Reeducating The Educator Global Perspectives On Community Building Suny Series Teacher Preparation And Development:

Reeducating the Educator Helen Christiansen,S. Ramadevi,2002-01-01 A comparative look at the professional development of teachers and teacher educators Reeducating the Educator Helen Christiansen,S. Ramadevi,2012-02-01
Reeducating the Educator focuses on community building within teacher education programs in Canada Israel Australia and the United States Maintaining that communities have to be built and sustained the contributors discuss possible theoretical frameworks underlying community building and change and suggest that there is a need for teacher educators to go beyond localized experiences and reach out to one another in a global discussion Because of the impact of local cultures and histories key questions and issues vary from one country to another and even from one faculty to another but the resulting global conversation provides a greater understanding of the professional development of teachers and teacher educators

Petrie,1995-08-31 Provides insights into and results of a wide variety of experiments with professional development schools in the field of education Moving Teacher Education into Urban Schools and Communities Jana Noel,2013-05-07 Winner of the 2013 American Educational Studies Association s Critics Choice Award When teacher education is located on a university campus set apart from urban schools and communities it is easy to overlook the realities and challenges communities face as they struggle toward social economic cultural and racial justice This book describes how teacher education can become a meaningful part of this work by re positioning programs directly into urban schools and communities Situating their work within the theoretical framework of prioritizing community strengths each set of authors provides a detailed and nuanced description of a teacher education program re positioned within an urban school or community Authors describe the process of developing such a relationship how the university school and community became integrated partners in the program and the impact on participants As university based teacher education has come under increased scrutiny for lack of real world relevance this book showcases programs that have successfully navigated the travails of shifting their base directly into urban schools and communities with evidence of positive outcomes for all involved Urban Teacher Education and Teaching R. Patrick Solomon, Dia N. R.

Sekayi, 2020-07-24 This volume illuminates the most pressing challenges faced by urban schools teachers teacher candidates and teacher training programs and offers a range of insights and possibilities for urban teacher education and teaching Covering issues spanning the broadly theoretical to the urgently practical it goes beyond the traditional discourses in teacher education to focus on diversity social justice democratic schooling and community building What emerges is an emphatic message of hope for those committed to the ongoing project of improving urban teacher education and working in urban settings Contributors from Canada the United States and the Caribbean bring rich and divergent knowledges perspectives and cultural experiences to their discussion of the three central themes around which the book is organized the conceptual framing of key issues in urban schooling pre service teacher preparation for urban transformation and culturally relevant pedagogy and advocacy in urban settings This book is intended for all students practitioners and researchers involved in urban education It is appropriate as a text for student teaching and field experience seminars and for courses dealing with social issues educational policy curriculum development and multicultural teacher education A Year in the Life of a Third

Space Urban Teacher Residency Monica Taylor, Emily J. Klein, 2015-12-01 This book weaves together voices of faculty residents mentors administrators community organizers and students who have lived together in a third space urban teacher residency program in Newark as they reinvent math and science teaching and teacher education through the lens of inquiry Each chapter includes narratives from multiple perspectives as well as tools we have used within the program to support and build change providing readers with both real cases of how an urban teacher residency can impact school systems and concrete tools and examples to help the reader understand and replicate aspects of the process Capturing both the successes but also the tensions and challenges we offer a kaleidoscopic view of the rich complex and multi layered ways in which multiple stakeholders work together to make enduring educational change in urban schools Our third space NMUTR has been a fragile utopian enterprise one that has relied on a shared commitment of all involved and a deep sense of hope that working collaboratively has the potential even if not perfect to make a difference Transforming Teacher Education for Social Justice Patricia Clark, Eva Zygmunt, Jon Clausen, Wilfridah Mucherah, Susan Tancock, 2016 Transforming Teacher Education for Social Justice offers teacher educators a new way to think about the development of culturally responsive educators The authors identify the core components needed to restructure and reorient programs of teacher education to adequately prepare new teachers for the racially culturally and linguistically diverse communities they will serve upon graduation They propose a new model of teacher preparation that capitalizes on the strengths of programs evidencing important outcomes Chapters address the notion of situated learning embedded in communities the need for extensive clinical experience in authentic teaching situations strategies for interweaving theory content pedagogy and classroom practice the importance of student engagement and motivation and the implementation of critical service learning Key policy implications of this model are also discussed within the current landscape of teacher education reform The book features a specific approach for realizing the promise of culturally responsive teaching a flexible model for a community engaged leader preparation that is accessible for a variety of university and community settings compelling data on student learning outcomes based on university school community collaboration as evidence of eliminating the achievement gap
