Regionalization And Security In Southern Africa:

Regionalization and Security in Southern Africa N. Poku, 2001-02-02 Once torn by ideological conflicts and the dominance of command economies Southern Africa is now moving towards economic liberalism and openness In general the ascendancy of market economics is acknowledged by its governments albeit with different degrees of enthusiasm Theoretically rich and empirically engaging this timely book offers a critical insight into the ensuing debate on regionalism and the process of regionalization in southern Africa

Regionalization of Security and the Reconstruction of a Region Gladys Mokhawa, Ian Taylor, University of St. Andrews. School of International Relations, 2011 This thesis central aim is to rethink regional security cooperation in southern Africa by transcending the geopolitics that has been characteristic to the region The constructivist inspired regional security complex theory is thus preferred as an analytic device through which a non statist understanding of security within the region could be conceived Furthermore to understand how the Southern African Development Community SADC is involved in the re construction of the region the region building approach is adopted although the thesis is mindful of the fact that this approach is relevant to regions that have high levels of regionality Comprehension of the regional security cooperation could not be possible without deconstructing the taken for granted understanding of regional security cooperation To this end post modern and post structuralists traditions become sites in which the altered and reformulations of regional security cooperation can be imagined with the hope of re imagining new interpretations of regional security politics Thus linguistically inspired methodology and methods are embraced in order to unmask the taken for granted understandings and transform them into objects of discussion and criticism Therefore SADC s critical and ironic security dynamics are considered within the post modern tradition without necessarily engaging in the aesthetics of this tradition Zimbabwe as a case illuminates the limits of modernistic understanding of regional security cooperation The thesis concludes by proposing regionalist understanding of security alternatives that are based on integrated analysis of security threats and preventative approach to responses

Security and Development in Southern Africa Nana Poku, 2001-04-30 With the end of white dominated South Africa many observers have argued for a positive transformation of the whole of Southern Africa based upon market integration and increased cooperation among the states of the region Poku and the contributors to this collection re examine this optimistic scenerio and they point to the problems of translating good intentions into actual policies In reality the economic imbalance between South Africa and its neighbors poses severe problems for the region Far from finding a stronger ally in regional reconstruction and development the countries in the region are finding that for many in South Africa they simply do not matter that much The analysis points to greater polarization which may imply greater marginalization of the poorer countries in the region Moreover a major widening of the gap between the richer South Africa and some or all of the weaker economies may lead to increased tensions and breakdown of regional relations even to a situation detrimental to economic development in the region A provocative analysis by some of the leading politico economic thinkers of the region the volume will be of great use to scholars researchers and policy makers involved with Southern African development

The Political Economy of Regionalism F. Söderbaum, 2004-10-29 The Political Economy of Regionalism The Case of Southern Africa challenges prevailing wisdom showing how ruling political elites and big business join forces with certain external actors in order to promote market integration and economic globalization boost regimes and to satisfy group specific and even personal interests Only rarely do these forms of regionalism contribute to the poor and disadvantaged who instead opt out and survive through informal economic regionalisms or seek to create regionalisms rooted in civil society
