A Cultural History of Tragedy in the Age of Empire Michael Gamer, Diego Saglia, 2021-05-20 This volume traces a path across the metamorphoses of tragedy and the tragic in Western cultures during the bourgeois age of nations revolutions and empires roughly delimited by the French Revolution and the First World War Its starting point is the recognition that tragedy did not die with Romanticism as George Steiner famously argued over half a century ago but rather mutated and dispersed converging into a variety of unstable productive forms both on the stage and off In turn the tragic as a concept and mode transformed itself under the pressure of multiple social historical and political ideological phenomena This volume therefore deploys a narrative centred on hybridization extending across media genres demographics faiths both religious and secular and national boundaries The essays also tell a story of how tragedy and the tragic offered multiple means of capturing the increasingly fragmented perception of reality and history that emerged in the 19th century Each chapter takes a different theme as its focus forms and media sites of performance and circulation communities of production and consumption philosophy and social theory religion ritual and myth politics of city and nation society and family and gender and sexuality

Comparative aesthetics is the branch of philosophy which compares the aesthetic concepts and practices of different cultures. The way in which cultures conceive of the aesthetic dimension of life in general and art in particular is revelatory of profound attitudes and beliefs which themselves make up an important part of the culture in question. This anthology of essays by internationally recognised scholars in this field brings into one volume some of the most important research in comparative aesthetics from classic early essays to previously unpublished contemporary pieces. Ranging across cultures and time periods as diverse as ancient Greece, India and China and the modern West and Japan, the essays reveal both similarities and deep differences between the aesthetic traditions concerned. In the course of these expositions and comparisons, there emerges the general conclusion that no culture can be fully grasped if its aesthetic ideas are not understood.
