

CASE STUDY

About the Company

- Digital real estate investment company
- Manages a portfolio of over 4 million domain names
- Specializes in domain monetization and development
- Features a domain name marketplace with presence in more than 100 countries

Goals

- Automate domain valuation process for acquisition purposes
- Decrease expenditure in manual pricing of domain names
- Identify low-value domains to drop them and reduce renewal costs

Approach

- Develop a statistical model relating domain characteristics with selling price
- The statistical model would also classify the domains into various categories to streamline the company's workflow
- Deploy the model to use it as a real-time decision tool

Digital Real Estate Portfolio Manager Utilizes Statistical Model to Streamline their Domain Name Trading Procedures.

The company specializes in Digital Real Estate Management. Their main business line consists of purchasing domain names, attempting to increase their value (by monetizing them, driving traffic to them, etc.) and then sell them at a higher price.

The most important challenge facing this company lies in the domain valuation procedure. For most domain names, the price was assessed by conducting a "manual" review, which consists of a review done by the company's staff and a pricing recommendation based on it.

Given the large amount of domain names that become available for purchasing every day, this procedure is extremely costly, time-consuming, and error-prone. Precision Consulting was approached to:

- Review and analyze a database of billions of domain names and their characteristics, such as existing traffic, keyword value, Alexa ranking, number of inbound links, etc.
- Based on this dataset, develop a model that would help:
 - produce an estimate of the value of the domain
 - categorize the domain into "valueless", "automatic pricing" or "premium"

Solution

Precision Consulting worked with the company to understand its goals and analysis objectives. Precision's expertise in Statistical Modeling allowed creating a model that would produce a forecast of the domain name price based solely on the available information about the domain, without any human intervention required.

The modeling was conducted in two steps. First, a binary logistic regression model was used to estimate the probability that the company would be able to sell a given domain in the future. Following that, General Linear Model analysis was used to estimate the dollar value of a domain assuming that the sale occurred.

International Approaches to Real Estate Development Graham Squires, Erwin Heurkens, 2014-08-13 An international approach to the study and teaching of real estate is increasingly important in today's global market. With chapters covering numerous countries and every continent, International Approaches to Real Estate Development introduces real estate development theory and practice to students and professionals in the comparative international context. The book provides readers with a global compendium written by an international team of experts and includes key features such as:

- Chapters covering the United States, United Kingdom, Netherlands, Hungary, United Arab Emirates, Bahrain, and Qatar.
- Ghana, Chile, India, China, Hong Kong, and Australia.
- An introduction providing theory and concepts for comparative analysis.
- Discussion and debate surrounding international real estate development in its approach, characteristics, geography, implementation, and outcomes.
- A concluding chapter which brings together comparative analyses of the different real estate development case study findings.
- Reflections on the global financial crisis and the new real estate development landscape.
- Further reading and glossary.

The wide range of case studies and the mix of textbook theory with research mean this book is an essential purchase for undergraduate and postgraduate students of real estate, property development, urban studies, planning, and urban economics.

Routledge Companion to Real Estate Development Graham Squires, Erwin Heurkens, Richard Peiser, 2017-09-07

Real estate development shapes the way people live and work, playing a crucial role in determining our built environment. Around the world, real estate development reflects both universal human needs and region-specific requirements, and with the rise of globalization, there is an increasing need to better understand the full complexity of global real estate development. This Companion provides comprehensive coverage of the major contemporary themes and issues in the field of real estate development research. Topics covered include social and spatial impact, markets and economics, organization and management, finance and investment, environment and sustainability, design, land use, policy, and governance. A team of international experts across the fields of real estate, planning, geography, economics, and architecture reflect the increasingly interdisciplinary nature of real estate studies, providing the book with a depth and breadth of original research. Following on from the success of the textbook International Approaches to Real Estate Development, the Routledge Companion to Real Estate Development provides the up-to-date research needed for a full and sophisticated understanding of the subject. It will be an invaluable resource to students, researchers, and professionals wishing to study real estate development on an international scale.

Corporate Real Estate Asset Management Barry P. Haynes, Nick Nunnington, 2010

Real Estate is not only one of the most valuable assets for a business in terms of visual representation of the company but also one of the most costly assets. It is therefore important for those studying and practising in Real Estate and Property Management to know how to minimise costs and maximise profit in order to manage these assets efficiently. Corporate Real Estate Management considers the commercial property market from the perspective of the business occupier, offering contemporary solutions to problems and innovative and inspiring added value action plans.

Beyond Real Estate Licensing: Case Study Analysis of Behavioral Assessment Relationship Applied to Human Performance Conrad R. Richards, 2010-02-16 Conrad s new book Beyond Real Estate Licensing Case Study Analysis of Behavioral Assessment Relationship Applied to Human Performance is an outgrowth of his doctoral studies The specific problem this research addresses pertains to whether behavioral readiness has an impact upon real estate brokerage sales performance Although real estate students may score high on the real estate licensing examinations it may not prove the students ability to perform in a real estate brokerage performance sales environment The most important performance criteria in real estate sales could be conceived as a developed personality capacity and alignment of motivational values It is also noted that learning sales facilitators can not guarantee the knowledge transfer to performance unless behavioral readiness is presented Therefore behavioral assessment analysis can be considered as an integral aide to performance improvement The purpose of this study was to establish the organizational responsibility towards behavioral assessment analysis during the pre employment phase The results of this study indicate that behavioral assessments may improve the overall recruitment and selection capability and to identify the necessary behavioral readiness that is necessary for knowledge transfer into sales performance
