On Line Cognition In Person Perception:

On-line Cognition in Person Perception John N. Bassili, 2013-02-01 The contributors to this collection focus on the cognitive processes that take place during the initial acquisition of information about others on line processes rather than later when memory processes begin playing a dominant role memory based processes Utilizing the methods and concepts of social cognition the book illustrates how the study of on line cognition can further our understanding of person perception On Line Cognition in Person Perception also examines the special cognitive dynamics that are associated with such processes within the domain of social perception

On-line Cognition in Person Perception John N. Bassili, 1989 First Published in 1989 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company The Oxford Handbook of American Public Opinion and the Media Robert Y. Shapiro, Lawrence R. Jacobs, 2013-05-23 With engaging new contributions from the major figures in the fields of the media and public opinion The Oxford Handbook of American Public Opinion and the Media is a key point of reference for anyone working in American politics today

The Rationalizing Voter Milton Lodge, Charles S. Taber, 2013 Political behavior is the result of innumerable unnoticed forces and conscious deliberation is often a rationalization of automatically triggered feelings and thoughts Citizens are very sensitive to environmental contextual factors such as the title President preceding Obama in a newspaper headline upbeat music or patriotic symbols accompanying a campaign ad or question wording and order in a survey all of which have their greatest influence when citizens are unaware This book develops and tests a dual process theory of political beliefs attitudes and behavior claiming that all thinking feeling reasoning and doing have an automatic component as well as a conscious deliberative component The authors are especially interested in the impact of automatic feelings on political judgments and evaluations This research is based on laboratory experiments which allow the testing of five basic hypotheses hot cognition automaticity affect transfer affect contagion and motivated reasoning

Everyday Thinking Stanley Woll, 2001-07-01 Appropriate as a textbook for courses in cognitive psychology or social cognition Everyday Thinking reviews the rapidly growing literature on cognition in naturalistic settings It differs from other textbooks in that where possible it focuses on thinking in real world settings rather than in controlled laboratory settings and provides detailed treatments of each of the following topics how we form impressions of and represent persons in memory how we recognize and represent faces how we reason in our day to day lives and go about solving everyday problems how we make judgments and decisions how we encode memories of events both for future action and for our own life histories and what are some of the implications of everyday knowledge and cognition for education and instruction This book presents the theoretical positions and research evidence on each of these topics and examines the generally unexplored connections among them As a result this book presents the study of cognition in a more relevant form and in a context that readers can more readily apply to their own lives

Research on Judgment and Decision Making William M. Goldstein, Robin M. Hogarth, 1997-06-13 This book offers an overview of recent research on the psychology of judgment and decision making

Audiences Decide Richard O. Young, 2011-03 How Audiences Decide A Cognitive Approach to Business Communication is a comprehensive introduction to persuasive communication in the context of business It summarizes relevant theories and findings from the fields of cognitive science social cognition leadership team cognition psycholinguistics and behavioral economics By illuminating the thought processes of many different audiences from consumers to Wall Street analysts to CEOs it helps communicators better understand why audiences make the decisions they make and how to influence them The book covers a broad range of communication techniques including those concerning persuasive speaking and writing interviews and group meetings content and style typography and nonverbal behaviors charts and images rational arguments and emotional appeals and examines the empirical evidence supporting each of them Political Judgment Milton

Lodge, Kathleen M. McGraw, 1995 How are impressions about political candidates organized in memory What is the nature of political group stereotypes How do citizens make voting decisions How do citizens formulate opinions about key issues and politics The contributors to Political Judgment Structure and Process reach answers to these questions that will substantially influence how the next generation of scholars working at the intersection of political science and sociology and public opinion researchers more generally go about their work The Feeling, Thinking Citizen Howard Lavine, Charles S.

Taber, 2018-03-13 This book is an appreciation of the long and illustrious career of Milton Lodge Having begun his academic life as a Kremlinologist in the 1960s Milton Lodge radically shifted gears to become one of the most influential scholars of the past half century working at the intersection of psychology and political science In borrowing and refashioning concepts from cognitive psychology social cognition and neuroscience his work has led to wholesale transformations in the way political scientists understand the mass political mind as well as the nature and quality of democratic citizenship In this collection Lodge s collaborators and colleagues describe how his work has influenced their own careers and how his insights have been synthesized into the bloodstream of contemporary political psychology The volume includes personal reflections from Lodge s longstanding collaborators as well as original research papers from leading figures in political psychology who have drawn inspiration from the Lodgean oeuvre Reflecting on his multi faceted contribution to the study of political psychology The

Feeling Thinking Citizen illustrates the centrality of Lodge's work in constructing a psychologically plausible model of the democratic citizen On Deaf Ears George C. Edwards III, 2008-10-01 American presidents often engage in intensive campaigns to obtain public support for their policy initiatives This core strategy for governing is based on the premise that if presidents are skilled enough to exploit the bully pulpit they can successfully persuade or even mobilize public opinion on behalf of their legislative goals In this book George Edwards analyzes the results of hundreds of public opinion polls from recent presidencies to assess the success of these efforts Surprisingly he finds that presidents typically are not able to change public opinion even great communicators usually fail to obtain the public's support for their high priority initiatives Focusing on presidents personae their messages and the American public he explains why presidents are often unable to move public opinion and suggests that their efforts to do so may be counterproductive Edwards argues that shoring up previously existing support is the principal benefit of going public and that staying private negotiating quietly with elites may often be more conducive to a president's legislative success The Measurement of Emotions Robert Plutchik, Henry Kellerman, 2013-09-24 Emotion Theory Research and Experience Volume 4 The Measurement of Emotion provides an examination of the key issue of how to measure emotion The book contains articles that present different approaches to the study of emotional measurement Contributors focus on such topics as mood measurement cross cultural examination of triggers of emotion possible dimensions that underlie the language of affect measurement of emotions in lower animals and measuring emotions and their derivatives Psychologists psychiatrists behavioral psychologists teachers and students will find the book a good reference book Persuasive Communication Richard O. Young, 2016-07-15 This updated and expanded edition of Persuasive Communication offers a comprehensive introduction to persuasion and real world decision making Drawing on empirical research from social psychology neuroscience business communication research cognitive science and behavioral economics Young reveals the thought processes of many different audiences from investors to CEOs to help students better understand why audiences make the decisions they make and how to influence them The book covers a broad range of communication techniques richly illustrated with compelling examples including resumes speeches and slide presentations to help students recognize persuasive methods that do and do not work A detailed analysis of the emotions and biases that go into decision making arms students with perceptive insights into human behavior and helps them apply this understanding with various decision making aids Students will learn how to impact potential employers clients and other audiences essential to their success This book will prove fascinating to many and especially useful for students of persuasion rhetoric and business communication The Oxford Handbook of Political Psychology Leonie Huddy, David O. Sears, Jack S. Levy, 2013-09-19 A revised version of this essential interdisciplinary handbook Advances in Experimental Social Psychology, 1998-05-26 Advances in Experimental Social Psychology continues to be one of the most sought after and most often cited series in this field Containing contributions of major empirical and theoretical interest this series
