Real and Imagined Worlds Morroe Berger, 1977      Fiction and Social Reality Mariano Longo, 2016-03-09 In spite of their differing rhetorics and cognitive strategies sociology and literature are often concerned with the same objects social relationships action motivation social constraints and relationships for example As such sociologists have always been fascinated with fictional literature This book reinvigorates the debate surrounding the utility of fiction as a sociological resource examining the distinction between the two forms of writing and exploring the views of early sociologists on the suitability of subjecting literary sources to sociological analysis Engaging with contemporary debates in this field the author explores the potential sociological use of literary fiction considering the role of literature as the exemplification of sociological concepts a non technical confirmation of theoretical insights and a form of empirical material used to confirm a set of theoretically oriented assumptions A fascinating exploration of the means by which the sociological eye can be sharpened by engagement with literary sources Fiction and Social Reality offers a set of methodological principles according to which literature can be examined sociologically As such it will appeal to scholars of sociology and literary studies with interests in research methods and interdisciplinary approaches to scholarly research      Routledge Revivals: Barnaby Rudge \(1987\) ) Thomas Jackson Rice, 2018-02-01 Originally published in 1987 Barnaby Rudge is a comprehensive collection of bibliographical resources surrounding Dickens fifth novel Barnaby Rudge The book addresses what the author terms a prevalent lack of research surrounding the novel The collection lists bibliographic references which not only looks at the novel itself but also covers older resources that interested Dicken s first critics such as the originality of the settings and characters The book s core focus is examining the novel s historical subject matter in the context of the social and political context in which it was written The book acts as a core resource for research on Barnaby Rudge      Fiction as Research Practice Patricia Leavy, 2016-06-16 Patricia Leavy herself both a highly published qualitative researcher and a novelist explores the overlaps and intersections between these two ways of understanding and describing human experience including a methodological introduction and five stories showing these methods in action      The Individual and the Authority Figure in Egyptian Prose Literature Yona Sheffer, 2018-05-15 The Individual and the Authority Figure in Egyptian Prose Literature explores and analyses political conflicts between individuals and authority figures as those conflicts are depicted in thirteen Egyptian novels written from 1957 to the last years of Mubarak s presidency The book discusses the various reasons that lead an individual or a group of people from all strata of society common people intellectuals and public figures to confront policemen senior security officials and even the heads of the state It further examines how the conflicts develop and what their outcomes are in the short term as well as in the long term for both the individuals and the authority figures In this context the volume also examines the possibility of standing against an oppressive regime and even overcoming it This text argues that while the authority figure initially subdues individuals who confront them their victory is short term In the long term their cruelties bring about sown deaths either by the individuals themselves or by their relatives Furthermore large assemblies of people can confront the regime with success These discoveries along with other findings presented in the book remain relevant to the reality in the Middle East and the events leading to the Arab Spring their being both individual and social      Fiction and the Ways of Knowing Avrom Fleishman, 2014-07-03 In this highly individual study Avrom Fleishman explores a wide range of literary references to human culture the culture of ideas facts and images Each critical essay in Fiction and the Ways of Knowing takes up for sustained analysis a major British novel of the nineteenth or the twentieth century The novels are analyzed in the light of social historical philosophical and other perspectives that can be grouped under the human sciences The diversity of critical contexts in these thirteen essays is organized by Avrom Fleishman's governing belief in the interrelations of literature and other ways of interpreting the world The underlying assumptions of this approach as explained in his introductory essay are that fiction is capable of encompassing even the most recondite facts and recalcitrant ideas that fiction though never a mirror of reality is linked to realities and takes part in the real and that a critical reading may be informed by scientific knowledge without reducing the literary work to a schematic formula Fleishman investigates the matters of fact and belief that make up the designated meanings the intellectual contexts and the speculative parallels in three types of novel Some of the novels discussed make it clear that their authors are informed on matters beyond the nonspecialist's range these essays help bridge this information gap Other fictional works are only to be grasped in an awareness of the cultural lore tacitly distributed in their own time a modern reader must make the effort to fathom their anachronisms And other novels can be found to open passageways that their authors can only have glimpsed intuitively these must be pursued with great caution but equal diligence The novels discussed include Little Dorrit The Way We Live Now Daniel Deronda The Return of the Native and The Magus Also examined are Wuthering Heights Vanity Fair Northanger Abbey To the Lighthouse Under Western Eyes Ulysses and A Passage to India

The Dawn of Industrial Agriculture in Iowa E. Paul Durrenberger, 2021-11-15 In The Dawn of Industrial Agriculture in Iowa E. Paul Durrenberger recounts the transformation of Iowa's family farms into today's agricultural industry through the lens of the lives and writings of Iowa novelist Paul Corey and poet Ruth Lechlitner This anthropological biography analyzes Corey's fiction Lechlitner's poetry and their professional and personal correspondence to offer a new perspective on an era 1925-1947 that saw the collapse and remaking of capitalism in the United States the rise of communism in the Soviet Union the rise and defeat of fascism around the world and the creation of a continuous warfare state in America Durrenberger tells the story that Corey aimed to record and preserve of the industrialization of Iowa's agriculture and the death of its family farms He analyzes Corey's regionalist focus on Iowa farming and regionalism's contemporaneous association in Europe with rising fascism He explores Corey's adoption of naturalism evident in his resistance to heroes and villains to plot structure and resolution and to moral judgment as well as his ethnographic tendency to focus on groups rather than individuals An unusual and wide-ranging study The Dawn of Industrial Agriculture in Iowa offers important insight into the relationships among fiction individual lives and anthropological practice as well as into a pivotal period in American history      Documentary Research in Education, History, and the Social Sciences Gary McCulloch, 2004 This up to
