the editors conviction that this approach must accomplish several objectives it must recognise that innovation encompasses changes in organizations and society as well as products and processes it must be genuinely interdisciplinary and include contributes from economics sociology management and political science It must be international to reflect both different patterns or systems of innovation and different research traditions and it must reflect the fundamental changes taking place in science research and knowledge creation at all levels To this end they have gathered together a distinguished group of economists sociologists political scientists and organization innovation and institutional theorists to both assess current research on innovation and to set out a new research agenda This has been achieved through careful planning and development of the project and also through the ensuing structure of the book which looks in turn at Product and Process Innovation perhaps the best established focus of existing research on innovation Scientific Research assessing the changing character of basic research and science policy Knowledge Dynamics in Context encompassing organizational learning in all its aspects and Institutional Change an analysis of the institutional context that can shape enable and constrain innovation This carefully integrated and wide ranging book will be an ideal reference point for academics and researchers across the Social Sciences interested in all dimensions of innovation be they in the field of Management Studies Economics Organization Studies Sociology Political Science and Science and Technology Studies
