Babylonia under the Sealand and Kassite Dynasties Susanne Paulus, Tim Clayden, 2020-09-21 Babylonia in the second half of the 2nd millennium BCE is one of the most understudied periods of Mesopotamian history In the last few years discoveries of new texts and archaeological materials from the Sealand Dynasty have emerged which expand the possibilities to fill this gap in our knowledge of Mesopotamian history At the same time scholars have started to revive Kassite studies using new materials methods and questions While those works are groundbreaking contributions to the field many questions about the history and chronology archaeology economy language of Babylonia during this period are still unsolved This volume brings together eleven contributions by leading scholars in the Sealand and Kassite period approaching those questions from an archaeological ethnological historical linguistic and economical point of view The book opens with an introduction into the history and research on Babylonia under the Sealand Dynasty and the Kassites The Dead Tell Tales Maria Cecilia Lozada, Barra O'Donnabhain, 2013-12-31 Honoring Jane Buikstra's pioneering work in the development of bioarchaeological research the essays in this volume stem from a symposium held at the annual meeting of the Society for American Archaeology Multiple generations of Buikstra's former doctoral students and other colleagues gathered to discuss the impact of her mentorship The essays are remarkable for their breadth in terms of both the topics discussed and the geographical range they cover The contributions highlight the dynamism of bioarchaeology which owes so much to the strong foundations laid down over the last few decades The volume documents the degree to which bioarchaeological approaches have become normalized and integrated into anthropological research bioarchaeology has moved out of the appendix and into the interpretation of archaeological data New perspectives have emerged partly in response to theoretical changes within anthropology but also as a result of the engagement of the broader discipline with bioarchaeology
