Mapping The Rural Problem In The Baltic Countryside:

Mapping the Rural Problem in the Baltic Countryside Ilkka Alanen, 2017-11-30 The agricultural privatization strategy adopted in Estonia Latvia and Lithuania was based on the premise that family farms are the most effective alternative to socialist large scale agriculture In addition international organizations particularly the World Bank made recommendations concerning reform speed synchronization and ownership rights that would facilitate transferring resources from large scale producers to family farmers This book provides a critical and comparative analysis of the implementation of this policy and in particular the strategy promoted by the World Bank The preservation of large scale production is the key to Estonia s success while its eradication from Latvia and Lithuania did not produce a family farm system Work productivity and the extent of plot farming are the indicators of success or failure Research findings on deindustrialization the hardships faced by new enterprises rural tourism increasing poverty and problems in the civil society as presented in this book shed new light on these and other key issues in transition strategy

Sustainable Tourism in Rural Europe Donald Macleod, Steven Gillespie, 2010-10-04 Rural Europe is a highly developed tourism region representing advanced tourism experience and supposed modern approaches to this industry That said it remains highly sensitive and fragile in terms of environmental social economic and cultural impacts This volume focuses on rural Europe as a fascinating example of how tourism development impacts on the communities and the environment of rural regions and offers insights into how long term sustainability could be achieved in this specific region and correspondingly in other rural parts of the world Sustainable Tourism in Rural Europe contains contributions from leading international scholars that review and analyse the concept and practice of sustainable tourism in this region through a multidisciplinary approach that embodies the view that sustainable tourism warrants a holistic approach in terms of its impacts and development potential Divided into three sections Key Themes and Issues The State and Development The Local Community and Development this book addresses contentious and vital issues through theory detailed research and case studies offering real world approaches to sustainable development showing problems including local politics which challenge abstract models It introduces cutting edge research dealing with contemporary developments throughout Europe and consequential lessons implications for other rural parts of the world This volume will be of interest to students researchers and academics in the areas of Tourism Geography and Environmental Studies

Beyond the Rural-Urban Divide Kjell Andersson, Erland Eklund, Minna Lehtola, 2009-02-11 The rural urban dichotomy is one of the most influential figures of thought in history laying the foundation for academic disciplines such as rural and urban sociology The dichotomy rests on the assumption that rural and urban areas differ fundamentally This book deals with this topic

Women in the European Countryside Henry Buller, 2017-11-28 Much of the literature published so far on gender relations in rural areas has either focused on comparisons of the position of men and women or explored the position of women given prevailing structural forces and behavioural norms that restrict the autonomy of women as human agents This groundbreaking book broadens the debate by developing our understanding of how societal processes produce and sustain gender divisions particularly in rural areas highlighting aspects of rural women s lives previously invisible in the literature Illustrated by case studies from France Germany Greece Norway and Sweden the book examines the critical issues of education and training entrepreneurship leadership limited work and service opportunities social mobility and work experiences In doing so the contributors provide a fascinating comparative study of both national regional and broader European realities

Territorial Cohesion in Rural Europe Andrew K. Copus, Philomena de Lima, 2014-08-13 This book reflects on how the economies social characteristics ways of life and global relationships of rural areas of Europe have changed in recent years This reveals a need to refresh the concepts we use to understand measure and describe rural communities and their development potential This book argues that Europe has outgrown many of the stereotypes usually associated with it with substantial implications for European Rural Policy Rural structural change and its evolving geography are portrayed through regional typologies and the concept of the New Rural Economy Demographic change migration business networks and agricultural restructuring are each explored in greater detail Implications for equality and social exclusion and recent developments in the field of governance are also considered Despite being a subject of active debate interventions in the fields of rural and regional development have failed to adapt to changing realities and have become increasingly polarized This book argues that rural regional policy needs to evolve in order to address the current complex reality partially reformulating territorial or place based approaches and the New Rural Paradigm following a set of principles termed Rural Cohesion Policy

Food Culture and Politics in the Baltic States Diana Mincyte, Ulrike Plath, 2018-11-09 This book focuses on food culture and politics in three Baltic States Estonia Latvia and Lithuania In popular and scholarly writings the Baltic states are often seen as a meat and potatoes kind of place inferior to sophisticated cuisines of the West and exotic diets in the East Such views stem from the long intellectual tradition that focuses on political and cultural centers as sources of progress But as a new generation of writers has argued in order to fully grasp the ongoing cultural and political changes we need to shift the focus from capital cities such as Paris Berlin Rome or Moscow to everyday life in borderland regions that are primary arenas where such transformations unfold Building on this perspective chapters featured in this book examine how identities were negotiated through the implementation of new food laws how tastes were reinvented during imperial encounters and how ethnic and class boundaries were both maintained and transgressed in Baltic kitchens over the course of the twentieth and early twenty first centuries In so doing the book not only explores culinary practices across the region but also offers a new vantage point for understanding everyday life and the entanglement between nature and culture in modern Europe This book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Baltic Studies

Historical Dictionary of Latvia Aldis Purs, Andrejs Plakans, 2017-05-02 Latvia is located on the eastern shore of the Baltic Sea After a brief period of independence between the two World Wars Latvia was annexed by the USSR in 1940 It reestablished its independence in 1991 following the breakup of the Soviet Union Although the last Russian troops left in 1994 Latvia continues to revamp its economy for eventual integration into various Western European political and economic institutions Since May 2004 Latvia is a member of the European Union This third edition of Historical Dictionary of Latvia contains a chronology an introduction appendixes and an extensive bibliography The dictionary section has over 500 cross referenced entries on important personalities politics economy foreign relations religion and culture This book is an excellent resource for students researchers and anyone wanting to know more about Latvia

Post-Communist Transformations in Baltic Countries Zenonas Norkus, 2023-11-21 This Open access book provides a survey of the economic health and somatic progress of Baltic countries during the period 1918 2018 framed by the outline of the historical sociological theory of modern social restorations as originally conceived by the Austrian American comparative historian Robert A Kann The author reworks Kann's theory to analyse post communist transformations in the Baltic region The book argues that the purpose of modern social restorations is to make restoration societies safe against a recurrence of revolution There were two waves of modern social restorations post Napoleonic and post communist Most post Napoleonic restorations were brief because they failed to economically and socially outperform the pre revolutionary and post revolutionary systems It considers Baltic restorations as laboratory cases of second wave modern social restorations because they encompass a triple restoration of the nation state capitalism and democracy The book assesses the performance success of Baltic restorations by comparing economic and social progress of Baltic countries during the periods of original independence 1918 1940 foreign imposed state socialism 1940 1990 and restored independence since 1990 It then elaborates the criteria to assess the ultimate performance success of these restorations by 2040 when restored Baltic states may endure longer than their ancestors in 1918 1940 and the complete foreign occupations era 1940 1990 The author an expert in historical sociology uses extensive historical statistical data in cross time comparisons to develop his analysis and create future projections This book is of wide interest to sociologists social demographers political scientists and economists studying the Baltic region This is an open access book

A Concise History of the Baltic States Andrejs Plakans, 2011-02-24 An integrated history of three Baltic peoples Estonians Latvians and Lithuanians from their origins as tribal societies to separate nations

Reflecting Transformation in Post-socialist Rural Areas Maarit Heinonen, Inna Kopoteva, 2021-03-04 The rural reforms in many post soviet countries produced a number of unintended consequences The reforms were guided by ideals of romanticized society of family farmers they were to be the basis of the rural middle class together with owners of non agricultural SME's acting as guardians of democracy and common good The guidelines were set by advisers from World Bank and IMF who preferred family farms or individual farms over the collective enterprises In most countries the result was nothing like those envisaged by reformers Instead of efficient and productive family farms the result was almost complete de capitalization of agriculture and collapse of production The reform was destructive not only as far as production is concerned but more importantly to rural communities Social ties which were based on the collective farm as the main economic and social resource for local community were eroded Only from the turn of this decade some early stages have been visible of new developments in economic and social life in post socialist rural areas The result is that now more than fifteen years since the beginning of agricultural reforms the key agricultural producers in Russia Baltic countries and elsewhere are very large capitalist farms or large agricultural holding companies This anthology is based on the presentations given at the 5th Aleksanteri Conference 10 11 November 2005 in Helsinki Finland and it is devoted to the analysis of some of these issues The volume is divided into two parts in the first part the focus is on the patterns and problems of transformation of post socialist agriculture and agricultural policies while the second part is focuses mainly on efforts to revitalize rural communities and issues of local development
