Reinventing Myself Janet Goleman Felgoise, 2020-08-18 In January 2020 when Jan was diagnosed with cancer at the age of 81 she gathered her four sons to share the news with them Soon after she realized that the history she had been creating of her own life from birth to the present day which she had been working on in various writing groups finally had a clear reason for existing It wasn't just for me anymore to reminisce and play with and wrestle to the page it should become a gift to my sons perhaps a final way of letting them know who I am who I have been and what legacy if any I might leave for them and their families to learn from and enjoy In fact Jan is pretty sure she has at least a few friends and acquaintances who might also be interested in reading this memoir That said she is not so full of herself that she thinks the world cannot live without her although at some point it will find out if this is actually possible In the meantime as she says I suppose I have lived an unusual life full of unexpected circumstances especially for a woman in our society and that there may be some inspiration somewhere for a young girl to think bigger than she may have otherwise allowed herself to do Each of us looking to share our stories must delve backward into the historic timeline of our family ancestry and use it to provide context for how we came to be who we are today As Jan says I have tried my best to relate the history of my family's brave courageous actions which I inherited and which played a central role in own capacity meet my challenges one hundred years later I found my new pathway to re enter my memoir and now may I invite you to embark on this journey with me at your side Bon voyage Jan is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania and The Temple University Law School which she began at age 45 She is the proud mother of four children and the grandmother of 14 grandchildren Reinventing Myself Marlys Marshall

The Rise of the Memoir traces the growth and extraordinarily wide appeal of the memoir. Its territory is private rather than public life: shame, guilt, and embarrassment, not the achievements celebrated in the public record. What accounts for the sharp need writers like Rousseau, Woolf, Orwell, Nabokov, Primo Levi, and Maxine Hong Kingston felt to write and to publish such works when they might more easily have chosen to remain silent? Alex Zwerdling explores why each of these writers felt compelled to write them as that story can be reconstructed from personal materials available in archival collections: what internal conflicts they encountered while trying and how each of them resisted the private and public pressures to stop themselves rather than pursuing this confessional route against their own doubts without a reasonable expectation that such works would be welcome in print and eventually find an empathetic audience. Reconstructing this process in which a dubious project eventually becomes a compelling product, a memoir that will last, illuminates both what was at stake and why this serially invented open form has reshaped the expectations of readers who welcomed a vital alternative to the official story.

That Canada produced the world's longest running annual revue? Few people realize the Canadian influences that are at the heart of American and British culture. Author Mel Atkey's research for Broadway North included interviews with Norman and Elaine Campbell and Don Harron, creators of Anne of Green Gables: The Musical; Mavor Moore, founder of the Charlottetown Festival and of Spring Thaw; John Gray, author of Billy Bishop Goes to War; Ray Jessel and Marian Grudeff, Spring Thaw writers who had success on Broadway with Baker Street; Dolores Claman, composer of the Hockey Night in Canada theme who also wrote the musicals Mr. Scrooge and Timber; and Galt MacDermot, the composer of Hair who started out writing songs for the McGill University revue My Fur Lady.
