Mapping Fairy-Tale Space Christy Williams, 2021-04-27 Examines how popular fairy tales collapse narrative borders and reimagine the genre for the twenty first century Mapping Fairy Tale Space Pastiche and Metafiction in Borderless Tales by Christy Williams uses the metaphor of mapping to examine the narrative strategies employed in popular twenty first century fairy tales It analyzes the television shows Once Upon a Time and Secret Garden a Korean drama the young adult novel series The Lunar Chronicles the Indexing serial novels and three experimental short works of fiction by Kelly Link Some of these texts reconfigure well known fairy tales by combining individual tales into a single storyworld others self referentially turn to fairy tales for guidance These contemporary tales have at their center a crisis about the relevance and sustainability of fairy tales and

Williams argues that they both engage the fairy tale as a relevant genre and remake it to create a new kind of fairy tale. Mapping Fairy Tale Space is divided into two parts. Part 1 analyzes fairy tale texts that collapse multiple distinct fairy tales so they inhabit the same storyworld, transforming the fairy tale genre into a fictional geography of borderless tales. Williams examines the complex narrative restructuring enabled by this form of mash up and expands postmodern arguments to suggest that fairy tale pastiche is a critical mode of retelling that celebrates the fairy tale genre while it critiques outdated ideological constructs. Part 2 analyzes the metaphoric use of fairy tales as maps or guides for lived experience. In these texts, characters use fairy tales both to navigate and to circumvent their own situations, but the tales are ineffectual maps until the characters chart different paths and endings for themselves or reject the tales as maps altogether. Williams focuses on how inventive narrative and visual storytelling techniques enable metafictional commentary on fairy tales in the texts themselves. Mapping Fairy Tale Space argues that in remaking the fairy tale genre, these texts do not so much chart unexplored territory as they approach existing fairy tale space from new directions, remapping the genre as our collective use of fairy tales changes. Students and scholars of fairy tale and media studies will welcome this fresh approach. Mapping Information

Melanie Waldron, 2022-02-10. Maps are essential tools for understanding the world around us. Learning to read maps, both printed and online, is a core skill that forms the basis of social studies. This book explores the different ways that maps can show information, from population statistics to historical events. Bulletin, 1912. *Catalog of Copyright Entries. Part 1. [B] Group 2. Adventure Steve Puttick, 2023-09-28. Children are born explorers, full of wonder and hungry for stories about the world. What role might geography teaching play? What geographical stories do we tell about the world? What stories do we tell about geography itself? The book revisits an older vision of geography that is much bigger than exams and memorising information, dreams of adventure and discovery. But where geography's imperial past used these tools for domination and control, this book reclaims exploration to nurture wonder and tell better stories that work towards more just, equitable and sustainable futures. Positioning geography teaching in relation to major global challenges, author Steve Puttick argues that the subject has a unique role to play through its ability to think across natural and social sciences in equipping young people with the skills and knowledge they need to respond. The book offers a critical and accessible analysis of geography's entanglements with colonialism by exploring the striations of Empire in the subject. Each chapter draws on a wide range of research in geography and finishes with practical activities and questions for reflection that can be used individually and collectively to support teachers' ongoing professional development. The book is essential reading for all geography teachers at any stage of their career, as well as geography teacher educators, subject leads and school leaders with responsibility for curriculum development.
