Principles of Home Decoration with Practical Examples* Candace Wheeler,2018-08-06 Principles of Home Decoration With Practical Examples by Candace Wheeler CHAPTER I DECORATION AS AN ART Who creates a Home creates a potent spirit which in turn doth fashion him that fashioned Probably no art has so few masters as that of decoration In England Morris was for many years the great leader but among his followers in England no one has attained the dignity of unquestioned authority and in America in spite of far more general practice of the art we still are without a leader whose very name establishes law It is true we are free to draw inspiration from the same sources which supplied Morris and the men associated with him in his enthusiasms and in fact we do lean as they did upon English eighteenth century domestic art and derive from the men who made that period famous many of our articles of faith but there are almost no authoritative books upon the subject of appropriate modern decoration Our text books are still to be written and one must glean knowledge from many sources shape it into rules and test the rules before adopting them as safe guides We are delighted to publish this classic book as part of our extensive Classic Library collection Many of the books in our collection have been out of print for decades and therefore have not been accessible to the general public The aim of our publishing program is to facilitate rapid access to this vast reservoir of literature and our view is that this is a significant literary work which deserves to be brought back into print after many decades The contents of the vast majority of titles in the Classic Library have been scanned from the original works To ensure a high quality product each title has been meticulously hand curated by our staff Our philosophy has been guided by a desire to provide the reader with a book that is as close as possible to ownership of the original work We hope that you will enjoy this wonderful classic work and that for you it becomes an enriching experience
