The Traffic in Hierarchy Ward Keeler, 2017-09-30 Until its recent political thaw Burma was closed to most foreign researchers and fieldwork based research was rare In The Traffic in Hierarchy one of the few such works to appear in recent years author Ward Keeler combines close ethnographic attention to life in a Buddhist monastery with a broad analysis of Burman gender ideology The result is a thought provoking analysis of Burmese social relations both within and beyond a monastery's walls Keeler shows that the roles individuals choose in Burman society entail inevitable trade offs in privileges and prestige A man who becomes a monk gives up some social opportunities but takes on others and gains great respect Alternatively a man can become a head of household Or he can choose to take on a feminine gender identity to the derision of many but not necessarily his social exclusion A woman by contrast is expected to concern herself with her relations with family and kin Any interest she might show in becoming a nun arouses ambivalent reactions although it fulfills Buddhist teachings it contravenes assumptions about a woman's proper role In Burma hierarchical understandings condition all relationships but hierarchy implies relations of exchange not simply inequality and everyone takes on subordinate roles in their bonds with some and superordinate ones with others Knowing where power lies and how to relate to it appropriately is key It may mean choosing at times to resist power but more often it involves exercising care as to whom one wishes to subordinate oneself in what ways and on what terms Melding reflections on the work of theorists such as Dumont Anderson Warner and Kapferer with close attention to the details of Burman social interaction Keeler balances theoretical insights and ethnographic observation to produce a rich and challenging read The conundrum at the heart of this book whether to opt for autonomy the Buddhist seeking of detachment or for attachment the desire for close bonds with others is one that all humans not just Burmans must confront and it is one that admits of no final resolution      Cultural Criminology and the Carnival of Crime Mike Presdee,2003-09-02 This book attempts to make sense of the current increase in violence cruelty hate and humiliation arguing that an overly organised economic world has provoked desire for extreme forms of popular and personal pleasure      Revisiting Star Studies Sabrina Qiong Yu,2017-04-13 Challenges traditional Hollywood derived models of star studiesIs classical Hollywood stardom the last word on film stars How do film stars function in non Hollywood contexts such as Bollywood East Asia and Latin America and what new developments has screen stardom undergone in recent years both in Hollywood and elsewhere Gathering together the most important new research on star studies with case studies of stars from many different cultures this diverse and dynamic collection looks at film stardom from new angles challenging the received wisdom on the subject and raising important questions about image performance bodies voices and fans in cultures across the globe From Hollywood to Bollywood from China to Italy and from Poland to Mexico this collection revisits the definitions and origins of star studies and points the way forward to new ways of approaching the field Key featuresFeatures cutting edge research on stardom and fandom from a range of different cultures contributed by a diverse and international range of scholarsGenerates new critical models that address non Hollywood forms of stardom as well as under researched areas of stardom in Hollywood itselfRevisits the definitions of stars and star studies that are previously defined by the study of Hollywood stardom then points the way forward to new ways of approaching the fieldLooks at stars stardom within a new local translocal model to overcome the Hollywood centrism inherent to the existing national transnational modelBrings into light various types of previously unacknowledged star textsEmploys a dynamic interdisciplinary approachContributorsGuy Austin Newcastle UniversityLinda Berkvens University of Sussex Pam Cook University of Southampton Elisabetta Girelli University of St Andrews Sarah Harman Brunel UniversityStella Hockenhull University of WolverhamptonLeon Hunt Brunel University Kiranmayi Indraganti Srishti Institute of Art Design and TechnologyJaap Kooijman University of AmsterdamMichael Lawrence University of SussexAnna Malinowska University of SilesiaLisa Purse University of ReadingClarissa Smith University of SunderlandNiamh Thornton University of Liverpool Yiman Wang University of California Santa CruzSabrina Qiong Yu Newcastle UniversityYingjin Zhang University of California San Diego      Modern Love Marcus Collins,2003 Drawing on social economic and political history this volume explains how relations have changed between men and women in Britain in the 20th century It shows how men and women s expectations from life have radically shifted and converged describing how we have moved from inhabiting our separate spheres with wholly different prospects and values towards the ideal if not quite the actuality of equality mutuality companionship and friendship This text also shows how progressive ideas about the relationship between men and women that originated in Britain reverberated
